WILL LAY OUT NEW ADDITION

Centlivre Park is to Be Platted Into Many City Lots.

MEANS PASSING OF HISTORIC TRACK

Speedway Was at One Time Graced by Harness Kings of Country.

The thunder of beating hoofs upon the historic Centlivre park training track will soon be lost in the music of building hammers. The training barn, where once were gathered the finest stable of harness horses in the middle west, is to be razed to make room for quiet homes and stretching green lawns.

The drawing of a blue print plat of the Centlivre park area is now under way. The effort of preparing the addition for grounds for a building addition is in the hands of the Wildwood builders. Their landscape artists have been going over the grounds for several days.

It is expected that tentative plans for the newest north side addition will be presented to Louis and Charles Centlivre, owners of the tract, on July 15. There are forty-two acres in the strip of the park yet remaining, north of the Brook View addition.

Arthur Shurtliff, landscape authority, has been called into consultation in matter of laying off the main part of the park grounds. Francis H. Bulot, Wildwood engineer, is carrying out much of the platting work.

The Centlivre park grounds give promise of making one of the most picturesque building additions in Fort Wayne. The ground is rolling and in the valley winds Spy Run creek. A part of the land is canopied by large forest trees. The natural beauty of the place will make its preparation for a building addition a comparatively easy matter, landscape artists say.

Actual work of preparing the grounds for a new residence addition will not start until early next spring, announce Centlivre brothers, who have retained all rights for disposing of the properties.

One driveway in the Centlivre addition, and located in the valley beyond Spy Run creek, is expected to be called Track avenue. It will pass over a part of what is now the training course. It will be the last mark of the once famous Centlivre track.

Last to Go.

Passing of the historic race course means the end of Fort Wayne's efforts to sustain harness racing. The half mile path about to be blotted out is the last of several tracks which have come and gone.

The driveway around the lagoon in Swinney park marks the course of one of the early speed courses in the city. Several fairs were held in which excellent race meetings were a feature.

The Driving park addition is over the well known mile track which brought Fort Wayne for several seasons into the Grand circuit.

One of the first tracks in the city was located where the Lake Shore round house now stands. That course was well known to horsemen of half a century ago. Another track was on the St. Joe road, across from the brewery.

The half mile Centlivre track was built twenty-seven years ago. It was constructed at the cost of several thousand dollars. It was one of the best made two lap tracks in the middle west. It was the course over which all the Centlivre stable of thoroughbreds were trained for several seasons. There have been miles paced over the doomed oval as fast as 2.05.

Some of the best known of the light harness racers, which have hurried over the track in days gone by are: William King, 2.07¼; Major Wilson, 2.11; Mary Centlivre, 2.12; Mydia, 2.12; Major Centlivre, 2.10; Harry Strathmore, 2.13; Ebony King, four year old record, 2.10¼; Harry O, 2.06½; Vernadett, 2.12; Red King, 2.07; Babe, one of the richest stake winners through the grand circuit for two seasons and who attained a record of 1.59; Frank Bogash, 2.03¾, and Atlantic King, 2.09¼.

Most of the horses, all of which graced the grand circuit tracks at one time or another, are now dead. There were 55 head of pure bred racers in the large Centlivre barn and nearby stables at one time.

Frank Bogash in his younger days was the trainer for the Centlivre stables and one of the best know reinsters of the west. Nearly all his preparation for the big races was made over the Centlivre course.

The large white barn, by the side of the Spy Run creek, is made of the best of timbers. It stands almost flawless after more than twenty-five years. The timber in the structure will bring several hundred dollars.

"Yes, of course, I hate to see the old track and all go, in a way," said Charles Centlivre, when interviewed Friday. "It represents happy memories of the day when the race sport was at its best."

Two fairs were held at the Centlivre park track before the mile track was constructed. The half mile oval used to call the race fans of the city to its side nearly every day. But the dust clouds, the rapid patter of flying hoofs, the gleam of bright bike wheels and the click of stop watches will soon be only a memory.

In the Carnegie geophysical laboratory, Carnegie institute, Washington, D. C., rocks and minerals are now being reproduced by artificial means. In order to do this work the laboratory requires a furnace which can heat to 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit and a machine which can exert pressure to the extent of 100,000 pounds a square inch.

SPANISH CABINET MEETS.

Paris, July 6.—At a meeting of the Spanish cabinet presided over by King Alfonso, as reported in a Havas dispatch from Madrid, Premier Dato outlined the situation in regard to labor problems, most of which were said to have been solved in a satisfactory manner. Dealing with the diplomatic situation, the premier referred to comments in the foreign press, which he did not consider just.

He spoke particularly of articles in the French and British press in regard to the action of the government in permitting the departure from Cadiz of a German submarine which put in there and was repaired. The premier said Spain had adhered strictly to a neutral position and had acted wth the support of public opinion, which desired maintenance of neutrality.

CURSES FLAG AND COUNTRY

Zac Zenluon, an Austrian, is Placed Under Arrest as Alien Enemy.

HAS NOT TAKEN OUT HIS FIRST PAPERS

States He Has $1,700 in Bank and Would Like to Go Back.

Zac Zenluon, an Austrian, employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and who resides in the rolling mill district, was brought into the sheriff's office Friday and placed under arrest as an alien enemy. He states that he has not taken out his first papers, although he has been in this country nearly eight years.

Zenluon says he is fifty-eight years of age. For the past few weeks he has been wacthed by several individuals in the neighborhood where he resides. He has been cursing the United States and the flag at numerous places, it is alleged.

He was asked in the sheriff's office Friday afternoon whether he liked the United States. He answered: "No. I don't care."

Several Americanized residents of the rolling mill district complained of his actions, and Harry Fosnaugh, poll tax collector and Emil Lapidot, his deputy and interpreter, brought the man to the sheriff who turned him over to the United States deputy marshal

It was said that he only talked against this government when partially under the influence of liquor. He was in this condition when brought into the sheriff's office. A half hour later he said he wanted to go out and get some whisky. He began to sober up, and when he realized the situation he denied having cursed the United States, but had cursed Italy.

Filed to Register.

William Burke was also turned over to the United States marshal for failing to comply with the registration law. He stated that he resided in Marion, Ohio, and was thirty years of age. He claims to have left his home town on registration day while in a state o fintoxication. Burke just finished a fifteen day sentence in the county jail and before he was turned loose he was asked about his registration card. He admitted he had not registered.

TRADER'S WIFE IS WATCHED BY OFFICERS

Sheriff Admits That Woman With Fiery Eye Might Have Shot Boy.

The gypsy wife of Franklin Daniels, American horse trader, is being watched by officers during a part of the time that she goes about her doleful task of attending the small camp and as she pays her daily visit to the county jail to see her husband. Sheriff Gillie admits that the theory held by Dr. J. Frank Dinnen to the effect that Mrs. Daniels did the shooting may be well grounded.

"Mrs. Daniels has a temper," said the sheriff, Friday. "All the passions of her romantic race gleams in her dark eyes. She appears to be capable of such an act when thoroughly aroused."

Mrs. Daniels states, however, that she was lying on the grass near the wagon when the automobile bearing Alfred Schell and his boy friends speeded past. She did not go to the wagon where the revolver was kept, she maintains.

The condition of the youthful victim of the shooting is unchanged. He was restless Thursday night. Hopes for his recovery were not brightened Friday. His condition is critical.

FORT WAYNE AUTOISTS IN BAD COLLISION

They Run Into a Milk Wagon East of Columbia City.

Columbia City, Ind., July 6.—Three Fort Wayne men figured in a collision east of here last evening with a milk wagon belonging to the F. L. Myers Creamery company and driven by Hortie Bills. Bills was thrown from the wagon and injured and the horse sustained a broken hip and had to be shot.

The three Fort Wayne men gave their names and addresses as Charles Pierce, 1231 Wells street Albert Miller, 2516 Bowser avenue, and Russel Pfeiffer, 1903 Wells street. They had purchased an old automobile at Columbia City and were taking it back to Fort Wayne. It was attached to their car. Pierce was driving and Pfeiffer was in the rear car steering it. In attempting to go around the milk wagon the rear automobile struck the horse.

After paying for the damage done the three men came on to Fort Wayne. According to Bills, they were traveling at a fast rate of speed. None of the Fort Wayne men was hurt.

Report of Draft Drawing Causes a Big Scare Here

When is a joke not a joke?

The answer might be: When it causes many ambitious young men to suffer a shocking series of afflictions.

There was little joy in many districts of Fort Wayne Friday morning when a report reached the city that numbers had been drawn for draft service. The rumor came here over several telegraph lines. The figures tallied with numbers in the upper right hand corners of the registration certificates.

There was much consulting of blue tickets. Many young men, apparently struck by the draft, were noted to grow white about the mouth. Some stury young workmen are said to have retired to their homes. Telephones in the newspaper offices of the city jingled constantly. None of the local registration officers knew of the drawing of draft numbers.

The scare is supposed to be a joke started by an eastern telegraph operator. Government officers will attempt to ascertain the exact starting point of the hoax.

For the benefit of the thrill of knowing how you would feel if your number was presented, Mr. Registered Youth, we submit the list of numbers sent to Fort Wayne and claimed to have been the figures for the first drawing of the human lottery. They are 5, 9, 11, 17, 61, 62, 67, 97, 101, 107, 109, 111, 125, 145, 201.

This report was circulated in seven Indiana cities on Wednesday. Message to that effect, together with denial, was received here and published in The Sentinel. The date for drawing has been set for July 16.

Lists of the numbers were given wide circulation in the shops, where many young men are employed, and in none was there deeper interest taken than in the Pennsylvania shops, where five men held numbers represented in the list. They are Oscar McCormick, Harry Creigh, T. O. Sweeney, A. C. Huguenard and A. B. Perelman.

AMBASSADOR COMES BACK

Fletcher Hurries Up from Mexico to Consult Lansing.

SEES SECRETARY OF STATE ON A TRAIN

Affairs in Carranza Land Are Suspected to Be Not Going Well.

Washington, July 6.—Enough importance was attached to the mission of Henry P. Fletcher, ambassador to Mexico, who hurriedly left Mexico City as soon as permission had been granted him by the state department, to arrange for a conference today with Secretary Lansing on board the train which is carrying the secretary to Henderson Harbor, N. Y., for a three weeks' vacation. State department officials have professed ignorance as to the nature of the mission of Ambassador Fletcher. He requested permission to come to Washington three weeks ago, and left as soon as authorization was received.

By some officials it was assumed the ambassador wished to explain personally to the secretary the extent to which German activities have been carried on in Mexico and the influence German agents have had on the Mexican government and people. Reports that Mexico would enter the war as an ally of the entente powers is not regarded by most officials here as probable. They also believe it improbable that Mexico will become active in her support of Germany.

Deep interest has been displayed in government circles here in the persistence shown by the Mexican government in imposing on the oil companies heavier export taxes and in the recent decrees governing the holding of land by mining and other corporations. The Mexican government has declared the decrees are not confiscatory, but representations have been made to the American government by the companies that the enforcement of the new orders will result in the forfeiture of a large part of the properties now held by American and British corporations. The British government is interested especially in the oil taxes, since it is from Mexico that much of the fuel now being used in the British navy is derived. The American government's protests against the enforcement of the decree has not yet caused a modification. July 10th is the date fixed for the decree to become effective.

NO DEAL YET MADE FOR THE BENDERS

Peoria Magnates Consult Stahlhafer of Central in Evansville.

South Bend, Ind., July 6.—No disposition of the South Bend Central league club will be made today. South Bend business men will meet this week to determine what plan can be effected to save the ball team for South Bend, according to an announcement made this morning.

VISIT THE PRESIDENT.

Evansville, Ind., July 6.—John R. Ryan, president of the Peoria Base Ball club of the Three Eye league, V. P. Mitchell, W. C. Black and Jake Math, directors of the Illinois club, arrived in this city this morning, to negotiate with Harry Stalhafer, president of the Central league, on obtaining a berth in the Central league for Peoria.

ABOLISH FREE DELIVERY.

Richmond, Va., July 6.—The Retail Merchants' association of Richmond, backed by non-member merchants in devising an economy plan for the war period, have decided to make no deliveries of purchases of less than 50 cents in value after July 22, and limit deliveries to two days. The "you tote" system has been adopted by many merchants.

SECRETARY OF STATE QUITS

Ed Jackson, Indiana Official, Will Go Into the Second Reserve.

EXPECTS TO BECOME AN ARMY OFFICER

If He Fails to Pass Examination Resignation Has a String.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 6.—Edward Jackson, secretary of state, tendered his resignation to Governor Goodrich in a letter today. He plans to enter the second officers' reserve training camp, which opens August 27.

In his letter Mr. Jackson said that he desired to tender his resignation, effective August 7, if he is accepted as a member of the second officers' reserve training camp. Should he for any reason not be accpted as a member of the camp, the governor, it was said today, will not consider the resignation. After Mr. Jackson's action became known the name of Pliny Wolford, of Newcastle, now deputy secretary of state, was mentioned as the most probable to be named by the governor to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Jackson said he had been making addresses in many parts of the state urging men to enlist and prepare for war. He asserted that he felt it as his duty to take similar action himself.

JULY 25 IS DATE OF CONVENTION OF ALL IRELAND

London, July 6.—Premier Lloyd George announced in the house of commons this afternoon that the Irish convention would meet July 25 to deal with preliminary business including the appointment of a chairman. Mr. Lloyd George said the government had suggested that Henry E. Duke, chief secretary for Ireland, act as provisional or temporary chairman.

NAVAL PATROL STILL HUNTING FOR THE U-BOAT

Fortress Monroe, Va., July 6.—Naval patrol boats today continued their search for an enemy submarine which was reported to have been sighted submerged in these waters late yesterday, but no trace of the craft has been found.

Marine observers did not believe it possible for a submarine to submerge in the roads or lower Chesapeake bay because of insufficient depth of water, and in this connection they pointed to the fact that the German merchant underwater boat Deutschland could not go under until after she passed the Virginia capes last summer.

LABOR TROUBLE IN GERMANY.

Amsterdam, July 6.—Another outbreak of labo rtroubles in Germany is reported by the Handelsblad, which says a collision occurred last night at Hamburg between strikers and workers at the government munition plants. Soldiers fired repeatedly on the demonstrators, one man being killed and eleven wounded.

SMALL GAIN OF RAIL EARNINGS.

Washington, July 6.—May reports of 130 of 186 railroads to the interstate commerce commission show an increase in net revenue of approximately $1,500,000. The decrease in earnings of eastern roads of $1,800,000 was more than offset in the total by a slight increase in southern roads' earnings and a rise of more than $4,000,000 in net revenues of the western roads.

NEW PLAN FOR THE LIBRARY

Move is on Foot to Make It a County Institution.

FARMERS WOULD HAVE FREE ACCESS

Law Passed by Last Legislature Makes Such Change Possible.

As the result of a new law passed atthe last session of the state legislature the last session of the state legislature county of a city library, a movement to make the Fort Wayne, public library a county institution is said to be under way.

Miss Margaret M. Colerick, librarian of the Fort Wayne library, has the matter under consideration and it is not at all impossible that the proposed change will be made if it is found possible and plausible.

In the event that such action is taken every resident in the county will have access to the library wthout the necessity of having to pay for such privilege as is now required. There are a surprising number of farmers who are regular patrons of the library. There would be more, it is contended, if the plan to make it a county institution is carried out.

Before the change is undertaken there will be a thorough investigation by the library board and the librarian.

MENEFEE LABORERS QUIT THEIR JOBS

Several laborers at the Menefee foundry quit work Friday afternoon and went home, giving rise to the report that they were on a strike. Inquiry at the works was met by the statement from the manager that if there was a strike he had not been informed of it. None of the employes had made a demand of any kind, he said. From another source it was learned that several men had quit work. They were laborers in the foundry. The works appeared to be in full operation at 3 o'clock.

RECEIVES AN APPOINTMENT

Charles O. Schick Goes to Aerological Department of Weather Bureau.

WILL LEAVE FORT WAYNE IN FEW DAYS

He is Said to Be Youngest Man Ever Named for Such a Position.

Charles O. Schick, assistant weather observer in the Fort Wayne station, has received notice of his appointment to the aerological department of the weather bureau at Washington, D. C. He is perhaps the youngest man in the country to receive an appointment of this character and it comes to him as an unusual recognition of his ability. Only a few men throughout the country have been selected for this department, made necessary as a result of the United States' participation in the world war.

Mr. Schick is to report in Washington by the middle of July. He expects to leave within the next few days. At the national capital he will receive special instructions for several months after which he will either be sent to France with the aviation corps or be put in charge of a department in one of the aviation schools of the country where aviators are being trained for service.

The duties of aerological department men is to forecast weather conditions, ascertain wind velocities and location of air currents preparatory to launching aeroplanes or observation balloons.

Mr. Schick has been in the service of the government for the past five years. His home is in Reading, Pa. He came to the Fort Wayne station from Amarillo, Tex., Nov. 16, 1916. He has made the acquaintanceship of hundreds of young people in this city. His successor has not been named as yet.

It is further reported that Mr. Schick will take a bride with him when he leaves this city. According to reports she formerly lived in Fort Wayne but now resides with her parents in Decatur, Ind. Mr. Schick was asked as to the truth of the matter and he answered: "I will say neither yes nor no."

James Russell, a young fellow from Chicago, who is stopping with his aunt on Webster street, took employment as a messenger at the Pennsylvania machine shop office this morning.

Son Dies Few Hours After the Death of the Mother

A few hours after the death of Mrs. Margaret Meyers, widow of the late Ferdinand Meyers, Thursday morning, a telegram was received telling of the death of her son, George L. Meyers, in Chicago.

The mother, who was 67 years old, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. F. Melching, 1111 Cottage avenue. The son, George L. Meyers, who was 46 years old, died suddenly of hemorrhage of the brain. He had gone to work when he was stricken suddenly, dying in a few minutes.

The mother will be buried Saturday afternoon, with funeral services at the residence, 1223 Ewing street, and at 2:30 o'clock at the Emmanuel Lutheran church, Rev. W. E. Moll officiating.

The son will be buried in Chicago on Monday morning. Relatives will attend Mrs. Meyer's funeral and then leave immediately for the funeral in Chicago.

The widow of George L. Meyers survives, together with two children, Raymond and Loraine, both of whom are married. Three brothers and one sister also survive, Edwin F. Meyers and William Lang, of this city; John Meyers, of Chicago, and Mrs. W. F. Melching, of this city.

THIRD LESSON — PREPARD BY MME. ARCHINARD

Avez-vous une lettre pour moi?

Donnez moi un timbre de cinq sous.

Donnez-moi de la money.
Dŭnay mwa duh lah monè.

In these lessons the English sentence appears in the first line, the French equivalent in the second and the pronunciation in the third line.

In the pronunciation key, straight lines over the letters A and U denote the long sound, as in "hAte" and "dUde;" curved lines over these letters denote the short sound, as in "hAt" and "bUt;" two dots over the U indicate a sound somewhat like the German "ue," which Americans may approach by pronouncing long U and long E at the same time.

Cut out these lessons and paste them in your note book.

The purpose here is merely to give the young men who may come with the army in France such a knowledge of French as will make them wants known and some sort of friendly intercourse with French boys and soldiers possible. No attempt is made to teach the grammar of the tongue.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

Corns Stop Hurting, Then They Lift Out With Fingers

No pain or soreness! Corns and calluses just shrivel up and lift off. It's foolish to let a corn ache twice.

A noted Cincinnati authority discovered a new ether compound and called it freezone and it now can be had in little bottles for a few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone upon a tender corn or painful callus and instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can just lift it off with the fingers.

No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying freezone or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! It works like a charm. Try it!

Women should keep freezone on their dressers and never let a corn ache twice. If a corn starts hurting just apply a drop. The pain stops instantly.

Genuine freezone is only sold in little bottles packed in a round, wood case.—Advertisement.

GERMAN PRISONERS BEHIND THE LINES HELD A WOUNDED TOMMY

Behind the teror and hatred ofwar is the humane, brotherly feeling among soldiers of both sides at the French front. German war prisoners behind the British lines are here shown lighting a cigarette for a wounded Tommy before carrying him to the rear for treatment.

MESS OF OLD NAILS IS THEIR FAVORITE MENU

Giant Ostriches Also Fond of Pebbles, Broken Glass and Tacks.

What is considered the largest as well as the most finely bred herd of ostriches outside of the few ostrich farms of Florida will be brought to this city Thursday, July 12, the date on which Ringling Brothers' circus is to appear here. Every bird in the entire herd is remarkable for some highly developed attribute peculiar to this fast-vanishing biped.

Probably the most interesting feature of the ostrich department of Ringling Brothers' monster zoo is the family of baby ostriches, all of them nearly as large as their papas and mammas. Tall, ungainly animals they are, with their thin limbs almost as well developed and as strong as their elders. In addition to their diet they are regularly fed a selected menu of cut glass, small pieces of iron, tacks and nails, which they consider delicacies, and so fond are they of this bill of fare that their eagle eyes ofttimes spy diamonds adorning spectators and vain endeavors are made to surmount the wired enclosure with a view to greedily gulp the savory tidbit. Because of this ostrich peculiarity their enclosure is wired high so that a curious neck of one of the birds will not molest those who watch their antics.

This highly educated family of bipeds have a part in the new program this season, and the most amusement centers in the race among the fleetest of the flock, for the ostrich, be it known, is a great deal faster than any race horse. However, the cranium of this elongated biped is so infinitesimal and poorly developed that in a race contestants are just as liable to reverse racing rules and run the wrong way as they are to follow the book of rules and act like regular racing ostriches. As a consequence their exploitation of their Mercurial powers is highly amusing.

Six of the birds are trained to draw a small surrey, and are harnessed just the same as horses, while another, attached to a racing sulky, tries conclusions with a horse driven by a regular jockey with the result that the ostrich far outdistances the steed, although the latter is allowed a large handicap.

New and novel trained animal acts are striking features of the Ringling Brothers' circus this season, and in addition to the trained ostriches there are many and remarkable acts which demonstrate the amazing degree of intelligence possessed by various animals. Several companies of equine entertainers furnish a delightful display of equine intelligence, while the trick elephants include the best trained pachyderms ever shown in America. An entirely new line of elephantine acting is promised together with a series of remarkable accomplishments presented for the first time here.

The trained animal displays follow shortly after the fairyland spectacle "Cinderella," the 1,250 character production which opens the all new program.

Columbia City Short Notes.

Max Huff is confined at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Huff, of this city, suffering from a wound in his foot, caused when he stepped upon a stick while at Tri-lake Wednesday. The stick penerated the shoe and an inch into the foot.

In digging up the location of a former house at the Smith farm in Red Brush this week, a son of Robert T. Smith unearthed a trade copper piece about the size of a United States penny, bearing the inscription, "S. S. Lavey, clocks, watches and jewelry, Columbia City, Ind." Mr. Lavey was in business in the Miller room recently occupied by the Garber saloon, between 1862 and 1865. The trade coin found was one of many used by merchants in lieu of the one-cent pieces of the United States government, which were almost unobtainable in those days.

A reunion of the Clark family was enjoyed at the Tri-lake resort Wednesday, those present being Dr. Walter L. Clark, of Pennville; Mrs. William J. Limecooley, of Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Tony Biebrich, of Huntington; David Singer and wife, of Valparaiso; Mr. and Mrs. John Berringer and family and Mrs. Leah Clark, of Columbia City.

County Auditor Thomas A. McLaughlin and family spent Wednesday at the St. Joe hospital in Fort Wayne, where Will Robbins, father of Mrs. McLaughlin, underwent an operation for the removal of the right leg just below the knee. His condition is precarious.

LICENSE CHEESE-MAKERS.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 6.—The making of cheese without a special license has been forbidden by the authorities, who hope thus to make it possible to get enough butter and milk for actual needs of the people. Warning is issued to all but the older factories that they must prepare to restrict their production very sharply.

THE WISDOM OF SOLOMON.

London, July 6.—The postoffice authorities have found a way to reduce the large number of thefts of silks, satins and other articles of women's finery that followed the employment of thousands of women as letter carriers and sorters in the postoffices of the country. They transferred the handling of these articles back to men and the thefts ceased at once.

One can generally tell a man's nationality from the manner in which he carries his pocket money, for the various methods employed frequently betray the name of the country which they are typical. The majority of Englishmen carry all their money—be it gold, silver or copper—all mixed up in the right-hand trousers pocket. Frenchmen, more often than not, are satisfied with an ordinary leather purse in carrying money. The poorer classes of the Italians tie up their small fortunes in a gaudily-colored handkerchief. Many Russians prefer to hide their savings in their boots or the lining of their clothes.

Mike Kelly Breaks Up Overtime Game in Favor of the Chiefs

HAVE COPPED FIVE GAMES OUT OF SIX

Hard Hitters Swat Pill at Proper Times and Bring Home Bacon.

Having started in on the independence stuff the Chiefs are now showing every symptom of keeping it up. Yesterday they showed their independence of the over-time game hoodoo and won from the Benders in the tenth inning. It is the first such win of the season. The game was broken up by the trusty bat of the long Irishman, Kelly, and the score was 7 to 6. South Bend was given a complete and decisive shutout of the series and in the last six games have had the honor of cleaning Vandy's men only once.

Richardson was the slabman of the day and all things considered he pitched a good game. He is still having a little trouble with the stuff called control, but he made up for that yesterday by a nice pair of hits, one a single and the other a double. The latter blow hit the fence and rolled down, causing the big hurler to shake his feet in rapid order to beat the throw in, but he made the time.

The game started with a run for the Chiefs in the first inning when, after a man had been walked, Smith tripled. This hit was one of the four out of five times with which the hard working catcher was credited. In the third the visiting tossers took the lead by getting two markers. Baschang singled and stole second. Laross flew out, but Collins singled. Hoffman grounded to Kelly, but the Irishman failed to get it back to the plate in time and Baschang scored. Aaron singled, loading the bases, and Callahan was walked, forcing a run. The next man hit to Norton, who fielded perfectly and shot the pill to the plate. From there it went to first while the batter was still on his way and the inning was over.

Richardson was the first up in the fifth and it was here that he got his double. Breaux was hit by the pitcher and Norton and Siegfried singled. Smith followed this with a double and Brown's long fly to the garden sent in the fourth run. Two of these were made up in the seventh when with one man on, Hoffman took unto himself a lucky home run. The pill hit the fence and went down back of a sign. This was followed up by one run for the locals which put them two to the good. Breaux singled, was sacrificed to second, sent to third on Smith's single, and scored on an error to short.

Following this all was well until the first half of the ninth. In this round the first two up, Baschang and Laross, went down in quick time, and the fans prepared to leave. Collins, however, nailed one past Breaux, who was too nearly crippled to make his usual speed, and the blow was stretched to a triple. Hoffman and Aaron followed with doubles and the score was tied. The next man flew out to Brown.

In the last of the ninth, Breaux was hit for the second time and Roberts took his place on first base. The pitcher was caught in an attempted steal and the next two men went down. The visitors were put out in regular order and once more the Chiefs had a chance. Smith hit to short for his last blow and Gleich walked sending the backstop to second. Kelly then took his turn and on the first ball got a foul bunt. The infield came in close and Mike walloped the next one for the cleanest kind of a single to right. Smith came in from second and the game was won.

OMTVEDT OUGHT TO BE USED TO FLYING AFTER SKI-JUMPING, BUT HOW ABOUT THE OTHERS?

Tennis players, football players, athletes of every description are enlisting in the aviation branch of the United States service, which experts declare will be the big factor in winning the war.

Ranger Omtvedt, world champion ski jumper, should not feel so out of place in the air, as he frequently jumps from 150 to 175 feet on his Norwegian snowshoes, which must seem a whole lot like flying.

George Church, Princeton tennis star and Seth Low, captain of last year's Yale crew are among those who are learning how to fly at the Mineola aviation field.

Among other athletes at Mineola are Lieut. C. Meyer, captain of the 1917 Yale crew; Carroll Wetherby, of the Lehigh football team two years ago; Reynolds Benson, base ball and basketball star at Columbia; George Dodge, Cornell, athlete; E. W. Killfore, captain of the U. of P. la crosse team; Bud Jacobs, Yale athlete, and Dudley Norton, Yale hockey player.

Dodge is the youngest man in the flying corps. He is 18.

GOLF TALENT ENTERS WESTERN TOURNAMENT

Meet Opens at the Midlothian Country Club of Chicago Monday.

The greatest array of amateur golf talent in the United States will be represented in the Western amateur championship which opens at the Midlothian Country club, Chicago, July 9.

The admission of the Druid Hills club, of Atlanta, into the western association will permit Bobby Jones and Perry Adair to enter, and the invitation to Francis Ouimet insures his attendance.

Chick Evans, national amateur and open champion; Bob Gardner, who has held the national amateur title; Albert Steele, of Chicago, and other golfers of national reputation, have entered.

It will be of especial interest to watch the performance of Bobby Jones, the 16-year-old boy who won the southern championship this year. He has beaten such redoubtable golfers as Evans and Jerry Travers on his home course and won the southern championship on the same links. Golfers are speculating on what he will be able to accomplish away from home.

CENTRAL LEAGUE.

Play Aerial Baseball.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 6.—Muskegon gave Grand Rapids the game yesterday by playing an aerial game of wild pitches, bases on balls, and errors. Three pitchers worked for the Muskies, and not one of them could locate the plate. The final score was 6 to 5. Following a dispute with members of the club after he had whiffed in the third, Second Baseman Carey, of Grand Rapids, left the club.

Evas Again Victims.

Evansville, Ind., July 6.—Turner and Winchell had no luck in trying to hold down Richmond here yesterday and in two innings the Nuts got away for seven runs which won the game. Couchman was touched for two runs, but he was never in any danger.

Springfield, O., July 6.—Springfield cleaned up the series by winning the last game from the Vets yesterday 7 to 4. The Old Soldiers were handed a three-run lead but Frost was unable to stop the league leaders and the seven runs resulted. Catching a man at first from a hard hit to the outfield was the feature of the day enacted by Kelleher.

BATTLE CREEK MAY GET BENDER OUTFIT

Meeting of Owners and Chamber of Commerce Slated for Today.

Battle Creek, Mich., July 6.—Battle Creek has been offered the franchise of the South Bend club of the Central league. As the local fans want a league team, and as Battle Creek's population soon will be greatly increased, there is a possibility of the club being transferred. Battle Creek has been chosen for a cantonment site.

The Central league has had a successful season thus far despite the fact that most of the minor leagues have lost heavily. South Bend's attendance has been poor and it is believed that the transfer would be a splendid move.

SOUTH BEND IN TROUBLE.

South Bend, Ind., July 6.—A meeting between Owner Ed Smith, of the South Bend Central league club, and the chamber of commerce will be held here today. Unless a plan is developed to strengthen the club financially it is believed that the city will lose its franchise. A stock selling campaign at $25 per share is being considered.

Two cent baseball was a fizzle, as of the season books issued for $1.50 only a small number were purchased. An extra fee for the grandstand was charged and very few of the fans occupied the stands.

GRAND RAPIDS WEAK.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 6.—A new drive to dispose of the season tickets here will be started next week, according to announcement by President-Manager Essick, of the local club, Thursday.

NATIONAL GAME WILL TURN INTERNATIONAL

Prophesy of Jim Callahan for Baseball After the World War.

(By Paul Purman.)

International baseball after the war?

A world series between the champion teams of England, France, the United States, Japan and possibly South America?

"Why not?" asks Jimmie Callahan, ex-pilot of the Pirates, who rounded this little globe four years ago with the all-Americans and all-Nationals, and who is now interested in baseball behind the trenches in France.

"It will not surprise me if England and France take up baseball after the war," said Jimmie. "Those people like baseball—the only trouble is they have never had the opportunity of enjoying it as we have. The game has never been allowed to develop there.

"I like to think of that trip we took four years ago as a missionary trip. We played to vast crowds and they liked the game. They cheered every time a hit was made, even if it was only a foul.

"But the real missionary work is going on behind the trenches now, where Americans and Canadians are playing baseball for the edification and delight of the Tommies and pollus as well as for their own pleasure."

Callahan has struck a popular note.

Why not international baseball after the war?

Baseball has been one of the great melting pots of America. Practically every nationality has contributed big league stars. This refutes any idea that baseball has been cornered by America and cannot be developed anywhere else.

Looking over the records of the past few years we find that France is represented by the great Lajoie, by Cicotte, Fabrique, Ruth and several others. Ireland has contributed the Delehantys, Fat Moran, Moriarity, Killifer and a host of others. Scotland gave us McQuillan and Chalmers. Bates and many others are of English descent.

Italy is represented by Abbatichio, Guisto and Ping Bodie. Many great ball players have come from Germany, Bohemia and Poland.

Cuba is represented by Gonzales, Marsans, Cueto, Aragon and some others, Japan has produced some great ball players, as has China.

Callahan is right when he says all Europe needs is instruction and when the draft has taken many of our ball players to the front the instruction will be forthcoming.

FIVE SIXTHS OF ALL MOTORS ARE IN U. S.

This Country Has Corner on World's Supply of Automobiles.

When Alladin touched his lamp back in China centuries ago, palaces sprung from the ground at his command.

When the first automobile was built some two decades ago the way was paved for the most remarkable business the world has ever known.

With the motor business still in its infancy there are more than 4,000,000 cars in use in the world, according to census taken recently by the National Association of Manufacturers—the exact figure is 4,219,246.

Developed in America, it is not to be wondered at that America leads in ownership of motor vehicles, but the figures of the N. A. M. show that in automobiles America is far and away ahead of any other nation.

America owns 3,500,000 automobiles and trucks, five-sixths of the world total, a proportion of about one automobile to every 30 people, or one to every six families.

The majority of the other sixth are owned in Europe, most of them having been commandeered for war purposes. Compilers of the census admit that there may be many more automobiles than they have registered, but accurate figures are unavailable on account of the censorship.

The wonder of the thing, however, is not in mere numbers.

Never before has any business acquired such volume in such a comparatively short time.

Twenty years ago the automobile was practically unknown. A few little one cylinder cars, capable of traveling about as fast as a horse were curiosities in some cities then.

Now automobiles go everywhere. They climb mountains over narrow trails, they ford streams and carry civilization with them.

Indian Hurler Who Chased a Tormenter

Indian Casey Smith

When "Indian" Smith, pitcher for the San Francisco Seals, went on the warpath the other day swinging a baseball bat, it came near being "happy hunting grounds" for Dan Murray, catcher for the Oakland club.

The Indian, so the boys say, objected strenuously to being called "nigger" and Murray made the mistake of considering a serious matter a joke. He "got hep to himself" mighty quick after a whizzing bat purred past his ear. His ability as a runner, fans agree, saved him from bodily damage.

Murray started a marathon across the field, with Smith close in behind, his warwhoops cutting seconds from Murray's time. Players joined in the race and stopped the performance.

The little side play started while Smith was at bat. His warning to Murray didn't have the effect desired. The bat turned the trick.

SPENT MOST OF HIS MONEY FOR DRINKS

Alleges Julia Grier in Her Suit for Divorce from Barton.

In her complaint for divorce from Barton E. Grier, Julia Grier states that the defendant used intoxicating liquors too frequently and that he spent most of his money in this manner. She also alleges that he called her vile and abusive names and that he falsely accused her of associating with immoral men. She asks for the custody of two children and an order to restrain the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad company from paying him his wages.

Appropriation Too Small.

Upon opening the bids for the repairs and new buildings for schools Nos. 6, 7 and 8, in Wayne township, Trustee Allen Hamilton has discovered that the appropriations in all cases are too small. The advisory board will meet with the trustee Friday evening to discuss the matter of awarding the contracts. The lowest bidders are: No. 8, general contract, Hagerman, $14,222; heating, P. B. Arnold, $2,448; wiring, Hattersley, $311; total, $16,981. No. 6, general contract, Hagerman, $7,271; plumbing, P. B. Arnold, $2,345; wiring, P. B. Arnold, $108; total, $9,724. No. 7, repair job, Hagerman, $676; heating, P. B. Arnold, $1,095; total, $1,771.

Wants Custody of Children.

Hazel Younghouse has begun suit against Sophie and William Rogge asking for the custody of her children and modification of a court's order. She states that she was divorced from Carl Rogge in 1915 and married Edward Younghouse in 1916. She says that by terms of the decree the defendants were to have the custody of the children half of the time and she was to have them the other half. She asks that the court modify the original order and give her complete custody of the children, setting forth several reasons why, in her opinion, this should be done.

Automobile Was No Good.

Morris Runyan has sued Lynn McComb, asking for damages to the extent of $125. The plaintiff alleges that he purchased a second-hand car from the defendant and that the latter guaranteed it to be in good running order. He says he found that the car was in bad condition.

Set for Hearing.

The Heine ditch, No. 2, in Jefferson township, has been set for hearing in the county commissioners' court for July 16. The hearing will take place at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Marriage License.

Harry D. Alderman, machinist, to Maude Iler.

BIG TIME PIECE BEING INSTALLED

Electric Clock Will Strike for Benefit of City Light.

The brilliance of city light will be portrayed from the gleaming surroundings of the big electric clock that was placed in position above the Calhoun hotel, corner of Montgomery and Calhoun streets, Friday. The large timepiece, which arrived in the city Thursday, is one of the latest patterns of display clocks. It cost the electric light department $3,500.

About the circular face of the clock, which can be seen for several squares up and down Calhoun street, are the words "Use City Light All the Time." The novel advertising scheme of the light department was the plan of John Wessel, jr., who was forced to resign his position as manager of the light system several weeks ago, because of misappropriation of nearly $8,000 of the city light fund. Wessel is said to be employed in Detroit at present.

SLAUGHTER HOUSE TO FALL.

The state fire marshal, board of health, building inspector and Fire Chief Hilbrecht are combining forces in an effort to raze the old Leikauf building, owned by Weil Brothers, on Wells street, and for years used as a slaughter house and retail butcher shop by Leikauf.

The building has been termed an eyesore by Bloomingdale residents for several years. Several efforts have been made to have the building condemned. Petitions have been circulated in a vain attempt to remove the structure which stands at the entrance to the residence part of Bloomingdale. The board of health once tried to have it called a health menace, but lost their case. Now it is announced that the building is to be ordered torn down by state officers.

Finish Avenue.

Paving of Fox avenue by Grace Construction company workmen was finished Friday morning. The improved driveway is now thrown open to the public.

Schutt Is Dead.

Mayor Hosey was informed by a postcard Friday morning that Louis Schutt, whose whereabouts was inquired after by a brother living in Keokuk, Ia., is dead. Word comes from Mrs. F. C. Yeiser, of Avilla, who states that she is a sister of the deceased.

Building Permit.

A building permit was issued to E. J. Lennon, 447 East DeWald street, to improve dwelling at cost of $400.

Birth Record.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Franklin A. Bryan, 712 Columbia street—twins—two boys.

"SPORT FISH" IS LATEST FAD FOR DARING OCEAN BATHERS

The newest sport in southern California is riding the festive fish. This pastime became a fad by accident.

The "sport fish," as the new contrivance is called, is an outgrowth of the movie industry. The fish was built first for film comedies. But its possibilities as a source of turf amusement were quickly realized and now ocean bathers may be seen disporting upon this lively finny imitation every day.

The "sport fish" weighs fourteen pounds and holds 700 pounds in the water. It is an inflated bag made to resemble a grotesque fish. It is about three times as lively as a surf board, causing many amusing spills among the riders.

Miss Geneva McCord (seated) and Genieve Flagg in the picture are two of the cleverest performers in the waters off Los Angeles.

IN THE CHURCHES

TELLS OF PROPHETIC TIMES.

Evangelist M. J. Allen delivered the first of a series of lectures Thursday evening in the pavilion at 225 West Main street. He spoke on "The Sure Word of Prophecy," mentioned in the first chapter of Second Peter.

The speaker assured the audience that his purpose here was not to antagonize, but to help those who are interested in the fast fulfilling prophetic times through which the world is now passing.

"Time and customs change from age to age, but God and his plan of salvation never changes, for God's word is truth and truth cannot change," the evangelist declared. "Many shall rise up and say they are Christ, but beware of deceivers and hold fast to Christ, who is our only safety."

DIVISION 3 SENDS FIRST LIST OF NAMES

Conscription Boards Must Complete Work by Saturday.

That the reports of the draft having already been started in Fort Wayne are purely false are shown by the fact that the first list of names of men eligible under the conscription in Fort Wayne was sent to Washington Friday at 1 o'clock. Division No. 3, which had charge of the work south of the Pennsylvania railroad, sent in their report of names. The list contained 3,161 names. No. 1 on the list was Otto W. Brierman, 735 West DeWald street, and No. 3161 was Charles Raymond Sheppard, 3306 South Wayne avenue.

The board comprising Division No. 3 was composed of Dr. J. E. McArdle, Al. Miller and Walter Barrett. This board was the first of the three boards in the city to report.

The lists are not required to be in Washington before Saturday, July 7. Four copies of the names were made by the divisions having charge of the work.

The city had been divided into three separate divisions, and three sets of numbers will be used in drafting the men from Fort Wayne. All the cards, about 8,000 in number, were divided into three groups, according to address. Nine men have been engaged in the task since Monday morning. The other two divisions are expected to have their reports ready by Friday night.

Former Austrian Consul in New York Trailed as Possibility.

New York, July 6.—Federal authorities investigating suspected methods of communication between the United States and Germany announced here today the seizure of a bundle of letters, including communications, which, arriving from the Central Powers, apparently were intended to reach Alexander von Nuber, formerly Austrian consul general in New York. Von Nuber left here after the government investigated charges that he shipped reservists to Austria under fraudulent passports in 1915.

How the letters now confiscated were to reach von Nuber has not been disclosed, nor was his present whereabouts announced. The letters were brought here by sailors on a Scandinavian steamship and delivered to a saloonkeeper in Hoboken. The plan, according to the investigators, was for the mail to be readdressd here so that it would appear to be correspondence from the United States.

The sailors admitted they were paid to smuggle mail past the British censor and promised to testify for the government if needed. Some of the letters were addressed to persons in New Zealand and India.

FARMERS MAY SEND ARTIST TO CONGRESS

North Dakota League Has Notion John M. Baer is a Statesman.

(Staff Special.)

Fargo, N. D., July 5.—The Farmers' Nonpartisan league is going to elect an artist the first nonpartisan congressman.

League members of this, the First district, have picked John M. Baer as candidate at the special election July 10.

And it looks very much as if they would elect him.

Baer was born on a farm near Black Creek, Wis., moved to Beach, N. D., after being graduated from college. After Wilson's first election he was appointed postmaster. Between handing out letters and sorting mail Baer found time to draw pictures.

Soon his pictures were good enough for Jim Jam Jems.

When the Nonpartisan league was organized Baer drew cartoons for the league's weekly paper and refused to accept pay.

He created a character that made a hit with the farmers, Hi'am A. Rube. That picture alone made thousands of votes for the farmers' candidates in the North Dakota election last fall.

Now Baer is stumping his district, drawing pictures for his crowds, talking little.

The election is to select a successor to the late Congressman Helgesen.

If Baer is elected it will mark the entrance into national politics of the Nonpartisan league, which has over 100,000 members, all farmers, in the northwest and middle west states.

BATTERY IN NEED OF HORSE SHOER

Artillery Organization is Appealing to Fort Wayne for Fifty Recruits.

Battery B, Fort Wayne's second unit of field artillery in the First Indiana regiment, is in need of an experienced horseshoer and a saddler. A commissioned officer announces that they have secured representatives of every other trade needed in the organization but these two are lacking. They are particularly anxious to get a horseshoer.

The organization, through Captain Arthur O. Brockenbrough, is appealing to Fort Wayne to furnish at least fifty more recruits to fill this organization to war strength. By count it was ascertained that the company now has 150 men. Fifty more are neewed.

The examining officer arrived in Fort Wayne Thursday evening and examined several recruits. Three were rejected out of a class of ten.

The members of the battery will attend a lawn social to be given Friday evening at the home of O. L. Bickel, 610 Lawton Park Place under the auspices of the W. R. C. and the Daughters of Veterans.

Fort Wayne's quota, according to an official report, for the selective draft, will be 800 men.

A special train will carry those who desire to go to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Sunday. The train will leave on the Lake Erie & Western at 6 o'clock standard time.

Dr. A. E. Fauve left Thursday for Fort Benjamin Harrison, where he was ordered to report. He has been made a lieutenant in the medical corps.

UNUSUAL HONOR TO RUSSIANS IN GOTHAM

New York Has Commissioners from New Democracy as Guests.

New York, July 6.—For the fourth time since America entered the war, New York city today has as its guests the members of a foreign mission. The honor of a military escort, not accorded to other distinguished visitors in the last two months, added interest to the official reception to Prof. Boris A. Bakhmeteff, the new Russian ambassador to the United States and his fellow members of the Russian war mission. A detachment of sailors and marines from the New York navy yards and a detachment of regular infantry from Governor's Island, were assigned to escort the visitors from the Battery to city hall, where the official reception will take place. Tomorrow the commissioners will attend a mass meeting which is to be in the nature of a reception tendered by Russian residents of the city.

Doubt as to the flag to be displayed in honor of the visitors was settled by Mayor Mitchel who ordered that the Russian national emblem of the old regime should be used to decorate the city hall.

DEATH SACRIFICE EPIDEMIC SWEEPS OVER NATIVES OF HAWAIIAN MOUNTAIN REGIONS

A Beautiful Girl Fanatic Leads Band of Fainting Women and Children to Brink of Flaming Crater as Human Offering to Appease Wrath of Goddess—Rescuers Save Worshippers from Fiery Death.

(Staff Correspondence.)

Honolulu, June 25.—Scores of Hawaiian women and children have recently attempted to hurl themselves into the molten lava pool of Mt. Kalauea as a living sacrifice to the goddess of fire.

The authorities today believe, however, that they have checked the sacrificial epidemic which has been sweeping the island under the fanatic leadership of Kaneau, a beautiful 14-year-old girl.

It is the weirdest manifestation that has occurred in Hawaii in years.

Kaneau, a sort of dusky Joan of Arc, claimed to have been visited by a dream which directed her to gather a band of natives who would cast themselves into the boiling lava to appease Pele, goddess of fire.

On June 9 a large party did start from Hookena village, making their labored way up the precipitous slopes. The girl leader had excited them to a pitch of frenzy by saying that only thus could they save the entire island group from utter destruction by fire and quake.

They accepted Kaneau's story as inspired. She told them that they must revive the ancient, gruesome rite of human sacrifice.

Men and women took their children and set out—without food, without preparation of any kind and only scantily clad. Mothers were determined to cast their helpless babes into the cauldron.

Molten lava pool in crater of Kala-uea, and type of Hawaiian girl who fell an easy victim to the call for livingsacrifice by the dusky Joan of Arc.

For two days the forlorn but devoted party toiled upward along the slopes, stumbling over the volcanic clinkers and cutting their feet on the razor-sharp detritus.

Under these conditions the journey was too much for them and they fell exhausted and spent with hunger before reaching the fire pit. This alone saved their lives.

A. R. Gaspar, an auto stage driver on the run from Hilo to Kona, discovered them in a fearful plight and reported hurriedly to Sheriff Lasora of South Kona, who in turn telephoned the police in the Kau district. A rescuing party was dispatched and the exhausted fanatics were picked up and taken to Waiohinu.

It is believed the Hawaiian Joan of Arc is mentally unbalanced and she will be examined as to her sanity.

The absence of any untoward event on the day she predicted the catastrophe has quieted the superstitious natives of the mountain districts, though police are still patroling the regions upon which the beautiful Kaneau cast her weird spell.

LONG SEARCH FOR A CHILD MAY BE ENDED

Detroit Parents Believe Lost One is Adopted Son of Wealthy People.

Chicago, July 6.—After following a trail for seven years and living in thirty-two different cities in an effort to find their son, Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kaminski, of Detroit, believe today they have discovered the boy, who was taken from them when three years old. The boy they believe their son is said to have been adopted by a wealthy family in a suburb of Chicago.

The records of the case of a boy left with the Children's Home and Aid society here four years ago and thought by the Kaminskis to be Joseph, will be gone over today in the juvenile court to determine whether the search is finished for the parents.

According to the story told by Mrs. Kaminski her son was taken from Detroit against her will and the court records here show that the boy sought was given to a Mrs. Gertrude Dingee here.

BURGLAR KEPT GENERAL PERSHING FROM SCHOOL

"Black Jack's" Brother Jim, Chicago Salesman, Tells About Incident.

Staff Special.

Chicago, Ill., July 6.—General Pershing owes his position to a burglar!

James J. Pershing, "Jack's" brother "Jim," says the man who broke into his mother's store in the little town of Laclede, Mo., in the summer of 1882, started the military career of America's most popular major general. Otherwise John Pershing would have been a school teacher.

Jim is clothing salesman for Milton Ochs & Co., of Cincinnati, and lives here in Chicago.

"We ate, slept, fought and grew up together," says Jim. "Boys were few and things were quiet in our little home town, so Johnny and Jimmie Pershing played their way to manhood together as brothers seldom do.

"When he was 19, John attended the Normal school at Kirksville, Mo., and had decided on a career as school teacher to the delight of his mother.

I left Laclede for a railroad job out west and had been gone a week when father turned the little country store that supported the family over to mother and left for St. Louis on a business trip.

"The night he left, a burglar broke into the store and dynamited the safe, nearly frightening mother to death. She telegraphed John to hurry back.

"He was home again but a day, when he happened to pick up a local newspaper and read that there would be a competitive examination at Trenton, Mo., for entrance to West Point.

"Immediately he made up his mind to take the examination, and stuck to his determination in spite of the pleadings of mother.

"It was a happy day when the postman brought him a big, important-looking letter from the government, announcing he had passed the test and was eligible for Uncle Sam's military academy."

There has been considerable talk of Jim's joining his famous brother in France.

"It's really too early to say anything about my going to France," he answered.

"There is one thing I am glad to talk about, though. It has been said this war might make a president, and that man may be my brother John.

"Let me say John is in France to give his all to the cause of the stars and stripes. He cares for nothing greater than the opportunity to do his best for his country as head of the French expedition. He is ambitious only as a soldier."

BAKERS MAKE AN AGREEMENT

There Will Be No Further Exchange of Stale Bread for Fresh.

ACTION REQUESTED BY THE PRESIDENT

Bakers from Eleven Counties Hold Profitable Meeting Here.

All bakers in the United States must sign an agreement not to exchange stale loaves of bread for fresh bread.

That is the order that has come down from the president as commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States who has undertaken under the war powers granted to him by the constitution and the law to prepare not only the army and navy but all the people for hte big tilt with Germany.

This fact was announced to the bakers in the eleven counties which figure in the district of which Fort Wayne is the metropolis. There were similar meetings held all over the United States yesterday under the auspices of the State Council of Defense. In Allen county the council of defense is known as the Fort Wayne Council for Patriotic Service and as William H. Scheiman could not be present yesterday afternoon, he detailed C. R. Lane, the secretary to preside at the meeting in the Commercial club where sixty bakers had assembled as the result of a call issued by the Fort Wayne master bakers under the leadership of J. B. Franke and George Haffner.

Explains Object of Meeting.

Mr. Lane stated the object of the meeting was to obtain pledges from all the bakers, large and small, in the district that on and after July no exchanges of fresh loaves for stale will be permitted. He further pointed out the reason why the Allen County Council of Defense had been instructed by the state council to take charge of the meeting. It was because the time has passed for discussion or voluntary agreement. The policy, he said, had been fully approved by the national council and nothing remains for the bakers except to comply with it. The state council was instructed to have the rule put in force through county councils.

James M Parrett was introduced and made a strong and persuasive appeal to the bakers to fall in with the president's policy for the purpose of conserving the nation's food supply and help win the war for democracy and liberty. He was frequently interrupted by applause showing that the audience was in sympathy with his appeal. He called attention to the necessity of this action by referring to the result of the federal investigation which showed that four per cent of the loaves baked in this country every day are exchanged for fresh loaves and the stale bread which still retains all its value for human food is diverted to the use of poultry or to some other use for which other substances can be as well used. The four per cent he said meant enough to feed four million people among our allies many of whose families are starving. The new rule would save a vast quantity of wheat and flour and tend to reduce prices to Americans.

State President Talks.

Mr. Thomas, of Auburn, a wholesale dealer in bread and president of the State Association of Master Bakers, was heard in an appeal to all the bakers not only to assist in the conservation movement but also to help bring to the notice of the state council the names of all bakers, no matter how small their production of bread. To fail to sign and to assist he said would make a baker known as a slacker and as the movement is one in which the bakers have a paramount self-interest as well as a patriotic one he expressed the belief that there would be no slackers.

George M. Haffner, former president of the National Association of Master Bakers, also addressed the audience and urged unanimous action in signing. He urged economy in all ways—particularly in the making of large loaves because of the saving in overhead expenses which would the sooner result in a return to normal prices.

Then the cards were passed and each of the fifty bakeries represented signed three in duplicate—one for his own record, one for the state council and one for the national council. All bakers in the district are to be called upon to sign the cards.

Mr. Katzenberg, formerly well known in the trade in Fort Wayne was present and stated that one of the master bakers said it was the rule formerly to instruct drivers to exchange loaves at least to four per cent, but not to allow the exchange to exceed five per cent, showing an enormous waste.

The song sparrow is about the size of an English sparrow, but with a longer tail; streaks and large spot on breast. The chipping and field sparrows are smaller, with no spots on breast; the former has lines on head; the latter is rufous and sings very sweetly.

To Have Perfect Skin Throughout the Summer

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercolized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. Discolored, freckled and roughened cuticle are actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a soiled complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, a good astringent lotion should be used. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face in this during the heat of the day or before going out for theater or social affair. It is a remarkable skin tightener and wrinkle eraser.—Advertisement.

Head of War Trade Commission Denies Sweden is Aiding Germany.

Stockholm, July 6.—Washington dispatches of the last few days forecasting the sharpest limitation or possible discontinuance of all exports to neutrals caused anxiety in government circles and among the people generally. The situation is already grave and the prospect pictured by news from America renders it still more disquieting.

Crops are likely to be below the average. Manufacturers in various lines are closed by lack of raw materials. Others cannot maintain production much longer. Benzine and petroleum are nearing exhaustion. Leather is scarce and so dear that a pair of ordinary shoes cost from $10 to $12. Automobile tires bring $500 a pair. The cost of living is steadily increasing.

Stocks of Coffee Almost Gone.

The stocks of coffee in the kingdom will be exhausted in a month. Long lines of people standing outside the stores waiting to buy coffee may already be seen.

The government has taken measures to deal with extensive unemployment, which is considered inevitable if the war lasts another winter and it becomes impossible to import needed commodities. In view of the assertions in some quarters that Sweden's imports are not intended solely for Swedish consumption, The Associated Press asked Herr E. B. Trolle, formerly minister of foreign affairs and now president of the government war trade commission, for a statement.

Denies Aiding Germany.

He said:

"Official statistics of Sweden's importations for 1916, which are now nearly complete, demonstrate conclusively the absolute erroneousness of assertions that we are bringing in American products for the purpose of passing them on to the central powers.

"In several instances our total importations from America show a decided decrease compared with 1913, the last normal year, and in many instances where our imports from the United States increased, this increase fell considerably short of making good the deficit caused by the decrease or total discontinuance of our pre-war importations from belligerent countries."

OFFICERS ARE NAMED BY THE KIWANIS CLUB

Howard Benninghoff is Selected as President of New Organization.

At the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club held at the Anthony hotel Thursday night, officers were elected as follows: Howard Benninghoff, President; H. P. Fletcher, vice-president; Henry Hoffman, secretary; Charles H. Buesching, treasurer; Charles Pask, sergeant-at-arms. The following men were named directors: Robert Fowler, E. F. Brinkman, C. D. Nolan, Charles Golden and Howard Fairweather. The membership of the club is now seventy-five. Acceptance speeches were given by the newly elected members. Harry E. North, national organizer, presided over the business meeting. The next luncheon of the club will be at the Anthony next Thursday at 12:15 o'clock.

DONATIONS SWELLING FUND OF RED CROSS

Many Contributions Being Received at Headquarters Each Day.

Donations to the fund of the Red Cross society are being received at headquarters on East Berry street nearly every day, and are rapidly swelling the sum of money that is to be used for humanity in the great war.

The final report of the neighborhood lawn fete held several weeks ago at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ross on Fairfield avenue, shows that a total of $145 was realized from this source. A picnic given at New Haven on the Fourth of July will add $3.05 to the fund of the local chapter. The Robinson chapel M. E. Sunday school, through collections among the members, gave the sum of $3.79. Many other smaller contributions are being received every day, showing the spirit of helpfulness that exists in the city.

HARD BLOW TO VEGETARIANS.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 6.—The rationing of bread, oatmeal, rice, groats, flour, etc., which was based on the average necessities of omnivorous inhabitants, has been a hard blow to the vegetarians, of whom there is a relatively great number in Sweden. The scarcity of potatoes, milk and butter has contributed to render their lot still harder. At least one of Stockholm's many vegetarian boarding houses has had to go out of business, and the others are having a hard time to struggle through.

dressing a radical convention in Schleswig-Holstein that it would be improper for a reichstag of such out of date origin, elected under such different conditions, to venture to pass upon the question of peace.

The Tageblatt points out that the bill extending the life of the present reichstag another year, which will be voted upon this week, would result in a seven year term, which would be contrary to the constitution.

Not Impossible to Vote.

Although elections in time of war are conceded to be difficult, the Tageblatt says it would not be impossible to hold them, remarking that there is no prospect of early restoration of peace.

Other parties have manifested no desire to hold elections, and as the radicals are not pressing the matter, an extension of the present reichstag probably will be voted.

A bill for the prolongation of the life of the reichstag has been approved by the bundesrat, or federal council, according to an Amsterdam dispatch last night. The reichstag's approval of the measure also is required.

march. More street cars were wrecked and then the offices of the company were attacked, a number of windows being smashed.

Mayor E. E. Jones and Sheriff Flesher met the crowd and urged them to desist from further rioting, but they demanded that the officers arrange a conference with the officials of the railway company.

Gives Up Prisoner.

This they promised to do, and then the crowd demanded that a prisoner taken during the evening be released. This the sheriff did and the crowd dispersed. Mayor Jones then sent a message to Gov. Lowden asking for troops, as there is fear of another outbreak, should the proposed conference not materialize or the men fail in their demand for higher wages.

The street railway system is a subsidiary of the Illinois Traction system, of which Congressman William B. McKinley, of Champaign, is president.

The troops are expected to reach here during the forenoon from Chicago and Peoria.

chus to further his own ambitions. Tua Chi-Jui promises generous treatment for the Manchus after the republic is restored.

Three thousand imperialist troops and one thousand of Chang-Hsun's soldiers have taken position astride the Pekin-Hankow railway four miles from this city, ready to oppose 10,000 troops commanded by Tsao-Kun, who have reached a point twenty-five miles from Pekin.

The diplomatic representatives have warned the government that the protocol of 1901 requires maintenance of and free passage on the Pekin-Shanghai railway.

FIGHTING HAS BEGUN.

Peking, July 6.—Fighting began yesterday at Lang Fang, abou tthirty-five miles southeast of Peking, between the troops of Gen. Chang Hsun, supporter of the monarchy, and the forces of the republicans.

The situation in the capital is becoming serious. The trains are filled with fleeing Chinese going to Tein Tsin. The hotels are full of foreigners. Small American and Japanese forces are endeavoring to come from Tien Tsin but their arrival may be delayed by the fighting at Lang Fang, where 5,000 of the troops of Gen. Chang Hsun are opposing an advance guard of 20,000 republicans.

RESTORATION COLLAPSES.

London, July 6.—A dispatch to the Post from Tien Tsin says the manhu restoration seems on the verge of collapse. Fifty thousand republican troops are converging on Peking, where Gen. Chang Hshun has only about 3,000 men. Members of the northern military party do not expect fighting. They believe Chang Hsun's troops will desert when they realize the strength of the republican forces.

Fifteen provinces now support Tuan Chi Jui, who has been named premier of the provisional government established at Nanking.

A dispatch to the Daily Mail says that General Chang Hsun realizing his mistake in attempting to restore the emperor, threatens to sack Peking, burn the manchu palace and take the emperor to Mongolia.

FARMERS IN NEED OF HELP

Farmers state that the hay has reached a stage where it must be cut at once and a delay will mean much towards injuring the value of the hay. Wheat is ripening fast and it will only be a week or ten days until the binders will begin work. Oats also are heading out.

Farmers state that help has been short all spring in the country and with the work of harvesting almost at hand the situation has become a serious one.

Twenty-two application for help are waiting to be filled at the Fort Wayne branch of the state free employment bureau. Many of these offer $2.50 a day, while a few are offering $3.

During the past week one hundred and fourteen men and eight women secured employment through this channel. They are listed as follows: One carpenter, one dishwasher, five farmhands, 104 laborers, three machinists, one chambermaid, two dishwashers, one general houseworker, two housekeepers, one laundress and one waitress.

to seise in their sudden rush a few days ago.

London is reticent as to what is going on along the British front in France, where there have been indications that some important movement was in prospect. The only activity reported was a nocturnal raid on British posts near Bullecourt, which was repulsed.

In Macedonia there is some revival of activity, but seemingly not on a large scale. Enemy troops, probably Bulgarians, launched an assault on the ridge west of Doljeli, southwest of Lake Dorain, but were compelled by a British counter attack to relinquish the footing they obtained.

On the Galician front the Russians have not renewed their assaults in force. Intense artillery activity is reported east of Lemberg, however, where Gen. Brussiloff early this week began a push toward the Galician capital, with Zlochoff on the Tarnopol-Krasne railway, as his immediate objective.

Near Narayuvka, to the southeast of Lemberg, the Austro-German guns are busy, intnesely bombarding the Russians east of Lipnicadolna.

In Mesopotamia the Russian army from Sakkiz is reported hotly engaged with the Turks, which have been reinforced in their effort to stop the Russian advance towards the Tigris valley.

southeast of Aahure. The artillery was active around Verdun.

The statement follows:

"The artillery fighting was rather spirited for a time between the Miette andthe Aisne. Three attacks on small posts in this region were repulsed by our force.

"In the Champagne there was very activeartillery fighting, especially at Lecasque and Le Teton. We easily repulsed enemy attacks west of Mont Carnillet and southeast of Tahure.

"On the left bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) our batteries directed a destructive fire on German defenses west and north of hill 304. Ptrol encounters near Louvemont, on the right bank of the river, enabled us to take prisoners. There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front.

BRITISH STOP NIGHT RAID.

London, July 6.—An official statement issued by the war office today saysthe Germans attempted a night raid on the British posts near Buellecourt which was repulsed. There is nothing further to report, the statement says.

BRITISH STOP NIGHT RAID.

London, July 6.—An official statement issued by the war office today says the Germans attempted a night raid on the British posts near Bullecourt which was repulsed. There is nothing further to report, the statement says.

BRITISH LOSE GROUND.

London, July 6.—"The enemy gained a temporary footing on the ridge west of Doltjeli (southwest of Lake Doiran) but was driven out by a counter attack," says an official report from the Macedonian front.

"Nineteen tons of explosives were dropped and considerable damage was inflicted by British airplanes in June."

SITUATION IN EGYPT.

London, July 6.—The following official report from the Egyptian front was given out today:

"The situation is unchanged. There has been considerable artillery fighting. We put out of action thirteen enemy guns and destroyed many gun emplacements in June. The sickness of the troops was lower than the average in Egypt in the five years preceding the war."

GERMAN DRIVE SHATTERED.

(By the Associated Press.)

French Front in France, July 5.—After their strongest offensive effort since Verdun the Germans found found themselves yesterday thrown back everywhere along an eleven mile front on the Chemin-des-Dames, leaving the ground thickly strewn with their dead and having failed to take even one French soldier prisoner.

The French lines remained intact and the French commanding general who watched the operations throughout from the front trenches was able to declare at the end of the day that not a single yard of territory had been lost.

The Germans came forward everywhere in the closest formation and in successive waves, preceded by the famous "shock" troops, who were mown down by the French fire. At the first onslaught in the vicinity of Cerny and on the Californie plateau the French were obliged to give way, but their yielding was only momentary and a counter attack remedied the slight dent immediately and in addition gave them possession of some German trenches in the vicinity of Cerny, which they held.

The German infantry appeared to have all the dash taken out of them by the French defense and made no attempt to regain the ground lost by the French reaction.

PROTEST AGAINST MERCIER.

Copenhagen, July 6.—Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, secretary of foreign affairs, announced to a committee of the reichstag, according to news reaching here, that representations have been made to the vatican regarding the pastoral letter of Cardinal Mercier, wherein he spoke in forcible terms of Germany's crimes and outrages in Belgium. The letter was published in the French press and was the subject of angry comment by German newspapers.

NORWEGIAN SHIP SUNK.

Copenhagen, July 6.—The sinking by a German submarine of the Norwegian steamer Benguela, is reported by the Tidens Tegn of Christiania. She was on her way from England for Philadelphia and was insured for 4,000,000 kronen. The crew was transferred to a Spanish steamer.

CENSORSHIP IS RAISED.

Copenhagen, July 6.—In consequence of vigorous representations in the reichstag main committee, the preventive censorship imposed a few days ago on the Frankfurter Zeitung has been raised. The measure was the result of a financial article by Professor Weber of Heidelberg university on the financial and exchange situation.

PUT THE PRICE ABOUT WHERE IT SEEMED NICE

Print Paper Figures Based on Arbitrary Figure and Not Cost.

Toronto, July 6.—The publication of the official report of the proceedings of the royal commission on news print paper has brought to light further instances of the inflation of cost figures by the paper manufacturers in their returns to Commissioner Pringle.

The statement of the Donnaconna Paper company (limited), showed a sudden increase in the cost of news print paper from $20.21 a ton in 1915 to $45.39 a ton in 1916, and $50.20 a ton during the first four months of 1917. Geo. M. McKee, general manager of this company, admitted that the returns for 1916 and the first four months of 1917 were based on arbitrary figures of $50 a ton for sulphite and $25 a ton for ground wood instead of the actual cost of production.

George H. Millen, president and general manager of E. B. Eddy company (limited), admitted that in the statement of that company for the first four months of 1917 sulphite had been entered at $80 a ton and ground wood had been entered at $30 a ton although the actual cost of production during that period was $45.96 a ton for sulphite and $18.84 a ton for ground wood. With the use of these arbitrary figures there was shown a cost for roll news of $61.91 a ton.

The use of the figures of actual cost given by Mr. Millen would reduce the cost to $45.13 a ton.

THE MARKETS

RECEIPTS BECOMING HEAVIER ON MARKET

Wheat Prices Are Now Steady at $2.10 and $2.12 Per Bushel.

Receipts on the wholesale street market are becoming heavier, and since dealers are buying very little, a somewhat weaker tone is noted in many departments. Wheat prices are now standing at $2.10 and $2.12 per bushel, following a ten cent drop of Thursday. Changes that may come for some time now are expected to be in favor of the consumer.

Business at the city scales was almost rushing Friday morning when forty-one loads were weighed. Twenty-seven of these were hay, which sold at $12.00 and 14.00, one dollar having been dropped from the top price. Three loads of corn were sold at $1.65 per bushel, the scarcity of this grain holding up the prices. Oats were plentiful, eleven loads being sold at 70 cents.

JULY CORN BANNED; RUSH TO SEPTEMBER

Attempt to Curb the Market Brings Stampede and Rise of Prices.

Chicago, July 6.—Attempts to curb high prices by stopping all trade in the July delivery of corn resulted today in a general rush to buy the September option and other distant deliveries. Reports of urgent export and distillery demand and of virtual exhaustion of country reserve supplies did much to stir up bullish sentiment. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛c off to 2¼c advance, with September $1.55½@1.57 and December at $1.15½@1.16¾, were followed by a slight reaction and then a sharp upturn.

The close was weak at the same as yesterday's finish to 1⅜c lower, with September at $1.54½ to $1.54⅞, and December at $1.14½ to $1.14¾.

Wheat ascended with corn. After opening 1c to 2½c higher, with July at $2.10 and September at $1.91@1.92, further gains were made that carried July to $2.19.

The close was unsettled, 2½c to 3c net higher, with July at $2.12 and September at $1.92.

Oats were firmer at first on account of seaboard buying.

Provisions reflected the advance in corn.

STOCK MARKET OPENS STRONG AND SLUMPS

Rally from Thursday's Depression Proves But Temporary.

New York, July 6.—Prices rallied very decidedly at the opening of today's market from the general depression which characterized yesterday's final operations. The strongest features at advances of 1 to almost 5 points included Chandler, Studebaker and General Motors, Baldwin Locomotive, Industrial Alcohol. United States Steel gaine donly a fraction. Beet Sugar and the coppers were backward.

Early improvement proved to be only temporary, renewed selling of popular stocks causing sharp declines which carried steels and the war group under minimum prices of the previous session. United States Steel was the center of a vigorous drive, reacting 1¼ points. Rails were comparatively steady, except New York Central. The setback which was largely overcome before noon bore the familiar marks of professional pressure.

Bonds were irregular, the liberty issue, however, selling at premiums ranging from 1-50 to 3-50ths.

VINELESS TUBERS WILL NOT MAKE FULL CROP

Expert Thinks Underground Potatoes Have Gained Their Growth.

Vineless potatoes, produced in several Fort Wayne gardens, have already gained their full growth, believes F. W. Gray, Purdue food expert. While a part of the tubers, grown entirely underground without sending a shoot into the sunlight, are almost as large as hen eggs at this time, Gray holds that the vegetable will begin to decay at this point.

"The whole matter is theory because such large underground potatoes were never known before," stated Prof. Gray, Friday. "The potatoes are sustained, evidently, from the substance in the piece of seed potato. When all the life has been drawn from the seed tuber the branch potatoes will surely begin to decay. I think the under soil potatoes found here have reached their full growth now."

While the small potatoes are apparently in healthy condition, Mr. Gray believes their production must be due to a disease of the seed potato, because it is not a normal state not to send a vine above ground.

"It may be a variety trouble," says Mr. Gray. He is obtaining a list of all the varieties of potatoes which are producing the mystry plants. In most cases the potato used in planting was the Rural New Yorker.

Prof. Gray dug several hills of the subterranean potatoes from the garden of Ben Rice, Parnell avenue, Friday morning. He carefully encased a quantity of the soil and a number of the half-grown potatoes in a box and shipped the package to Purdue university.

A message from the university states that the growth is so far unexplainable. Very few cases of the subsoiled plants have been brought to the attention of experts before. In no case have the potatoes been known to attain the growth reached in Fort Wayne gardens, it is claimed.

Mr. Gray says that he recalls that a few very small potatoes grew from seed tubers when he was in food relief work in Indianapolis. The little tubers soon perished, he says.

Lice Are Plentiful.

Aphids, or green plant life, are entering Fort Wayne gardens in hosts, Mr. Gray announces. At the present time the tiny bugs are the greatest menace to city gardens. He is advising that the insects be killed at once by use of a spray.

A liquid formed by a half pound of laundry soap dissolved in a gallon of water makes one of the most effective sprays for the insect. If the green plant lice threaten to destroy the crop within a few days, a spray formed by a nicotine sulphate solution is advised.

Spraying should be very thorough. Both the under and upper side of the leaf should be given a drenching.

SILK STOCKING CENSORS TRY TO HUSH A MURDER TRIAL

Harriet A. Varney, photographer's model, in characteristic pose, and (below) George H. Keyes.

(By J. HERBERT DUCKWORTH.)

Brookline, Mass., July 6.—The self-satisfied pride of aristocratic and stand-offish Brookline, the "richest town in the world," has received a staggering blow in the Keyes murder mystery.

The Boston suburb of private parks and mansions, ruled by three very select selectmen, strictly representative of its silk stocking millionaire townsmen, tried hard to censor all news of developments in the sensational and sordid tragedy, but in vain.

When the case was reported as one of suicide Brookliners gave a sigh of relief. That was better than murder. They didn't want a big trial to focus the attention of the country upon them. But murder will out.

Cultured Brookline now has a full-sized, unsolved murder mystery to cope with, the principals of which are a man of many love affairs whose young and handsome wife was found shot, and his wife's young and beautiful rival.

When Pauline Biesenbach Keyes was found dead in her home, 79 Kenwood street, June 19, Brookline bumbledom said "suicide." There was the "suicide note" to prove it. But a handwriting expert now swears no woman about to take her life would have shown so steady a hand.

Investigation into the life of the husband then brought to light the fact that George H. Keyes was a New England Don Juan. Here, right in the midst of Brookline's blue-blooded families a man had been living a double life.

On reconsideration, too, it was decided Mrs. Keyes could not have fired the two shots through her hand into her temple. That was a physical impossibility.

Who, then, fired the fatal shots?

A "mysterious woman" had been seen by neighbors prowling around the Keyes home a few days before the murder.

Then Keyes was closely quizzed. He finally betrayed Miss Harriet A. Varney, hospital nurse, who quit her job at 5 a. m. the day after the murder. Miss Varney for six years had also posed as "Mrs. Keyes." Keyes used to visit her two or three times a week. Keyes took the police to her sister's home at West Upton. Miss Varney was arrested and put in jail.

Miss Varney's alibi is that she arrived in Boston from North Grafton at 10:15 about the time the murder was committed and lunched later in a Boston cafe with Keyes. In a letter she sent her sister that day she said Keyes "couldn't eat."

When inquiries were made of Keyes he produced a dentist who said he was in his surgery at the time of the murder.

This is the matrimonial career of Keyes:

In the meantime he had become interested in Pauline Biesenbach, his stenographer, who was to become the ill-fated "wife No. 2."

Also, it is said, within this time he became friendly with Helen Varney, hospital nurse and photographer's model.

In August, 1916, Keyes, in New York, married Miss Biesenbach, 26 years old, and 12 years his junior.

These are the highlights in this complicated murder mystery that has besmirched Brookline's "moral character"—highlights that have leaked out in spite of the secret manner of conducting the inquest in this ultra exclusive community, and the almost comical deaf and dumb attitude of the local police.

Uncle Sam to Pay Bill for Bride of Interned German

Mrs. Werner von Elpons, former Miss Ilse Niess, of San Francisco, who will live in apartments at government expense at Salt Lake City while her husband, Lieut. Werner von Elpons, a German army officer, remains interned during the war.

Lieut. von Elpons was an officer on board the converted German cruiser Cormoran, which was blown up in the harbor at Apra, Guam, by the crew. The lieutenant and a party of German prisoners of war were recently sent to an internment camp "somewhere in the interior."

Huntington Man Dead of Injuries.—Other Accidents.

Huntington, Ind., July 6.—John Buffington, age forty-five, a barber, died today in the Huntington hospital of injuries he suffered Wednesday morning when his bicycle got beyond control and he was thrown against the railing of a bridge over the Wabash river. He had descended a hill which ended in a sharp turn to the left on the bridge. Boys playing on the bridge say the wheel slipped from under him and he struck the superstructure head foremost. An operation to relieve pressure on the brain and remove splinters of bone from a skull fracture was performed Wednesday night, but it failed to give him relief. He suffered a broken collar bone and was injured about the neck. After the operation he did not recover consciousness. Buffington leaves a widow, two children and a brother, Ross V. Buffington, of Warren. The brther is seriously ill with tuberculosis. Buffington was going to visit him when the accident occurred.

The overland bus belonging to Harvey Barsh, and the car of John Shock, of Roanoke, came together at a crossing on the Columbia City road, and both turned over. Oliver Smith, a passenger in the bus, suffered a wrenched back. Shock received a bad cut on his leg, and Mrs. Henry Shock, his mother, was badly bruised. Shock's two sisters escaped injuries.

Lewis Zintsmaster was picking cherries from a high stepladder when two hogs got to fighting and in their struggle knocked the ladder down. He fell on his head and shoulders and was unconscious for half an hour.

Half a dozen men narrowly escaped serious injury or death Tuesday evening at a barn raising on the S. E. Etuits farm, north of Huntington. A chain used in hoisting one end of a large bent, broke and let the timbers swing. All the men escaped except Robert Brown, who was pinched about the hips. The extent of his injuries will not be known for several days.

MAY LOSE ROAD.

C. B. & C. Property May Be Sold and Junked.

Portland, Ind., July 6.—Portland may lose one of her railroads unless somebody comes to the rescue and keeps the C. B. & C.—Cincinnati, Bluffton & Chicago—road from being sold and converted to the junk pile. The road is but fifty-two miles long. Two trains a day is the schedule.

In bygone days residents along the line had dreams of a short route between Chicago and Cincinnati but now they hope that the rails and rolling stock will not be allowed to rust. A determined effort is being made to save the road.

The road does an excellent business so far as its equipment allows. Several months ago J. M. Wilson, of Bluffton, took the road over and has kept it from going into the hands of junk dealers by obtaining from the court an extension of time that the financial difficulties may be adjusted.

MAY HELD IN BROWN CASE.

Fourth Man Charged With Murder of Redkey Grocer.

Portland, Ind., July 6.—A fourth man, Weldon May, has been arrested for the murder of Roy Brown, the Redkey grocer. May had been indicted for the robbery by the same grand jury which charged William Fishback and Ray Landess with the Brown murder. The affidavit against May was filed by G. W. Tieben, the marshal of this city, who also charged Mont Dakin, another of the defendants, with the crime. May, who is in jail, denies his guilt and has telegraphed to relatives in Michigan to come to his assistance.

Fishback was tried recently at Hartford City, but the jury disagreed. His second trial is set for July 16.

BANK LOSES CASE.

Portland, Ind., July 6.—A jury in the circuit court here has returned a verdict for the defendant in the case brought by the First National bank, of Decatur. The suit was on a bond, demanding $16,000, to secure the payment of notes given by the late Rufus K. Allison, the Cardwell Mill and Lumber company and the Allison Real Estate company. These three were declared bankrupt and three trustees were appointed to take charge and sell the land. Hugk contended that the land in Missouri was sold by the trustees for less than its value, to one of the trustees for the Cardwell Land company.

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE VOTED.

Lagrange, Ind., July 6.—Lawrence J. Smith and Ralph Rhoderick have been voted scholarships at Purdue and Myrl Hoopingarner, Albert Brainard, R. L. McCally and Jacob A. Longnecker were appointed alternates in the order named by the county commissioners in session here this week. A petition for a franchise has been presented to the commissioners by the Farmers' and Merchants' Electric Light and Power company. August 6 has been set for hearing. Frank E. Rozelle has received the contract for furnishing groceries at the county farm for the next quarter and J. F. Thomas, drugs, and Isaac Litman, dry goods, shoes, etc.

Omaha, July 6.—The controversy over the whereabouts of Eddie Rickenbacher, the Omaha boy who, in the last two or three years has taken many big prizes in automobile races, has been settled by a letter just received from him by Harry J. Van Hoven, his former manager.

It has been said Rickenbacher was driving General Pershing's automobile in France, but this was afterward denied and the assertion was made that he was teaching aviation at Mineola, L. I. The letter to Van Hoven was written at the tower of London which proved that Rickenbacher is with Pershing.

POLYGAMY SOON TO BE SANCTIONED BY WORLD

Woman Lawyer and Leader of Suffragists Sees the Time Near.

San Francisco, Cal., July 6.—The suggestion that war's aftermath would bring polygamy has generally caused much indignation among feminists.

But Charlotte M. Jones, young attorney and suffragist of San Francisco, predicts that within the next ten years plural unions will not alone be sanctioned but will be the means of establishing the supremacy of women in governing the world.

"The advantage," she declares, "that polygamy will give woman will be in the elimination of man's authority over the children.

"The mother will then be in complete control of her offspring.

"The responsibility for their support will be assumed by the state, while the father will have nothing to say about their education and training, which will be in the hands of the mother.

"Man is likely to be reduced," asserts Miss Jones, "to a mere parental factor—the place he originally occupied in the human family."

As Miss Jones views it, humanity needs woman domination to save it from chaos and destruction. She considers the devastating world war a natural result of man's monopoly of government.

Had woman been given her share of power, a saner solution in settling international problems would long since have been found, she maintains.

Whether the romantic devotion of one man for one woman, the long-cherished love ideal, must be sacrificed to the practical necessity of replenishing the race through plural unions, Miss Jones frankly says she does not know.

Miss Jones' highest ambition is to be elected to the supreme court of the United States some day. She comes naturally by her taste for the legal profession, her family having produced some of the nation's most brilliant lawyers and jurists.

Miss Charlotte M. Jones.

In addition to her legal work in the courts, Miss Jones is gathering musty records to establish her claim to Goat island, a government training station near San Francisco, owned in the 50s by her grandfather, and which the United States took by proclamation while he lay dying in Kentucky without knowledge of the proceedings. She holds the original Spanish grant.

FORT WAYNE BOY IN FRANCE WIRES HOME

"Arrived safely."

The above cablegram was received Monday by John Suelzer, general contractor, 518 East DeWald street, from his son, Al W. Suelzer, who is with General Pershing in France. It is the first word received from any Fort Wayne boy now with the American soldiers in Europe.

Suelzer went with the first contingent. For the past two years he has been practicing law in Washington, D. C., but when war was declared with Germany he gave up his practice there and enlisted. He is now attached to the army headquarters in Paris and has been made a corporal.

Suelzer is a brother of John Suelzer, jr., manager of the Fort Wayne Builders and Supply company.

INFURIATED BY AIR RAID

Newspapers of London Rage Against Government's Incapacity.

HUMILIATION AND DISGRACE CLAIMED

Popular Demand That There Shall Be Reprisals is Gaining Strength.

London, July 9.—The morning newspapers subordinate everything to Saturday's air raid. The comments thereupon reflect the popular indignation while some indulge in spirited condemnation of the government.

The country, it is declared, has been humiliated and disgraced in a manner never experienced since the Dutch fleet burned Chatham more than 250 years ago. The incident is described by the most angry commentators as disgraceful alike to the war office and the admiralty air service and removal of those responsible for the "miserable display of incompetency" is demanded.

Even those comments which are more restrained complain that Great Britain is falling behind in aircraft construction and say it needs speeding up. General Haig's reference to increased German air activity is regarded as highly significant. In all the comments, there is the same note of outraged national pride and disgust at the impunity with which the enemy came, raided and departed.

It is remarked also that the aerial attacks raises to a practical level the question of a possible absolute devastation of London by aircraft and the infliction of such losses as would amount to a serious military defeat. If a score of enemy machines are able to operate with practical impunity, it is asked what will happen of 200 come or, as the Koelnische Zeitung recently urged, a thousand.

Those favoring reprisals naturally

Summary of the Day's War News

New and powerful blows are being struck by the Russians in Galicia. Apparently they have broken the Austro-German line west of Stanislau, south of Halicz, as today's official report from Petrograd not only reports important gains for the Russians in the Stanislau area, but declares the Russian cavalry is pursuing the retreating enemy. This pursuit already has reached the Lukva river.

Halicz, the gateway to Lemberg from the south, seems doomed to fall unless the Russian onslaught is quickly stopped. A Russian push northwest from Stanislau would result in Halicz being hemmed in on three sides.

The renewed Russian onslaught in this sector brought with it not only additional territory but 7,000 prisoners and forty-eight guns, including a dozen large calibre pieces. The total Russian captures of men in the present remarkable offensive is mounting rapidly and now is in excess of 25,000.

North of the Stanislau area General Bruissiloff is holding fast to his newly

FEARFUL BLAST SPREADS HAVOC AT MARE ISLAND

Powder Magazines at United States Navy Yard on Pacific Coast Let Go With Fury.

GREAT DESTRUCTION AND LOSS OF LIFE

San Francisco, Cal., July 9.—Two store houses at the Mare Island nav yyard, on San Francisco bay, were destroyed by an explosion this morning. How many lives were lost has not been determined.

Twelve of fifteen magazines were badly damaged by the explosion, the force of which broke thousands of windows in Vallejo, half a mile away. Fire started in the wrecked buildings and desperate efforts were made to prevent its spread to other buildings, where explosives are stored.

A report that eight men had been killed in the black powder storehouse explosion at Mare Island navy yard, was received in Vallejo this morning. Naval officers admitted that "large numbers" of men had been injured.

Several buildings used as sleeping quarters for detachments of gunners were wrecked. Whether any men were in these buildings is not known.

Naval officials at Vallejo said about 200 men were employed in or near the buildings wrecked, but whether these men had reported for work at the time of the explosion was not known.

Destruction is Widespread.

The explosion occurred at 7:44 a. m. The concussion was terrific. At the Southern Pacific sheds in Vallejo, two miles from the scene of the explosion, doors were torn from their hinges.

Santa Rosa, about forty miles northwest of Mare Island, reported that the explosion was felt there.

Among the injured were Lieutenant C. Bird, United States marine corps, tnd two other men, residents of Pasadena, who were passengers on the El Capitan, a ferryboat operating between South Vallejo and Vallejo junction. They suffered from shock and were cut by flying glass. Although the boat was in mid-stream, about two miles from the scene of the explosion, all the doors and windows were blown out.

Orders that no person be allowed to leave Mare Island were issued by Captain Harry George, commandant of the navy yard.

The crossing is said to be dangerous, as the view is obstructed on one side by a school house and on the other by a residence.

ELKS LODGE OPENS NEW COUNTRY HOME

Maurice Niezer Speaks at Patriotic Ceremonies in Dedication.

The Elks' Country club, formerly the old Germania park, was formally opened Saturday afternoon with a program marked by patriotic exercises and demonstrations. A large crowd witnessed the flag raising and heard Maurice Neizer in his first address since he returned from Fort Benjamin Harrison. The Elks' band gave a patriotic concert.

Mr. Neizer, fresh from the training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison, predicted that the war will probably last some time, but that the victory would eventually come to the American flag.

The Elks have leased their new grounds for a period of three years and will keep it open every day in the week for the benefit of members. They will build tennis courts and base ball grounds and will erect permanent buildings. The ground is ideally located for the purpose, being easily accessible to street car lines and automobile roads.

GENTRY BROTHERS' BIG SHOW TO COME SOON

Thirteenth Season of the Children's Greatest Show on Earth.

That smiling April skies have inaugurated the thirtieth season of the Gentry Brothers Famous Shows is a matter of local pride, for these exhibitions, which will delight the people of Fort Wayne on Monday, July 16th, are the ever increasingly successful products of enterprising and public spirited men of the Hoosier community.

For over a quarter of a century the name of Gentry has been heralded far and wide as the sterling mark of clean, progressive and diverting tented amusement. During those years, Indiana people, and especially those of this community, have watched the Gentrys build a small but meritorious attraction into what is conceded by the most conservative to be "The Greatest Show on Earth for Children." Hoosier folk have taken an honest pride in the Gentry shows and in the Gentry circus ideals, and well they might, for these shows and these ideals have been good, worthy and wholesome.

Each year has witnessed some advance in some department of the Gentry organization and this season will witness more improvement and elaboration in these celebrated shows than has any previous one.

Gentry Brothers have gone about to surprise the home folk this season and it can be stated that the exhibitions will prove a revelation even to those persons most familiar with them.

Thirty years of alert and discriminating showmanship have climaxed in the assembly of an arenic program, that must stand as a classic in point of divertissement, novelty and cumulative entertainment, a program that sparkles with the freshness of the unexpected, the beautiful and the unique. The tents will be pitched at South Calhoun and Packard avenue.

TO SEE THAT THE BOYS HAVE THEIR TOBACCO

Army Girls Incorporate to Supply Sammies With the Narcotic.

New York, July 9.—Application for articles of incorporation was made here today by an organization known as "an army girls' transport tobacco fund." The object of the organization is to provide the soldiers and sailors on transports leaving this country for Europe with plenty of tobacco.

Soldiers and soilors are not given tobacco as a ration. During the rush of sending the first contingents of soldiers to France an officer told the daughter of a prominent army officer that the men sailing on the transports would be unable to smoke for the simple reason there was no tobacco on board that they could buy.

The young women wasted no time with army red tape but went direct to a banker who arranged for credit with a large tobacco company with the result that there was plenty of tobacco on the transport when they started for Europe. Scores of officers have written to the young women to acknowledge the appreciation of every man in the expedition.

VETERAN UNDER BOND FOR ASSAULT ON GIRL

John Smith Also Held for Attacking Child at Park.

Silas Corson, aged 73, civil war veteran, was bound over to circuit court under $1,000 bond, on a charge of attacking a 9-year-old girl., in police court, Monday morning. The aged man is alleged to have attempted the assault on Saturday afternoon, at the home of the girl on Erie street, in the absence of the child's mother. Corson denies the charge.

John Wilke, 40, blacksmith, was bound to the circuit court from the court of Justice Grabner Monday noon for assaulting a twelve year old girl. He is held in jail under $5,000 bond. He is said to have admitted that he is now on parole from federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., because of a former conviction on a like charge.

Wilke, who first gave his name as Smith, is averred to have followed a little girl from Robison park and to have attacked her as she was walking towards her home on the Leo road Saturday at noon.

The girl, alleged to have been attacked by Smith, screamed and ran from her assailant. She hurried to the house of the Robison park keeper and told of the assault. Soon a posse of park employes and farmers were beating the woods and scouring the fields for the man who had attacked the child.

The assault of both girls took place in daylight, Saturday. Smith was found in Fort Wayne on Saturday evening and was identified by the girl as the man who had attacked her. Smith declares he does not know of the case.

Corson was found in the Erie street home with the small girl by the mother, who returned home from a short call Saturday afternoon. The mother tearfully told of finding the shades drawn and Corson partly undressed when she entered the house, as her testimony of the preliminary hearing, held in the room adjoining police court Monday. The mother had called the police. The girl told of the aged man's undue attentions. Corson admits playing with the child, but denies any criminal intent.

SAYS COUNTY OFFICERS ARE NOT EFFICIENT

Judge W. H. Eichhorn Talks Before Members of Civic Forum.

Declaring himself as highly in favor of the plan for holding a constitutional convention, Judge William H. Eichhorn, of Bluffton, addressed the members of the Fort Wayne Civic Forum, Sunday afternoon in the assembly room of the court house. His topic was "County Government and the Short Ballot."

The speaker pointed out many instances in which he believes county government has become inefficient. He stated that not all of the county offices should be elective, and advocated that some of them, in cases where the duties closely overlapped, could be combined into one office.

"County offices should be removed from politics, since no policies are determined by county officers," said Judge Eichhorn. In speaking of the short ballot, the judge declared it to be his belief that primary laws should prescribe majority rule instead of plurality.

At the close of the talk, a general discussion was held. An open discussion of the advisability of holding a constitutional convention will be held at the next meeting of the society, Sunday, July 22. Ed Stevens and E. W. Kieler will represent the negative, and F. J. Young the affirmative.

HORSE TRADER IN PLEA FOR FAMILY

Turn of Mystery Case Will Come With Recovery of Bullet.

The gaunt horse trader, Lewis Franklin Daniels, charged with firing the bullet which entered the head of Alfred Schell, 18, made a pathetic appeal to be allowed to care for his family, when arrangea second time in police court Monday. He told that his wife and children are in destitute condition and need his attention. He asked to be granted freedom on a small bond.

Judge Kerr continued the case of Daniels until July 23. If the boy, who was shot, is recovered sufficiently to testify before that time a hearing will be set. Daniels is under $2,000 bond.

Alfred Schell is slightly improved. Hopes of his recovery are given out at the St. Joseph hospital, whore he is being treated. If the lad is improved on Tuesday an effort will be made to probe for the bullet, which is lodged near his left ear, having gone through his face.

Daniels had a 38 caliber revolver in his wagon, near Hesse Cassel, on the night of the shooting. The two youths with Schell in the auto joy party, carried a 32 caliber revolver. There is a theory that the boy may have been shot by some unknown person, who hid in ambush. Recovery of the ball will add light to the case.

AIN'T NATURE WONDERFUL.. By Gene Ahern

DID YOU KNOW?

Learn Something every day.

It's hard for people with rheumatism to shake before taking certain medicines.

Meat can be boiled very neatly when water is used.

Up til 643 A. D. firsh poles were used for picking the line and hook out of the water when a fish was caught. It was in that year a genius thought of attaching the line to the pole.

A Denver inventor has invented a contrivance to hold eggs and prevent them from being broken when shipped. He scrambles the eggs before putting them in the contrivance.

A little wire fence put around the top of a fish bowl will help keep the fish in and prevent them from running around on the outside of the bowl.

Handles kere first put on wheelbarrows for more or less of an ornament, but were finally converted into usefulness.

MAY WIRTH, STAR OF THE WHITE TOPS, A SUNSHINE PHILOSOPHER

May Wirth and her favorite mount "Empress."

May Wirth, star of the "white tops," member of the Royal Wirth family, and who receives more verses and flowers than many an idol of the footlights, is something of a philosopher. Summed up in a motto, her philosophy is:

"Work hard, play hard and smile, smile, smile. Whoever does this consistently is bound to land on his feet."

Miss Wirth practices what she preaches. She is said to be able to rehearse longer hours than most male performers in circusland. She is an expert at tennis and polo and through it all she wears a smile that simply won't come off. As for "landing on her feet" she does that even on the fastest of galloping horses. She is the daring lady dainty of the sawdust ring. Her forward somersault performed from the back of a horse running at top speed has never been equalled by any other equestrian, man or woman. She is indeed "the cleverest rider on earth."

May Wirth and the entire famous Wirth family will be here with the Ringling Brothers' circus next Thursday. She will be seen in solo numbers which will include her remarkable forward somersault on a single horse and others performed from the back of one mount to another while both are on the gallop. She is the feature of a great galaxy of riders numbering fifty artists, which include Ian MacPherson and his clan of Highland horsemen and Romoffsky's daring Siberians.

Though still in her teens, Miss Wirth has surpassed all others in her branch of the profession. Though she has many accomplishments as a rider, her amazing somersaults outshine all the rest. She rarely experiences a fall. This is because she has what circus people term "perfect time."

PARLIAMENT OF SPAIN WILL NOT BE CALLED NOW

Madrid, July 9.—The government yesterday decided that the present time was inopportune to summon parliament. The question was considered at a cabinet meeting after a request had ben received from a number of Catalonian senators and deputies asking that the legislative assembly be convoked. They declared that if the government did not immediately summon parliament they would call upon the members thereof to meet in Barcelona Juuly 19.

The government decided yesterday that if the deputies and senators held the proposed extraordinary meeting at Barcelona it would be considered a seditious act, liable to punishment under the Spanish penal code.

AMERICAN AUTHOR DIES.

Springfield, Mass., July 9.—Charles Clerk Munn, author of numerous novels of New England life, died at his home here last night after a brief illness. Mr. Munn was born at Southington, Conn., in 1848.

The Chinese at Panama have erected a great building to be used as a temporary vault for the bodies of their countrymen who may die there. The Chinese dread being buried outside their own land. Instead of sending bodies one at a time, however, the new vault will hold them until a number can be sent in one shipment.

POTATO BLIGHT SERIOUS.

Auburn, Ind., July 9.—A. Z. Arehart, agricultural agent of DeKalb county, has written to Purdue university that the potato blight in his county has become very serious. His report follows: "The potato blight has become very serious in this county. The tussock moth caterpillar has been severely damaging apple trees in some places. The plum curculio has done some damage also. Peach leaf curl also has been noticed. Apples will be approximately half a crop. No peaches to mention; strawberries damaged by rain and rather short crop."

Both Need Change to Settle Mair Problem

One of the oldest problems, which is constantly before the mind of the average housewife, is the servant problem.

It is quite probably, however, that our grandmothers and great, great grandmothers were not often annoyed by the inefficiency of shiftless servants, as are the women of this day and generation.

Yet the servant problem has many more aspects than are at first visible to the average woman's eye.

Not all the patience and good nature are needed on the mistress' side, for the average maid has a great deal to put up with.

The trouble is that most of us are too selfishly engrossed in our own side of things to see the other person's viewpoint at all. The relations between mistress and maid would be on a far more amicable footing if both could be brought to see the situation from the other's point of view.

Housewives, have you ever tried to put yourselves in your maid's place? Most of you have had to do some housework in your lives, and if you exercise your memory you will remember that it was not as easy as it sometimes looks.

To do the same tasks over and over, day in and day out, is enough to wear out the patience of a saint, particularly when the tasks are of an uninteresting a nature as most housework is.

Then do not lose your temper if these daily duties are not as well done on one day as on another. Speak to the girl kindly and understandingly.

Of course, you can not allow shiftlessness and inefficiency to become customary in your home. But speak to her kindly and with a little sympathy and understanding of the reasons why the work was not so well done.

There is everything in the attitude of the mistress toward her maid. It must be kindly and amicable without being intimate; it must be firm and authoritative without being overbearing; it must be understanding and sympathetic without being weak.

Next winter and long afterwards you can live over the happy, care-free days of this summer's vacation—if you take a kodak. Save 10 per cent by buying yours this week.

GIRLS GIVE MILLION LUSCIOUS BERRIES TO FESTIVAL VISITORS

Giving away a million strawberries was the pleasant task performed by California girls at the recent Gardena strawberry festival, when 5,000 baskets of luscious, red berries were handed out to visitors.

The picture shows Marie Cooney, at left, and Bessie Carr sampling some of the berries during a lull in the free distribution.

The strawberry festival is held annually at Gardena, Cal., to celebrate the prosperity that smiles on the valley. This celebration is just as essential to Gardenans as is the sun dance to the Indians.

Ten thousand acres are planted to strawberries in this valley, the greatest strawberry acreage in the world. A million baskets of berries are shipped each week from the district to the four corners of the United States.

CHAOS IN COAL SITUATION.

It now is well into the middle of July. The coal situation is still a chaos. In two months more the season of short days and chill nights will be well upon us and there will then be some consideration of the question of fuel if there is not now.

Out of the conference of Secretary Lane and the federal trade commission together with some members of the national council of defense to lay before the soft coal interests some proposals for a settlement that would insure coal and fair prices has issued an ugly sort of controversy inside the presidential cabinet. The tentative agreement established is brought into public question with considerable evidence to make questioning pointed. So the solution thought to have been found for that phase of the coal situation is no solution at all.

The hard coal situation undergoes no change. There is no understanding and for the most part no coal. Here and there a dealer is making deliveries, but the great bulk of consumers who are wont to know early in the spring what they shall have to pay and who are accustomed to lay in their stores during the summer are far at sea and face prospect of further long drifting. From federal authority there has come time and again the word that there is no lack of coal and no reason why prices should be abnormal, but federal authority gets no farther than this. The promise is that so soon as the soft coal arrangements have been established, the hard coal situation is to have attention. Speed and more speed to them that have the arrangement in keeping. The seasonal need of coal will be upon the country not many weeks hence and what is transportation, already broken down, to do with such a task heaved suddenly upon it as the distribution of practically the winter's hard coal supplies to the four corners? Last winter was bad enough, goodness knows, and this winter promises to be worse—a promise that will be more than verified unless something shall be done to open the way to the hauling of coal.

It will be much less a question of price than coal at all if the country is to enter the winter with coal unpurchased and undelivered. The federal trade commission may be doing something salutary and to the highest degree useful as dealing with the coal situation, but no evidences of it are allowed to escape to the public notice. It is high time that some sort of assurance were furnished the public of what it may expect, both as to supplies and prices.

A COUP THAT FAILED.

The imperial restoration in China lasted the short span of a week. Hsuan Tung, the boy emperor who was skidded from the throne by the coming of the republic and who was brought back a few days ago for a reascension, has abdicated. Chang Hsun's coup d'etat has failed.

What had seemed to be a formidable uprising of the reactionaries and the doom of the republic turns out to have been greatly overestimated. There was not much propulsive force either of numbers or sentiment behind Chang Hsun's stroke for the extinction of the republic and the reconstruction of the imperial monarchy. The powerful Manchus did not rally in great strength to restore the dynasty, though appearances had been dubious for the duration of the republic. Even now, with Chang Hsun's plans shattered and his coup a proved futility, there is no durable pledge that the republic is to last, though the prospect is better and some hope may be taken from the readiness and strength with which the republican element met the crisis.

There is evidence that the coup engineered by General Chang Hsun was fomented and probably financed by Germany. There is no reason to specially question this. The element in China that has been aggressive for entering the war against Germany showed increasing influence and power and nothing could be less foreign to Germany policy there as elsewhere than to create diversions and divisions in the country and among the people. That has been the experience of this country. It was a game notoriously played in Russia throughout the war and brought to climax and ultimate sorry failure in the months following the revolution.

Signal defeat of the imperial party in China and abdication of the young emperor may not mean the bringing of China into the war, but it can be made to mean increased strength and enlarged prestige for the republic out of which there ought to be possible some beter guarantees for the future, counting out anything it may be conceived Japan is likely to do. In any event the internal situation is made better and there is not apt to be an early revival of the imperialist ambition.

The word from Peking indicates a disposition to deal with magnanimity by the imperialist party and not to make the pains of failure severe. That will do something to advance the republic in esteem. From a source not made clear and by courses somewhat devious has come a statement that the death of the young ex-emperor had been decreed. This cannot be regarded as an improbable event, though it would doubtless serve but poorly as anything of a guarantee for unmolested continuance of the republic. China's troubles are more likely to come from without than from within.

GERMANY SEETHES—PERHAPS.

Fugitive and disconnected, there escape across the German frontiers into neutral countries more or less circumstantial accounts of the unrest in Germany. It is said that in the reichstag there is a seething, sizzling, bubbling, gurgling spirit of revolt that articulates itself in a demand for political and electoral reforms in the empire and that there will be some rearing and kicking if the government fail to open the way to the coming of better days.

No doubt there is positive unrest in Germany. It may be something more savage than unrest. No one outside can make much of a positiveness out of anything that may be heard as respecting the interior of Germany these days. What the government does not want filtered through the frontier to the outer world stands no great show of becoming a widespread intelligence. The Mayday troubles, and similar events subsequently, issued at the time in the form and color of news that said little and meant less. Some weeks later German newspapers had references that seemed to indicate a strenuous industrial protest with some intervention of rifles and machine guns in the hands of the kaiser's soldiers. However, these are mere inferences; nothing is proved.

So it may be that the representations of social and political convulsions already showing premonitory symptoms of the grand and cataclysmic upheaval that is to blow German militarism and Hohenzollern imperialism into the viewless air are hand-made exaggerations of the outsider who knows very little but can guess a lot. For three years the Prussian militarists have maintained a tight clutch on the people of all the German empire and never have been seriously threatened with loss of control. In this critical stage of the war it is not very logical to think that Germany is going to bust up from internal explosions when the threat of disaster is so promising from the outside.

The summoning of von Hindenburg and von Ludendorff to confer with the kaiser in Berlin may have to do with details of the new peace terms Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg has to offer, with the situation created anew by Russia's "coming back" and her new offensive in Galicia or with internal conditions of the empire and the best way to hold the reichstag in leash and the people under control. It is all very interesting speculation. Anything is possible in a country ruled by despotism, distressed by three years of the bloodiest conflict mankind has ever known and put upon short commons for the veriest necessaries of daily life.

If the German people still believe the pretense and fraudulency of the imperial powers that Germany is fighting a defensive war for her very existence, they are not likely to be ready for an uprising to destroy the throne or even disturb it. If they realize the truth and understand that Prussian autocracy is fighting almost the whole world beside, perhaps there is a heating up of the public mind to something beside the scarcity of potatoes.

The senate is having a much harder time with corn liquor than it ever had with a tariff schedule. Wool never afforded half the possibilities for blood-red trouble that is found in booze, and if prohibition has anything on schedule K for exciting fear, it will have to be shown.

The young emperor of China is the most notable royal example of our Mr. Gilliland's immortal "off agin, on agin, gone agin."

While We Grapple With King Alcohol Here's What Europe Has Done to Curb His Spirit

BY MILTON BRONNER.

With America in the midst of heated debate over the prohibition issue as a war measure, "wets" and "drys" are arming themselves with ammunition from European experience with the drink question.

Neither side has complete information, but here is gathered as complete an outline of European war measures relating King Alcohol as can be had in America.

England.—In February this year an order was issued by the food controller practically preventing further use of food grains for malting purposes. The maltsters had quite a large stock of malted barley on hand and the brewers were permitted to use this. It was estimated that this would last until November this year. On or before that date new regulations will have to be put into effect else the brewers will have to close down. The average peacetime barrelage of beer in England used to be 36,000,000. This was reduced early in the war to 26,000,000 barrels and now has been cut to 10,000,000 barrels. All barley, that is unmalted, has been put under government control. It is being used to "stretch" wheat flour; that is, all cereal flour must have at least 10 per cent and may have as much as 30 per cent barley flour added.

France.—All plants that distill alcohol from grain have been commandeered by the government and the alcohol is used in manufacture of high explosives. Importation of alcohol and liquers into France is forbidden. This does not apply to rum made in the French West Indies. Wine and cognac are still made from grapes. The French soldiers are allowed wine in their daily rations and the war ministry requisitions millions of gallons to insure this supply.

Russia.—Under the czar manufacture of vodka, a highly alcoholic drink in which the government had a monopoly, was absolutely discontinued. The only alcohol allowed was for manufacture of high explosives. Kvas, a beer with only 1½ per cent alcohol, was allowed. In the Caucasus, Transcaucasia and Russian Central Asia, where the local popular demand was for wine of the country instead of Russian tea, the sale of the vintage was allowed. However, it is not permitted to ship this wine to other parts of the empire unless by special permission.

Italy.—Here, as in France, alcohol distilled from grain is used by the government in manufacture of explosives. Wine is still made and forms part of the regular rations of the soldiers.

Germany.—The government has prohibited the use of more than 40 per cent of the barley for malt that the brewers used to employ. The earlier restrictions was to 60 per cent. With this 40 per cent of malt, the breweries are now preparing about 65 per cent of their former output of beer. The result is the beer is now diluted to about 3 per cent of alcohol. The government also prohibited use of sugars; saccharine had to be substituted. Beer is supplied the soldiers as part of their rations. Germany has abolished the manufacture of whisky and all alcoholic spirits for beverage consumption. Wine is being made as usual.

Austria-Hungary.—So far as any information has been received—and it is very slight—restrictions practiced in Germany have been imitated to some extent and the hours of sale largely limited. Hungarian wines are being made as usual.

WIZARD TESLA FINDS ELECTRICITY IS FINE TO BUILD UP BRAINS

(By FREDERICK M. KERBY.)

Building brains with electricity is the newest triumph of science over nature!

Nikola Tesla, famous electrical wizard and inventor, is responsible for this new application of the high frequency current, which may revolutionize educational methods, turn dullards into persons of high intelligence, and produce genius from ordinary intellect.

"A high-frequency current intensifies the action of the brain," says Tesla. "It is a mental stmulant like alcohol, but instead of being hurtful to the brain cells the electricity is beneficial.

"My attention was first attracted to the possibility of brain stimulation by the high-frequency current, by observing one of my assistants, who, while making high-frequency tests, seemed to be very stupid in carrying out orders. After a time I noticed this assistant became brighter and did his work better. After careful observation and certain tests, I found the high-frequency current was responsible.

Tesla has no doubt as to the beneficial effects which would follow the installation of electrical wires, carefully insulated, in classroom walls and saturation of the atmosphere in the rooms with millions of electric waves.

This novel method of awakening dormant brain cells has been suggested to trial on an extensive scale in Stockholm, Sweden. Two sets of 50 children each, averaging the same age and physical condition, were placed in separate classrooms exactly alike except for concealed wires in one room. The regular school work was pursued and the test lasted six months.

The results were startling. The children in the magnetized room increased in stature two and a half inches, those in the unmagnetized room increased one and one-fourth inches. The former also showed an increase in weight and physical development greater than the latter.

The remarkable difference, however, was in the mentality developed. Those exposed to the electric rays averaged 92 per cent. in their school work, compared with an average of 72 per cent. for children in the other rooms. Fifteen pupils in the electrified room were marked 100; only 9 in the other rooms attaining this mark.

Mr. Tesla has had conferences with the superintendent of schools of New York city, looking to the possibility of establishing an "electrified schoolroom" here.

WAYS OF THE FOOD GRAFTERS.

The practice of driving the retail price of produce to an exorbitant figure by curtailing production is not unknown in this country and government investigations are bringing to light some instances of recent date that have an ugly look. The customary method is to buy the crop, say of potatoes, in the field. The money is paid upon condition that the purchaser may come at any time and remove the crop, the fault being not ours but next planting season. The grower thinks he has made a bargain, and perhaps he has, for he is relieved of harvesting work and has his cash in hand. When the crop is allowed to rot in the ground, however, thus providing fertilizer for next year, he is mystified, but perhaps not displeased.

Inquiry has developed that this sort of thing was done last year in several places, especially near Chicago and on a scale large enough, presumably to affect the normal supply of produce, thus enabling the ruthless type of middlemen to realize a large profit on what they handled. Several changes on the same scheme were rung by the food grafters. One of these was found at Seatonville, Ill., where fifteen carloads of potatoes were discovered on a siding where they rotted while high prices were being squeezed from the consumer on the grounds of a potato shortage. On the theory that placing an artificial limitation on the supply enables the handler to reap a great profit on what is offered for sale it would seem that some one must have believed that these cars of potatoes would be more valuable, even considering the cost of harvesting, as waste than food.

Potatoes and their manipulation to force excessive prices form but one phase of the general food handling problem in which the government is interested. Alleged onion and egg monopolists are now under indictment and it is possible that others who take advantage of conditions to swindle the producer and consumer will be called upon by the department of justice to render an account of activities that preceded some of the winter price increases. Those investigations are especially timely in that they may aid the government in making fair purchases for the army and navy, thus setting a price limit which will insure both the producer and the consumer a square deal.

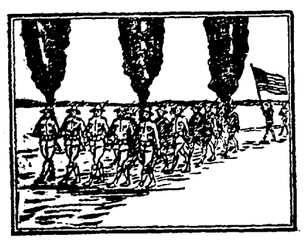
Uncle Harry Tells About Our Troops In France

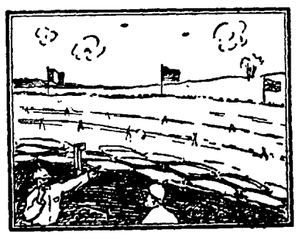
"Uncle Harry," said Joe, "I see that some of our soldiers have arrived in France. How about it?"

"Well, Joe, it just means that we are going to take an active part in the war. Not just to be content to raise money and supplies and let the others do all the fighting. We are going to get right into the thick of it ourselves and show our allies what good fighting men the Americans are."

"But, Uncle Harry," said Jimmy, "I didn't know we had sent any soldiers abroad. When did they start and how did they go?"

"I can't answer those questions, Jimmy, because I don't know. The government is acting very wisely in not letting information about its intentions get known before hand. If it had announced just how many troops were going, how and when they were going and to what port, it is altogether likely that the Germans might have intercepted them with submarines and sunk the vessels and caused a horrible loss of life. You know soldiers, however brave, cannot fight when cooped upon shipboard and a submarine or a mine can sink a vessel loaded with men just as easily as if it were loaded with grain or war munitions."





"I'll bet the French were glad to see our men," said Joe.

"They were indeed," said Uncle Harry. "The streets were full of cheering Frenchmen, the Stars and Stripes were flying everyhere and 'Vive la America' was shouted on all sides. You know the French are a very happy and enthusiastic people and the arrival of this first detachment of American troops stirred them up to a high pitch. Not only were these soldiers, regulars and the finest type of American military, but the sight of the Stars and Stripes over them was proof that the United States was really in the war to help, actually and not only indirectly."

"Well, Uncle Harry," asked Helen, "didn't we send over vessels to help destroy the U-boats?"

"Yes, Helen," said Uncle Harry, "and we have also sent corps of engineers, doctors in charge of hospital units and Red Cross nurses, but these were the first American regular troops to be seen in Europe in time of war and they didn't go over to parade and show themselves and have a good time, but to go to the front, fight in the trenches and, I hope, to win some glorious victories for the cause of the allies, of whom we are one.

"And if the sight of them and their flag caused so much encouragement in the French seaport when they landed, what will be the effect on the fighting troops of the allies at the front when they see the Americans and their flag on the fighting line and realize that there are many more troops coming?

"It was a fitting return of the great help given us in the Revolution when 6,000 French regular troops, under Rochambeau, landed at Newport in 1780 and gave us great and needed assistance in forcing Cornwallis to surrender at Yorktown in 1781."

"Uncle Harry," said Jimmy, "will our troops serve under the English or French generals or will they have generals of their own?"

"Generals of their own, my boy," said Uncle Harry. "General Pershing went over first and met the French there and General Sibert went with him. General Pershing will be in supreme command, but will act in cooperation with Field Marshal Haig in command of the forces of Great Britain and General Petain, the commander of the French.

"They will all work together for the good of the common cause. Apart from the encouragement and help given the allies one must not forget the effect upon the enemy when they see our flag and men at the front and realize that the United States is not a distant and uncertain foe, but is actually at the front and that an immense number of reinforcements are coming. This effect on the 'boches' will be great indeed and is not to be overlooked."

"Boches," said Helen, "what does that word mean?"

"In all wars," said Uncle Harry, "the soldiers have a nickname, especially among themselves. During our Civil war, the southern troops were always called 'Johnnies' or 'Johnny Rebs' by the union troops and they called the union troops 'Yanks.' 'Boche' is a German word meaning 'pig,' and the allied troops always use it in speaking of the German soldiers. The British troops are called 'Tommies' and the French 'Poilau.'

"I see by the papers that the allied troops have already named our troops 'Sammies.'"

"'Sammies,'" said Joe. "Why 'Sammies?'"

"Well," said Uncle Harry, "I suppose it's because they are sons of Uncle Sam and came over to fight for him. The name doesn't make any difference. It's the fighting that counts and I'm proud that in such a short time the United States has been able to put such a fine lot of fighting men at the front. They will hold up the best traditions of our army and add to the glory of American achievements.

"I am proud to be an American and I am sure we all are. Keep an eye upon our brave boys in France. 'Vive la America.'"

Editor's Note.—Uncle Harry will be glad to answer inquiries, either in this column or by mail, provided letters are signed with the full name and address of the persons writing. The correspondents' names will not appear in the articles.

Are You One of Them?

There are a great many people who would be very much benefited by taking Chamberlain's Tablets for a weak or disordered stomach. Are you one of them? Mrs. M. R. Searl, Baldwinsville, N. Y., relates her experience in the use of these tablets: "I had a bad spell with my stomach about six months ago, and was troubled for two or three weeks with gas and severe pains in the pit of my stomach. Our druggist advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. I took a bottle home and the first dose relieved me wonderfully, and I kept on taking them until I was cured." These tablets do not relieve pain, but after the pain has been relieved may prevent its recurrence.—Advertisement.

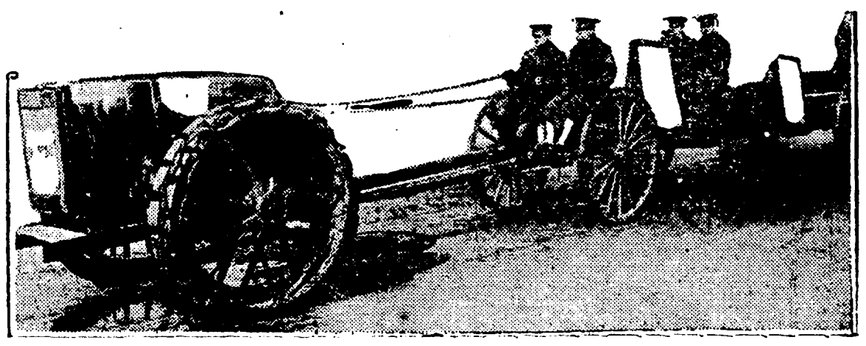
NEWEST U. S. ARMY HORSE ANSWERS TO "WHOA" AND "GEE"



It's "Giddap!" and "Whoa!" in driving this new fangled "army horse," which is replacing the four-footer in Uncle Sam's army, but when it balks, instead of a whip, the driver takes out his tools, opens up the "horse" and doctors up his inners. It is steered like a horse, with reins, and is stopped by pulling both reins at once. And it goes "like sixty." At present, it is helping recruiting in New York.

TRY IT AND SEE!

Lift your corns or calluses off with fingers! Doesn't hurt a bit!

A noted Cincinnati chemist discovered a new ether compound and called it freezone and it now can be had in tiny bottles as here shown for a few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone upon a tender corn or painful callus and instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can just lift it off with the fingers.

No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying freezone or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! Seems magical. It works like a charm. Genuine freezone has a yellow label. Don't accept any except with the yellow label.—Advertisement.

Hettler Family Reunion.

A reunion ofthe Hettler family was held at Swinney park on Sunday and a delightful time and a bountiful dinner were enjoyed by the nearly one-hundred guests present.

Innocent Flowers Often Poisonous

Many people fall into the habit of unconsciously biting off the petals of flowers, the stems and leaves of plants, etc., and chewing them. This is a dangerous practice, as analyses of the juices of the different plants have shown many of them to contain dangerous poisons.

Red poppies, the source of opium, will produce drownsiness if chewed, and poisons in the leaves of the autumn crocus cause vomiting. Flowers of the jonquil, white hyacinth and snowdrop are all poisonous; if a small leaf of the narcissus should be put into the mouth the result might be fatal, as it contains a dangerous poison.

People have lost their lives as a result of tasting the berries of the yew and it is a well-known fact that eating the kernels from peach or cherry pits is fraught with danger, as they contain prussic acid. Every one knows of the painful, disagreeable results that follow handling poison ivy, and lady's slipper sometimes poisons even as much as ivy does. Lobelias are poisonous, and lilies of the valley, seemingly the most innocent of plants, should be handled with caution. The leaves and flowers of the oleander contain an irritating substance and even the bark of the catalpa tree will often work harm when handled with sweaty hands. Some of the commonest and supposedly least harmful trees, flowers, etc., contain substances which are injurious when taken into the body or when allowed to come in contact with the skin.

SMALL LINEN HATS WITH CRUSHED CROWNS POPULAR.

Small hats of linen with crushed crowns are charming, particularly when they are decorated with pompons of wool or girdles or many wools strung together. A campeau of linen in old rose, so faded that it resembles something left over from the last generation, has a folded crown and pompons of old blue yarn. If the wearer hasn't anything else to knit she can knit her hat. Useful idea!

Stunning milans are arriving, like late comers to a party. They are high of crown, wide of brim and bound about with grosgrain ribbon in contrasting color. Large sailors with georgette velvet or vice versa. Lady Fashion, being an iconoclast, doesn't mind upsetting her own laws. So if you don't like a hat made one way, make it just the opposite.

Cunning toques trimmed with cherries are as gay as robins, and everybody loves them. In the matter of botanical trims the morning glory has bursted loose. In velvets and tissues it's a wonder of fabric art.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Among the unusual umbrellas is one of Scotch plaid. Its rib ends are finished in long tips which seem to be of tortoise shell. The handle is of natural wood.

The latest idea is to have your bag match your sweater. A stunning set of this sort is made of white silk and is banded with pink. White and blue, white and lavender and all other colors combined with white are offered.

Satin continues to be chosen for many of the smart afternoon dresses and it is likewise seen in combination with cloth for street or shopping frocks, worn with small furs, or with separate coats of fur, plush, velvet or cloth.

COAT FROCK OF JERSEY IDEAL FOR COOL DAYS.

The coat frock is being run in with the rest of the dress chimes and one gets more wear out of it than in the spring and autumn. For coolish days a coat frock of jersey is a joy and a sweetness, particularly if it bears one of those foolish little attachable capes that button on like the sides of the limousine. One feels so snuggy and secure.

The black velvet jacket is plodding along, and well it might, considering that it plods every summer.

Her grandfather, now dead, founded the famous saw and steel manufacturing plant of his name.

SAYS ENTIRE AFFAIR IS MISUNDERSTANDING

Court Does Not Take Adam Schmidt's Explanation Seriously.

Adam Schmidt, charged with disorderly conduct and believed by police to have uttered treasonable remarks about the flag, states that the affair is a misunderstanding. He is from Poland and talks broken English. What he meant to say was that he wanted to fight with France against Germany.

Citizens who heard Schmidt reported that he said he did not like the American flag. He was locked up Saturday night. His trial will be held Tuesday and meanwhile he is under $100 bond. Schmidt came to Fort Wayne from Chicago, three days ago.

MINT SAUCE.

One-half cupful of mint leaves chopped fine, two tablespoonsful of pulverized sugar, a pinch of salt, one tablespoonful of water, one tablespoonful of vinegar or lemon juice. Mix all well together and serve separately from the meat. The meat is placed on a hot platter and garnished with sprigs of mint.

Cook medium sized beets until tenden, then drop them into cold water and remove the skins. Set the beets in cold place until perfectly cold; then with a sharp knife remove the centers and chop with an equal amount of tart apple. Fill the beet cups with the apple and beet mixture and send to the table at once. Serve with French dressing.

VERA ROEHM'S HEALTH TIP TO CURE A SCRAWNY NECK

BY VERA ROEHM.

My subjects for today's physical culture lesson are scrawny necks and a cure for round shoulders and weak spines.

Scrawny necks can be overcome by daily practice. How often does one see a pretty well-built woman (all but the neck and shoulders) come into a theater, reception room, etc., dressed in a stunning, low-necked evening gown, spoil her appearance by having an undeveloped neck and shoulders.

This is quite a common occurrence with dancers. They are too intent upon having the legs developed to bother about arms, little dreaming that the latter plays a big part in appearance. Were the developing of this important part of the body a hard task, there would be reason enough for their neglect.

Endeavor to get into a room where there is plenty of fresh air, but no draught, when exercising. Take position with head and body held erect, feet close together and arms at sides. Cross the arms at elbow in front of the body standing perfectly straight. Repeat the same movement with the arms crossed in back of the body, keeping the arms rigid. This can be done ten times without an over amount of energy.

The carriage of the shoulders is also well worth being particular about. When sitting, standing or walking, throw the shoulders back as far as possible—not awkwardly, but do not let them droop or become round. Women often spoil their entire appearance by becoming careless about this.

People become tired, drop into a chair and think they are resting by allowing their body to fall into a sluggish and forlorn heap. This does more harm than good. In comparison the air valves and makes one more tired upon arising than before. If, during the day, one finds it necessary to rest, recline upon a bed, where every part of the body can be given a chance to relax properly. Throw the head up always. Never permit it to drop upon the chest. Ten or 15 minutes' rest during the day is very beneficial if taken this way.

Those having spinal trouble should take utmost pains to bring it back to its normal conditions, as it too often proves dangerous and painful to neglect. Herein you will find an exercise for round or drooped shoulders; also one for the weak sipne. Women who write much should practice these daily.

For the round or drooping shoulders, the back-arm grip is unexcelled. Stand erect, grasping the right wrist with the left arm. Relax a second, then draw the arms up toward the shoulder as far as possible without bending the body. Extend the arm out back, straining every muscle in so doing. Try this five times, gradually increasing until ten or twelve times are reached.

The back bend is often very helpful to those suffering from weak spines. Stand erect, placing the hands upon the hips. Slowly bend the body backward until you feel uncertain of attempting it farther. Almost unconsciously you will find that the body becomes more and more flexible as this continues. Try standing a few feet from the wall with your back toward it. Lean back and touch the wall with your hands, slowly lowering the body backward. In the course of time you will be able to reach the floor in this position. Keep the knees as straight as possible. Do not stop here. Try getting up in the same way, and you will have the exercise complete. Persons with weak backs should do this exercise cautiously, letting their strength be the judge.

EVANGELIST TELLS OF THE PROPHESIES

Even Napoleon Could Not Break the Words of Scripture, He Says.

"All the wisdom and shrewdness of Napoleon, all of his ingenuity and knowledge of military tactics and all the strength of his mighty army were not sufficient to break the words of the scripture," said Evangelist Allen Sunday night in an address delivered before a good sized audience in the pavilion at 225 West Main street.

The evangelist based his remarks on Nebuchadnezzar's dream of the great image as recorded in the second chaper of Daniel. In fifteen short verses of prophecy, God revealed to Daniel the entire history of the world down to the close of time. He showed that there would be just four universal kingdoms as represented by the different parts of the image. Daniel was then living under the first of these kingdoms and informed the king that his kingdom, Babylon, was represented by the head of gold. The world before nor since has never seen such a kingdom as was Babylon, the golden kingdom of a golden age. But the prophet said that after him should arise another kingdom inferior to his. Babylon was conquered by Medo Persia in the year 538 B. C. This was represented by the breast and arms of silver. Medo Persia was in turn conquered by Greece, under Alexander the Great, on the battlefield of Arbela, B. C. 331, as shown by the belly and thighs of brass. The fourth kingdom, Rome, was fitly portrayed by the legs of iron, the elements of weakness that later crept in, being represented by the clay that was mixed in with the feet. History says that Rome became divided into ten parts, even as the feet of the image had ten toes.

This prophecy says the ten kingdoms of Europe shall not cleave together. Are they cleaving together now? Many great men before now have tried the welding together of these nations, but failed because God said it should never be done, but the image would be broken by a great stone which afterwards became a great mountain and filled the whole earth. What this means will be taken up this evening.

PICNIC A SUCCESS.

Palm Beach, Fla.—Tiring of conventionality, three young ladies decided to dispense with the usual costumes and go in bathing "as is" at a secluded spot near here. A picnic party selected a site at that point on the beach for a day's revel and the young women were forced to remain in the water till nightfall.

The girls were Margaret Koch, Ethel Peterson, Lucille Walters, Velma Birely, Alice Flick, Lenore Garwood and Ethel Kirby.

As yet no successor has been named for Miss Winifred Rowan, who announced her intention of resigning the position of secretary of the Red Cross headquarters. Miss Rowamn has consented to remain and aid in the work at the headquarters until a successor has been named.

RESTORATION IN CHINA IS SHORT-LIVED

THRONE IS ROCKED ONCE MORE BY THE REPUBLICAN ARMS

REVIVED MONARCHY APPEARS DOOMED

Tien Tsin, July 6.—Fifty thousand soldiers of the republican forces are converging on Pekin and the attempt to restore the Manchu dynasty appears to be at the point of failure.

By midnight Tuan Chi-Jui, who has been appointed commander-in-chief of the punitive expedition, is expected to have 20,000 troops between Tien Tsin and Pekin. Large forces are coming up from the south.

Along the Hankow railway 1,000 soldiers are advancing. Gen. Chang Hsun, the dictator who attempted to restore the monarchy, has only some 3,000 men.

Tuan Chi-Jui today addressed an ultimatum to Chang Hsun's troops, promising them more favorable treatment if they would lay down their arms. The northern military leaders do not expect fighting. They believe Chang Hsun will be deserted by his troops when the strength of the republican forces is realized. It is rumored that part of Chang Hsun's forces already had deserted him. Tuan Chi-Jui, commander in chief of the republican forces, has issued a lengthy manifesto denouncing Chang-Hsun, saying that his action is villainous and declaring he is using the Man-

FOURTH OIL WELL IS SHOT AT MONROEVILLE

Strike Big Vein of Natural Gas—Oil is Struck on Second Shot.

Tillman & Co., shot their fourth oil well in the Monroeville fields, Thursday afternoon. The first shot brought forth a strong supply of natural gas. It is said that the gas came forth so strongly from the hole in the ground that an employe who endeavored to stop the flow by standing on it was blown off.

A second shot was made and oil was reached. It was not known how productive this well would be. The other three wells have proven paying propositions.

The finding of gas in the fourth well may also lead to a second enterprise in this rich oil field.

Fort Wayne men who attended the shooting state that the gas was of excellent quality. There were nearly a thousand people on the field when the shot was made.

FARMERS IN NEED OF HELP

They Are Offering from $2 to $3 a Day and Free Board.

MUST HAVE HANDS TO CARE FOR HARVEST

Jobs for Twenty-Two Men Are Waiting at Employment Office.

Allen county farmers are crying for help. They are offering from $2 to $3 a day with board and lodging free for help in the harvest fields. If the bumper crops are to be saved it is imperative that they have assistance.

The wages offered in Allen county are equal to those offered in the larger harvest fields in the west. An experienced harvest hand secured employment on a farm Friday morning. He was offered $3 a day while engaged in harvest work.

Summary of the Day's War News

Having failed disastrously in their recent effort to drive the French from their commanding positions on the Chemin-des-Dames, on the Aisne front, the Germans are now turning their attention to the Champagne, apparently with a similar purpose.

Attacks were made by the crown prince's troops last night on the French lines west of Mont Carnillet and southeast of Tahure. The drives evidently were not of such intensity as was that earlier in the week along the Aisne and the Paris official report says they were easily repulsed.

The artillery fighting is proceeding vigorously in these and other sectors of the Champagne. In the Verdun region also the French guns are active. With the evident effort of making the German trenches west and north of hill 304 untenable, General Petain's artillery is pouring a destructive fire upon them. Apparently the crown prince has none too secure a hold on such ground as his troops were able

GOVERNMENT DECEIVING

German Rulers Criticised for Rosy Report on the Crop Prospect.

ACCUSED OF GIVING OUT FALSE REPORTS

Hopes for Grain Yield Cannot Be Realized Says Princely Farmer.

Copenhagen, July 6.—The German government's over-optimistic report on the crop prospects, which were declared on June 25 to be "really brilliant," were sharply criticized yesterday by speakers in the reichstag ways and means committee. They accuse the government of giving the people a false view of the situation, arousing unrelizable hopes. Prince von Schoenaich-Carolath, a national liberal, himself a farmer, declared roundly that the official article had misrepresented the facts and tended to give rise to foolish expectations at a time when it was impossible to know what the crop results would be.

Regulation Is Confusion.

This speaker corroborated the charges of the socialist deputy Ebert, made at Tuesday's session on the food and fuel situation. He alluded to the "utter confusion" in the food regulation measures and declared the situation aroused great depression and bitterness.

Herr Roesicke, president of the German farmers' union, also said that the grain crop had suffered greatly because of drought. He expressed hope for the crop growing on heavy soils, which usually prospered in dry seasons. He said that even the early potato yield was poor, but that the late potatoes usually made up for this.

Talk of Elections.

Tentative suggestions as to the advisability of electing a new reichstag without waiting for the end of the war are being put forward in German radical circles. Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, former secretary of state for the colonies, said in ad-

SAXON DIET HAS DETERMINED TO BRING REFORMS

Copenhagen, July 6.—A dispatch from Dresden says the Saxon diet, which Tuesday warned the government of a disappearance of the sentiment of loyalty toward the king, and also of a coming upheaval unless the government mends its ways, has now broken openly with the government. This action is a consequence of the refusal of Count Von Vitzchum d'Eckstadt, premier of Saxony, to authorize the diet committee on constitutional reform to continue its labors during recess. The diet refused to give the necessary authorization to settle financial problems and it must therefore be reconvoked not later than August. This will enable the constitutional committee to resume work.

ARREST MEXICAN DISTURBER DOWN IN SAN ANTONIO

San Antonio, Tex., July 6.—Charged with circulating literature advising Mexicans to arm for offensive and defensive war on the United States, Jose Quiroga is under arrest here today on complaint of the department of justice.

Quiroga, according to the United States marshal, John Dabrell, is a brother of the late Gen. Miguel Quiroga, who was prominent in the Reyes revolution in Mexico.

RETAILERS DISCUSS A DELIVERY SYSTEM

Chicago, July 6.—The Retailers' association, of Chicago, met today to consider plans for the adoption of a consolidated delivery system so that duplication of routes may be avoided and the cost of delivering goods may be cut down. The association also expects to take up the question of a new schedule of deliveries, which would cut the number of trips over each road to a minimum. The retailers assert that the cost of delivery is a big one and that the customers necessarily have to shoulder the burden.

Commons of the Dominion Puts Compulsory Service Bill Forward.

GOOD MAJORITY ON FIRST VOTE

Borden Measure Appears to Be Now on Way to the Final Triumph.

Ottawa, July 6.—The Canadian house of commons early today adopted the resolution offered by President Borden passing to second reading the bill for compulsory military service.

Exciting scenes marked the taking of the vote which stood 118 for conscription and 55 against.

The vote gave the government about twenty more votes than it usually polls on important questions.

Liberals Desert Laurier.

This was the result of a considerable number of English speaking liberals breaking away from the leadership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and joining with Premier Borden in support of conscription.

Before the bill was sanctioned Sir Wilfrid Laurier's proposal that the opinion of the people on conscription should be tested by a referendum was defeated by a majority of forty-nine. The attendance of members of the house was the largest that had been seen in parliament for many years.

Soldiers Watch Proceedings.

The galleries were filled with spectators throughout the night and until the proceedings closed at sunrise. A majority of the spectators were soldiers returned from Europe, and women.

A resolution presented by the French nationalists from the province of Quebec that the conscription bill should be killed by the adoption of a six months' postponement was defeated by the large majority of 166. Only nine nationalist votes were cast for the resolution and both the government and the opposition to conscription voted against this proposition.

An amendment aimed to supply more adequate provisions for dependents of men at the front was defeated, 115 to 55.

ARGENTINE HAS ASKED APOLOGY AND INDEMNITY

London, July 6.—According to a dispatch from Buenos Aires to the Times the Argentine government has demanded an immediate apology and indemnity from Germany for the torpedoing of the Argentine vessels Oriana and Toro and a guarantee that the Argentine flag will be respected in the future.

A dispatch from Buenos Aires last Sunday said that the Argentina government was determined to enter a claim against Germany for the sinking of these vessels and that a note embodying the demands was sent to Germany the day before.

BOY SCOUTS ARE ENLISTING TO DO THEIR BIT IN WAR

New York, July 6.—The boys of America who are too young to fight, but old enough to do war work at home, have rallied to the colors in increasing numbers, since the way in which their energies could be used have been demonstrated in the liberty loan campaign and the food production movement. The national headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America here, today issued a statement showing that the average registration of boys per day in the scouts is at the rate of 1,250. There are 251,189 scouts in good standing and these, with the 69,222 scout masters and officials and members of local troop councils, make a total of 320,411 people enrolled in the Boy Scouts of America.

TROOPS FOR BLOOMINGTON

"MOTHER" JONES BREWS THE MESS

Nine Companies of State Guards Ordered There to End Riots.

Bloomington, Ill., July 6.—Nine companies of Illinois national guardsmen, comprising about 1,400 men, were ordered to this city early today to restore order following a night of rioting caused by the strike of employes of the Bloomington and Normal Railway and Light company.

The strike has been in progress for several weeks and had been conducted in an orderly manner until last night, when "Mother" Jones, labor advocate, delivered a speech to a crowd of strikers and sympathizers.

Immediately following the meeting the crowd began attacking street cars and the crews, several motormen and conductors being badly beaten. One man in the crowd of rioters was shot through the neck and taken to a hospital.

Wrecked the Cars.

After breaking up several street cars, the crowd started for the power house of the street railway lines, which furnishes power and light for commercial purposes in this city. In order to avoid damage to the plant, Sheriff Fletcher turned off the power. The crowd remained for an hour or more, shouting and then started on another

PREPARING FOR ANNOUNCEMENT OF FIRST DRAFT

Washington, July 6. — Secretary Baker and Provost Marshal General Crowder today were completing the final details of the method to be employed in selecting registrants for the new national army, but the date of the drawing has not yet been announced. Complete organization of every local and district exemption board is necessary before the draft machinery can begin to operate. The drawings will be in Washington and indications point to the use of numbers instead of names in making selections.

As there will be exemptions among the drafted before the first increment of 625,000 men can actually be assembled necessarily more than that number of names will be drafted in first operation. It is probable that as many as a million or two million names might be drawn and from them exemptions will be made. Then the first army of 625,000 men will be formed. Other troops will be drawn from the remainder until it is decided to raise another increment.

NAVY HUNTS FOR GERMAN SUBS IN HAMPTON ROADS

Washington, July 6.—The reported sighting of a periscope of a submarine in Hampton roads caused the navy department today to send instructions to the commandant to make a thorough investigation. According to the report sent to the department today the officers on one of the American warships sighted an object which he believed to be a periscope within the waters of Hampton roads, although the exact location is withheld.

TRACTION COMPANY TO BETTER CITY SERVICE

Have Ordered Ten Large New Cars for Delivery in September.

That city street car service here will be much better next fall and winter than it has ever been before is assured. The Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company announced Friday, the purchase of ten large new cars which are to be delivered in September and put into immediate service.

The cars were ordered in February from the St. Louis Car company. They are the standard four-motor, fifty-two passenger type, pay-as-you-enter, with front and rear exits. The new carriers will be used in addition to cars already in service and more frequent service will be given.

A new switch will be put on the Pontiac line, and one on South Wayne at Wildwood avenue. This will permit the cars to run on schedule and do away with the necessity of waiting at the switch where there is only a single track. The new equipment was ordered for September in order to cope with the increase in traffic which always comes with cooler weather.

German Military Sharp Has No Delusion About the Effect of America.

CHEERS THE ALLIES; INFLUENCES NEUTRAL

Thinks U-Boats Will Win Before Resources Are Available.

Copenhagen, July 6.—Capt. von Salzmann, military critic of the Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, devotes a two column article to the military influence of America on the war, in which he says that with America it is necessary to reckon if the struggle lasts until 1918. He states that first and foremost the powerful influence of American intervention on Germany's opponents and on neutrals is already evident and that the effects must not be underestimated.

Capt. von Salzmann assures his readers that in regard to quality the American soldier will not attain the standards of brilliance characterizing the French and German armies, or their talent in leadership, finesse in execution and quickness of decision, but that America's military contribution, like Great Britain's, will find expression in numbers and mechanical application of brute power. America's numbers, he writes, are counted upon by the entente in respect of men, artillery and particularly aviators.

Incorporated in divisional units with British and French troops, as Capt. von Salzmann experts the American forces to be, he says they will be worthy opponents. Nevertheless the Americans will not affect the result on the western front, he writes in conclusion, because Field Marshal von Hindenburg says the submarine will force a decision before they become a decisive factor.

ANOTHER AMERICAN INSTITUTION WILL FOLLOW THE FLAG

Great Lakes, Ill., July 6.—The American ice cream cone will be carried back to France by three French army lieutenants who made the acquaintance of the delicacy here and were so delighted with its crisp succulence that they declared their fellow soldiers abroad must be given a similar treat.

The three officers, Lieut. Fernd Gautier, Paul Prevot and Maurice Laffly, were inspecting the United States naval training station here yesterday when they saw a number of blue-jackets purchasing cones at the canteen operated by the navy relief society. Questions led to purchase of cones for the visitors by Mrs. W. A. Moffett, wife of Captain Moffett, commanding the station and in the midst of the admiring audience, the Frenchmen successfully negotiated the cream filled cones, even to the last tip.

"Magnifique delicieux," was their verdict after which they announced that they would undertake to obtain a supply of cones to take back to France with them.

FEDERAL GUNS GUARDING THE ARIZONA MINES

Globe, Ariz., July 6.—The presence here today of four troops of United States cavalry and a machine gun troop was expected to have a quieting effect on the Globe-Miami copper district, which has been in a state of nervous tension since 7,000 copper miners were called out on strike last Sunday. Immediately upon their arrival last night the troops were dispatched to stations at the Old Dominion mine and to the Seller properties in the copper hill district, where trouble has been feared.

BRUTAL FRANKNESS OF THE BOOZE PARTY

Whiskyites of Porto Rico Have Rum Bottle Emblem in Wet-Dry Fight.

San Juan, Porto Rico, June 30.—(By Mail.)—Whether the water of the cocoa nut is to replace rum as one of the chief beverages of Porto Rico is one of the important issues to be decided at the general election to be held July 16, the first election in which Porto Ricans vote as American citizens. Seventy per cent of the 240,000 registered voters who will cast their ballot in July are illiterate, and to enable them to make their mark at the proper place symbols are being printed on the ballots. The prohibitionists have adopted the cocoanut as their emblem and the anti-prohibitionists have chosen the rum bottle. The half mature cocoanut contains a pint of liquid and constitutes the cheapest and most healthful soft drink that the tropics affords. The Jones bill granting American citizenship to the Porto Ricans contains an amendment to the effect that the island would go dry automatically in March, 1918, unless a month before the general election at least ten per cent of the qualified voters should petition for a referendum. Recently petitions signed by several thousand more than the required 24,000 qualified voters were presented to the supervisor of elections who passed on only the required number, stating that the rest were superfluous, and granted the election.

AMERICA LOOKED TO FOR AERIAL FLEETS

General Smuts Says This Country Can Win War in the Air.

Baltimore, July 6.—Dr. Joseph S. Ames, professor of physics at Johns Hopkins university and chairman of the commission of scientists appointed by this government to study the conduct of the war in France, stated here, after a number of conferences in Washington, that speed and size in aeroplanes will end the war most quickly.

He said the United States must furnish 10,000 pilots and at the lowest 20,000 aeroplanes and must maintain this average in the face of casualties. Each pilot, he said, must have two planes.

"The situation," said Dr. Ames, "is summed up in an interview which I had with General Smuts. He said: 'The decision lies in the air and complete victory can only be won by 10,000 or more fighting aeroplanes with which enemy aircraft can be annihilated. This accomplishment will be worthy of America and is a contribution which she is capable of making and will give her an enviable position at the peace table.'"

Dr. Ames said the program must be carried into effect before the close of this year. He said no difficulty was anticipated in getting pilots and planes.

He said the American people cannot appreciate the tremendous scale on which things are being done abroad. "To illustrate," he said, "in some places the British battle line in France is forty miles deep and I have seen trains of motor lorries twenty miles long and a train of nine-inch guns six miles long."

The other members of the commission were engaged in equally valuable research work, and Dr. Ames told of their activities.

SPRAY TWICE FOR GRAPE-BERRY MOTH

Control of This Serious Pest Possible by Early Applications.

Washington, July 6.—Two applications of a spray made of arsenate of lead, preferably in Bordeaux mixture for the treatment of fungus diseases, will control the grape-berry moth, one of the most baffling pests to growers in the Erie-Chautauqua and northern Ohio grape belts. Make the first spray immediately after the grape blossoms have fallen and the second when the grape berries are just touching one another—about two weeks later. Of all the measures tried, spraying, according to entomologists of the United States department of agriculture, is the one dependable method of controlling this pest in commercial vineyards. How the grape-berry moth lives, how it damages crops, and the methods of combating it are described in a recent publication of the department of agriculture, bulletin 550, "Control of the Grape-Berry Moth in the Erie-Chautauqua Grape Belt," by Dwight Isely.

The grape-berry moth is distributed throughout that part of the United States east of the great plains to the Atlantic, and from the southern portion of the Canadian province of Ontario to the Gulf of Mexico. The damage to grapes is done by larvae of the moths, which bore into and feed upon the grape berries. Frequently the destructiveness of this pest is underestimated because "wormy" grapes, unless they are heavily infested, bring a price comparatively near the standard price—seldom more than 10 per cent less. Because of this, growers are likely to overlook what is a greater charge against the berry moth—a reduction in the weight of infested fruit.

There are two generations of the insect each year. The first-brood larvae, which develop from the eggs laid by the spring moths, begin to hatch about the time the grape blossoms fall and the fruit begins to set. The second-brood larvae, developing from eggs laid by the first-brood moths, do not appear until later in the summer, but they are usually more numerous and destructive than the first if no measures have been taken against the latter. Thorough spraying, as described, against the first-brood larvae so reduces the insect in vineyards that larvae of the second brood are scarce and cause little injury. The second treatment given, however, operates to some extent to destroy any second-brood larvae which may develop.

This is the way to make the combination spray:

Arsenate of Lead—Paste, 3 pounds, powder, 1½ pounds; resin fish-oil soap, 1 pound.

Bordeaux Mixture—Copper sulphate, 3 pounds; lime, 3 pounds; water, 50 gallons.

In case of extremely heavy infestation, the amount of arsenate of lead should be increased to five pounds, if paste, or two and a half pounds if powder, at least in the last application. If a resin fish-oil soap is not available, a laundry soap containing resin may be substituted in its place.

This combination spray should control any infestation of the grape-berry moth, the entomologists say, but if for any reason the two applications fail to control the first brood of larvae, a third application may be made five or six weeks after the first. The entomologists explain, however, that fruit is likely to show heavy staining at the time of harvest as the result of a third spray. This staining may be reduced by omitting Bordeaux mixture from the solution and using instead one pound of lime in fifty gallons of water.

The applications required for the control of the grape-berry moth are so timed that they may be combined, if necessary, with applications to control the grape rootworm, grape leafhopper, powdery mildew, downy mildew, and black rot. Nothing need be added to the spray solution for rootworm control; nicotine sulphate (40 per cent) at the rate of 1 to 1,600 should be added to the second application for leafhopper control; and Bordeaux mixture should be used in bothapplications for the fungus diseases.

The cost of spraying to control the grape berry moth need not exceed $5 an acre. If the applications are made to control other pests as well, the charge against the control of the berry moth will be considerably less. It should be borne in mind, the entomologists say, that unless the proper spray mixture is applied at the right time and the clusters are thoroughly covered the work is of little value.

SONG OF SAILOR LADS IS READ BY RECRUITS

"Cleanest Fighter in Creation," Applied to Uncle Sam's Man-of-Warsman.

The latest bit of verse from the deck of one of Uncle Sam's war ships is being handed to every prospective "salt" who enters the naval recruiting station, third floor of the federal building. Chief Petit Officer Wort thinks that the jingling lines express so well the spirit of the United States sea fighters that he expects to have parts of the poem placed on a poster, to be printed later. Wort believes he ought to know the zest of the wild wave warriors as he trod a cruiser from stern to stem for six years.

The poem is written by "Heinie," one of the navy pay clerks. It was published last week in the navy bulletin. The poem follows:

UNCLE SAMMY'S MAN-OF-WARSMAN.

He might hail from Indiana,
Or from Maine, or from Montana,
From Chicago, or from 'Frisco's Golden Gates,
His ancestors may've been Prussians,
Irish, Spaniards, Jews or Russians.
He's a true son of the old United States!

He held many an occupation,
Before he joined to serve the nation;
Logger, teamster, farmer, miner; who can tell?
He's forsaken his old calling,
Clerking, building, ranching, hauling;
He's a modern man-of-warsman, fit and well.

He's a care-free sort of chappy,
Not much bent on gettin' scrappy,
Is this Yankee boy, this sailorized recruit.
But our country's past has taught us,
That when nations came and fought us,
This Yankee lad in blue could surely shoot!

He goes ashore for fun on Sundays,
Holy-stones the decks on Mondays,
Handles tools and gears and dynamos with ease.
Coppersmith and boilermaker,
Fireman, seaman, bugler, baker,
He's the brainiest fighting timber on the seas!

He's not so much a "sailor,"
Like they have on board a whaler.
He has peculiar education all his own.
He has brains with brawn and muscle;
His opponents—in a tussle—
Learn to leave our little sailor-man alone!

With proud history behind him,
In tradition you can find him
Looking back to Jones, and Farragut, and Schley,
Dewey, Porter, Lawrence, Evans
Guide him on from starry heavens—
Teach him how to serve Old Glory; Do or Die!

He's the guardian of our nation,
The cleanest fighter in creation.
He's a quiet, unassuming sort of lad,
But he's trained down to the minute
And some nations won't be in it
If they get our little sailor-scrapper mad!

He can shoot with great precision,
Sending shells on deadly mission,
Plug the bobbing target's bull's-eye out of sight.
He is fit, and trained, and ready,
Brave and true, and cool and steady,
O, he's READY FOR A FROLIC OR A FIGHT!

URGES WOMEN TO AID WAR BY SAVING FOOD

Conservation Great Duty of American Women Says Mrs. Pennybacker.

Chautauqua, N. Y., July 6.—Women were urged by Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Austin, Tex., formerly president of the American Federation of Women's clubs, in an address she delivered today at the speakers' training camp for education in patriotic service, to aid in the war by conserving food.

"If we do our duty by our allies and the neutral countries over the seas, there will be this fall a serious lack of meat, potatoes and white flour," said Mrs. Pennybacker. "In this dilemma the government makes a direct appeal to women."

"First, it asks that we help the men to produce more.

"Second, that we eliminate waste.

"Third, the government asks that women substitute the cheaper foods for those that have grown costly.

"Fourth, we are asked to conserve all fruits, and vegetables that are produced this summer for we shall not feel the full brunt of war prices until cold weather comes.

"There is a concrete contribution that each of us can make, beginning today, toward the elimination of waste. A 'war portion' should be our watchword at each meal. This does not mean hunger, it means taking on the plate only what we will consume, wasting nothing.

"It becomes the solemn duty of every woman to keep before her the fact that this food campaign is not one of short duration. As long as the war lasts, we must 'stand by our guns;' we must remember that for every man who goes to the front five people at home are needed to sustain him. Above all things, we must let it be known that no woman has the right to buy in large quantities and hoard food for her family. Some one has well said that 'such a woman is at heart a traitor.'

"There was never greater need for women to be sane than at this hour. There is no excuse for excitement or for hysteria. Let ther be no weeping, no complaining, no lamentation, when our loved ones answer the call to duty."

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

Amazing Power of Bon-Opto To Make Weak Eyes Strong

Doctor Says It Strengthens Eyesight 50 per cent in One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Victims of eye strain and other eye weaknesses and those who wear glasses will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope and help for them. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored by this remarkable prescription and many who once wore glasses say they have thrown them away. One man says, after using it: "I was almost blind. Could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without my glasses, and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear I can read even fine print without glasses." Another who used it says: "I was bothered with eye strain caused by overworked, tired eyes, which induced fierce headaches. I have worn glasses for several years, both for distance and work, and without them I could not read my own name on an envelope or the typewriting on the machine before me. I can do both now and have discarded my long distance glasses altogether. I can count the fluttering leaves on the trees across the street now, which for several years have looked like a dim green blur to me. I cannot express my joy at what it has done for me."

It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by the use of this prescription at home. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and let it dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start, and inflammation and redness will quickly disappear. If your eyes bother you even a little it is your duty to take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have saved their sight if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Yes, the Bon-Opto prescription is truly a wonderful eye remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. I have used it very successfully in my own practice on patients whose eyes were strained through overwork or misfit glasses. I can highly recommend it in case of weak, watery, aching, smarting, itching, burning eyes, red lids, blurred vision or for eyes inflamed from exposure to smoke, sun, dust or wind. It is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." Bon-Opto, referred to above, is not a patent medicine or a secret remedy. It is an ethical preperation, the formula being printed on the package. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is sold in this city by Dreier Drug Co., Meyer Bros. and others.

GETTING INTO DEBT TO KERENSKY.

Some years before his death Count Tolstoi set down a "war prophecy" in which something like the present great conflict was foreshadowed. That made no hard call on the powers of a seer, though the great Russian writer's oracular deliverance is said to have had revelation to him in some sort of vision, for the present war merely verifies what Europe had been expecting for many years. Anyway, Tolstoi's prophetic vision peered into the future and saw the coming of this war. It arrived a year or so behind the Tolstoi schedule, but it has arrived—good and plenty. A detail of the Tolstoi prophecy was the coming of a leader from the body of the people—the people somewhere, not distinctly made clear, but with preferences for the north, which seemed to indicate Russia.

With the blunderings and scramblings and disasters and failures and getting nowhere for two or three years, allies of the entente have wondered when the genius of the Tolstoi vision was to come. With the breaking down of Russia following the revolution, no doubt he was given up as a bad job of prophesying and eyes were turned toward America, where events were moving in rapid and hopeful train. As riot succeeded revolution and anarchy followed riot, with troops deserting wholesale and these that staid on the front consorted and fraternized with Germans and proletarian leaders lapsed into hop-dreams all over the land and all along the battle lines, the case of Russia seemed hopeless. Government failed, the revolution had ceased to march and general chaos was the cheerful prospect. The dawn of freedom in Russia certainly brought none of the gilded glory of sunrise to Russia's allies.

Then arose Kerensky. Young, brilliant, fervid and magnetic, Kerensky got into the government. A lawyer and publicist, he knew little of war, was ignorant of arms and professed no taste for them. But Kerensky knew Russia and he knew men. He permitted himself to be drafted for the war portfolio in the reconstructed ministry. Then he turned himself loose upon the land. He fired with his eloquence, he stung with his scorn, he lashed with his anger. In a few short weeks that flaming spirit has transformed Russia, has recreated the armies, has breathed fire into the bosoms of the soldiers, has restored the power of the initiative, has set the mujik legions in motion and has sent them crashing against the Teutonic lines with shattering force and splendid results. All the subtle blandishments of German trickery have come to naught. Russia is again in the war with her fighting spirit high and her troops inspired by smashing successes.

Kerensky wrought this. It is nothing in derogation of Mr. Root and the other gentlemen of the American commission, much as they have been able to accomplish in Russia, to ascribe to Kerensky the transformation of spirit in the weltering mass of Russian humanity and in the armies at the front. He is the medicine the Muscovite was languishing for. He has led because he is a leader. It may be that fulfillment of the Tolstoi vision has bodied forth in this young consumptive lawyer. Then it may be, again, that it hasn't. No one knows and no one can care as to that, or whether Tolstoi had a vision. In any event, Kerensky will serve. He was the man the hour demanded and he answered.

In half a dozen weeks Kerensky has put the world in his debt. If he can keep the great fire going that he has kindled from the Baltic to Persia the world will owe him more than it can repay in his time, more than history can repay in all time. Only democracy, free triumphant and perpetual around the world can then requite that debt to Kerensky, who, rising out of the muck and fog of anarchy, restored balance to the great battle of free peoples to make the world safe for democracy.

Let us hail Kerensky. We believe he will last to help the great battle for freedom on to the effulgent glory of an imperishable victory—to help his people on to their undoubted great destiny when the war drums throb no longer.

VICTORY IN THE BLUE.

The testimony accumulates that the field of victory in the war lies in the air and opinion gains strength that America must furnish the means of it.

Airplanes of battle types, larger, stronger and swifter than any yet developed, and in numbers not yet approached by either group of belligerents, will prove the means of defeating Germany. There is not much reason anywhere to dispute this consensus of all expert military and scientific opinion. So it ill befits outsiders—like members of congress, for instance—to raise the question at all.

There does not appear to be any reason why America should not produce this victorious arm of the service forthwith. There is every industrial facility for making airplanes in thousands. There is no reason to suppose that such types as are needed, or better types than any yet conceived, cannot be produced in this land from which the airplane started. In any event, American industrial skill and facilities are equal to turning out whatever plans can be furnished for. With the machines will be needed airmen and it is not to be doubted that a call for volunteers for the aerial service would bring offerings by the hundred thousand.

Now congress doesn't know anything about war and all it knows about air is superheating it and converting it into immeasureable volumes of wordy and banal futility. But if for once congress could take the word of somebody else for a thing and proceed with unheard-of dispatch to provide the means—a half billion or a billion—to create the needed swarms of war birds and let the work of it begin, congress might deprive itself of the comfort of much hot air and inflict a considerable shock on a surprised country, but it would get into history in fair fashion.

There will be more than a billion wasted in some mistakes, blunders and blindness before this war shall end and there is nothing that offers quite so attractive and promising a hazard as plunging in to win this war with the airplane. Nor is it so much a hazard. The potentialities of aerial warfare are no longer speculative. Every few days Germany in a minor and murderous way discloses practical hint of possibilities. The superiority of the allied armies in France and Belgium in the matter of aerial equipment is a daily proved tremendous advantage.

This country can put any number of airplanes into the war and any number of men to operate them. Perhaps after congress has had another month to squall and cackle upon the issue of drawing the line between "nigger gin" and near-beer, it will find time and humor for other national service almost as great.

Poor team work. Secretary Daniels gave out as a cheery bit of Fourth of July news that the destroyers convoying the expedition to France shooed off a hungry shoal of U-boats that attacked the horse-boats and sunk one or two of them. Right back at him comes the American naval base on the other side and says it was no such thing. Whereat and whereupon Secretary Daniels, naming no names and calling no liars, says his information seems pretty fair to himself and refuses to cancel the glory tale. Looks as though right there in Washington Censor George Creel had overlooked a fine and immediate chance to do some censoring.

Officials at Washington formally announce that if we knew what they know about the work of German spies in this country we would be startled stiff. No doubt. Even that much does it, we think. Why not paralyze us with the real shocker itself? It would scarcely jar the country more and there would be at least the poor consolation of knowing what kind of gobble-uns are getting us.

Here and there each week a meatless day and here and there each week a wheatless day. Very well, if it's necessary and the doing of a bit; but somewhere back in the procession doubtless are potatoless days and cabbageless days. Are we to take to the range after awhile at meal-time like Nebuchadnezzar?

Why don't the Sillie Sallies go down to the capitol and haze and heckle the Honorable Rankin. She's a statesman, can introduce bills and has got a vote. Swinging on the white house gate doesn't seem to get much but chilblains and jail rations.

British and French have taken a hand in the Fourth of July and are just about crazy over it. Maybe if the Germans would sample that spirit a bit they would like it equally as well.

The senate appears to be perfectly content to let Woodrow do it when it comes to saying whether there shall be "beer and light wines."

Congress has been talking over the food control food bill for several weeks and still is nowhere. Forgotten likely that it declared war.

A NEW CONSTITUTION

By John A. Lapp, Bureau of Legislative Information

County Government is Mainly a System of Checks, Clumsy and With Low Efficiencies

(Copyright 1917 by John A. Lapp.)

The county is a subdivision of the state organized for the purpose of administering the laws within the territory included and doing such things of a local character as may be necessary. It has a dual capacity as an agent of the state and a means of local government.

The county government consists mostly of checks. As an instrument for doing work it is inefficient. From top to bottom, the organization is wrong and violates every principle of responsible government. Not very much is said about county government in the constitution but the little that is said effectually ties the hands of reform.

The constitution establishes the following offices, fixes their terms and provides that they shall be elected by the people. Clerk of the circuit court, auditor, recorder, treasurer, sheriff, coroner and surveyor. The boards of county commissioners are recognized by the constitution, although their composition, term and method of election are not fixed.

Here we have the long ballot and decentralization of authority with a vengeance. None of the officers mentioned have any responsibility to anyone except the people and there is no means of enforcing that. The people elect all of these officials besides the three county commissioners and the seven members of the county council.

The board of county commissioners is the center of the county government but its authority over the officers mentioned in the constitution is slight. Moreover this board is at the mercy of the county council which was created to make appropriations and levy taxes as a check on the county board. No one therefore has any real authority. The council levies the taxes and makes the appropriations and the county board lets contracts and conducts the administrative business of the county. Each of the other officers goes his own way.

While the county is the arm of the state to carry on state business, strangely enough, the state has no power over the county officials. The sheriff is the chief law enforcing officer and yet the governor may not direct the sheriff even in the commonest matter. Instances have been known where the governor has called out the national guard to suppress gambling because he did not have authority to compel the sheriff to act.

The crystallizing of offices in the constitution also sadly hampers efficient management of local business. Some offices have become practically obsolete in the course of more than half a century. Take for example the office of surveyor. It might be a most important office with the development of improved highways and drainage but no one would think of entrusting to a politically elected surveyor, who might or might not be an engineer, the duties of supervising the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars on highways. The good road movement has brought the county highway superintendent, who in turn must give way to the expert highway engineer. If the county surveyor were an appointive officer, all of the engineering work of the county would be centered in him. It would be a wasteful and suicidal policy to do that under existing conditions.

A further weakness of county government is found in those counties which have large cities. Here is a confusing overlapping of authority. The sheriffs and deputies enforce law in the city in co-operation with or defiance of the city police force. The county has certain duties with respect to roads and bridges, the township trustee is the poor officer of the city and so on. Many states confronted with growing complications of this sort have joined city and county together into one co-operation with good success.

The solution of the county problem in Indiana seems to center around the establishment of responsible government under one central responsible head. All that has been said in these chapters about centralization of state administration applies to the county. We already have a county board with considerable authority. This board can readily become the supreme head of the county government. All other officers should then become subordinates of the county board and the work should be organized into proper departments. By this change, Indiana would have a commission form of government. Better still let the board appoint a business manager and make him the responsible head of the county administration. The board would then be the policy determining body and the manager would be the responsible administrative head.

Along with this reform should come home rule for counties under which each county would frame its own charter and conduct that part of its business which is local. California counties are trying out the plan with satisfactory results.

The establishment of home rule and responsible government would bring other needed reforms. We would undoubtedly have a budget under which the receipts and expenditures of the county would be analyzed and the budget scientifically presented so that the people may see clearly where the money comes from and where it goes. We would undoubtedly have an end also of that travesty on government—the fee system—under which fabulous sums are paid to obscure county officials. Some county officials receive a compensation far in excess of the governor of the state for services which require no great amount of ability, which are in fact merely clerical.

Most of all the people would have a mind for their common duty to the county. Today the county is the "dark continent of politics," as it has been named. People neglect the county, forget that it is one of their principal agents to do their work and leave it to the political spoilsman. From the depths of hopeless inefficiency, the constitutional convention may draw the county to a new light and make it an instrument of power for the public good.

Questions for Investigation.

1. Into what departments could the county government be readily organized?
2. What would be the advantages of home rule for counties?
3. What authority should state officials exercise over the county?
4. The constitution says that county officers must be electors of the county. What are the disadvantages of that provision?

"Coon Holler School House"

BY DR. J. N. HURTY,
State Health Commissioner of Indiana.

We were four men, three doctors and one teacher. When we entered Coon-Holler school house, which, by the way, is in Ragweed township, Sage county, the pupils looked up at us languidly, and then as languidly returned their attention to their books or looked away. We were visiting the schools of Sage county for the purpose of inspecting them and also to make medical examination of the children. The teacher expected us, for she had been informed of our coming, and she had told her pupils, but they did not seem interested. My first thought was, why were they so languid, listless and slow? I was soon to discover. They were all under-nourished, two were actually starving, and everyone was subnormal in health. Only healthy children are bright and snappy, and full of joyous life.

All of the twenty-two were examined and we found everyone physically short in one or more ways, besides being under-nourished. It was surprising to find a group of twenty-two country children who did not have enough food, but is was awfully true. One pale-lipped, putty complexioned child said she had had one pancake for breakfast and we found her dinner bucket contained one soggy biscuit and one small boiled potato. According to their own positive testimony not one had had milk to drink. Ten had breakfasted on fat meat, flour gravy and coffee.

One child had had "apples fried in grease" with bread and coffee. Had the coffee been milk, a fairly decent breakfast would have been enjoyed. The thin bodies, the pinched faces, languid manners and tired subjugated look told of the starvation from which these innocents suffered.

Every child had teeth which needed repair and not one had ever used a tooth brush. All suffered more or less pain. Inflamed gums, coated tongues, and mouth sores were more or less present in every child. Twelve of the innocents had enlarged tonsils and five had adenoids, two had running ears, every child sadly needed a bath, and fifteen had sores or skin eruptions. Eighteen of the children had "colds," and the teacher said they usually all had colds all winter. So far as we could learn from them not one was receiving medical attention.

The school house was the usual box affair; three unshaded windows on each side, one door directly entering the room, no vestibule worn floor with many cracks, plastering fallen off from ceiling and side walls, shiny cracked blackboards and a plain, unjacketed wood stove for heating. It was indeed a sorry outfit. The well was dry and the teacher carried water in a bucket from a farm house about 300 yards distant. The out-houses were awful.

The conditions described result from feeble mindedness, for surely, right-minded people would not tolerate such. In all my inspections, I never before found 100 per cent of the children under-nourished and needing medical attention. The usual percentage of under-nourished is 5 to 9, while the percentage needing medical attention ranges from 60 to 70 per cent. This should be stopped and would be under wise, practical government.

We shall be known by our works. Shall such conditions continue in Indiana? The unfit are those who are unable after infancy to protect and provide for themselves. It is an iron law of nature that only those may enjoy salvation who are able to work it out for themselves.

We must cease the production of the feeble minded, or we will eventually break our backs with building prisons, infirmaries, insane asylums, jails, court houses and hospitals.

THE FINEST BODY OF MEN EVER ASSEMBLED WILL FORM NEW ARMY

BY FREDERICK M. KERBY.

What kind of recruits will compose the new national army soon to be selected for service? How does American manhood compare with the armies of the allies—the British Tommies and the French poilus? What percentage of our boys will be rejected for physical unfitness? Will America turn out as sturdy a band of young soldiers as the pioneer countries of Canada, Australia and New Zealand?

The surgeon general of the United States army is to be charged with the final responsibility of accepting or rejecting recruits—one million strong—who will be summoned to the colors. Physical standards will be slightly relaxed over those obtaining for the United States army, but only for very minor defects.

The army that will go to Europe will consist of the finest body of men ever assembled. Eight hundred and fifty-three men out of each thousand who applied for enlistment and were examined last year measured up to the rigid physical examination required. The percentage is expected to be higher among the men called for the new national army, since they comprise the pick of American manhood in age and general development.

The minimum standards for the selected service man will be 5 feet 4 inches in height, weight 120 pounds, and chest expansion 32 inches at expiration. Army experience shows the majority of Americans not exceed these standards. More than half of the men called will measure 5 feet 8 inches and over in height. If records hold good, last year 52 per cent. of all recruits accepted exceeded this measurement. Nearly three-quarters of the men, or 72 per cent, will weigh 135 pounds or over; and nearly half, or about 48 per cent., will have chest measurements of 34 inches and over.

Only 250 men in each thousand called will be rejected for physical reasons. The new army will take only men up to the scratch. The largest number of rejections last year in the army were of men infected with disease due to moral delinquency. One hundred and thirty of each thousand were rejected for this cause.

A sound heart is the next most necessary qualification. Heart disease is the second ranking cause of rejection of recruits. Next in order comes bad hearing, and then bad eyesight.

Flat feet will cause rejection, and alcoholism follows this as a cause. Booze has no place in the efficient soldier's life.

Bad teeth—so bad that a dentist cannot readily correct the fault—will bar you from selected service. Under weight, under height, or over weight will be a bar, as will tuberculosis, insufficient chest development or diseases of the vital organs.

The average American soldier who will go to the front, experience shows, will weigh 138.58 pounds; will measure 5 feet 7.62 inches in height and will have a chest expansion of 5 inches.

The figure enormously exceeds the averages for the Philippine scouts and the Porto Rican regiments, for instance, and is considerably above the figures for the British, Italian and French armies. It is exceeded as to height by the Australians and equaled by the Canadians.

WOMEN WANT TO VOTE.

(New Castle Times.)

If other counties are anything like Henry, the claim that the majority of women do not want to vote, is exploded by the few days' experience in registration. More women than men have registered in the four or five days since the board convened. Very few of them have been heard to say that they will not register and unless the men hurry up there will be more women than men registered for the constitutional election. The women do want to vote, and that does not mean that they wish to stand on the street corners and discuss politics. But women read twice as much as men, that is the average woman does, and it is safe to say is as well informed on public questions. In these days voters get their information from reading and not from public meetings.

The women are as sure to vote as this government is to last. They may not vote in Indiana this year, but the opponents can not much longer delay the franchise. Too much of the opposition comes from selfish motives so that the men who are honestly and conscientiously opposed, do not get full credit and for that reason can not stem the tide that has set in. It is estimated that 80 per cent. of the women in Henry county will register for the special constitutional election if the supreme court decides in their favor.

EXTENUATING CIRCUMSTANCES

If Pershing had not originally come from Missouri, that state never would have been forgiven for handing Bill Stone to the country.

FROM THE SENTINEL PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

There is a movement on foot to have the City band give Sunday evening concerts in the parks.

The Western Baseball league has received its death blow, and its total extinction is only a matter of a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Thieme and family left today for Clear lake, where they will cottage during the heated term.

Henry Tieman, of 52 Summit street, had the misfortune to burn his hand quite badly by the explosion of firecrackers.

Sunday an unusual feast took place at St. Mary's church, the occasion being the celebration of the first mass of Rev. John Blum.

G. R. Hench, foreman of The Sentinel's composing room, moved with his family into their handsome new home on Elmwood avenue, in Lakeside.

Walpole Lindsey, nephew of C. W. Lindsey, of this city, and a mail clerk on an Oklahoma, Indiana Territory road, had his arm crushed and amputated yesterday morning.

Dr. T. J. Dills has returned from Rome City, where he attended Henry Colerick, who had his eye injured by the premature explosion of a sky rocket, and says the injury is not so severe as at first apprehended. He thinks the sight of the optic can be saved.

It was announced today that Rev. J. Merritten Driver, who was last year pastor of Simpson M. E. church and whom the late Northern Indiana conference assigned to the Methodist church at Columbia City, has accepted a call from the First Methodist church at Omaha at a salary of $8,000.

At a meeting of the newly elected police commissioners last evening, William Borgmann, a patrolman, was selected as sergeant. The entire police force was placed in charge of Chief of Police Frank Wilkinson, with Henry Lang as lieutenant. Mr. Lang was authorized to assume charge of the day force, beginning this morning. Mr. Borgmann will act as assistant to Captain Wilkinson during the night and will assume that office tonight. Fred Displer will be transferred from the day to the night force and no new policeman will be selected at present.

HUNTINGTON SECOND IN RED CROSS DRIVE

Anderson Probably Made Best Showing of Any City in the State.

The American Red Cross has made public at Washington statistics on the recent campaign to raise $100,000,000 for the war fund, giving the per capita amounts raised by twenty cities in Indiana. The per capita in Fort Wayne is given at $1.45 on a total amount raised of $111,000. However, later subscriptions brought this amount to over $112,000.

The populations of the cities were figured on present census estimates in preparing the statistics, except in the case of Gary, which was figured in as having a population of only 16,802. This was the census total for Gary in 1910, but the city has outgrown that estimate many times during the last seven years. Based on the 1910 census figures, Gary, which contributed a total of $100,098.90, would have contributions of $5.92 per capita to its credit, but under the circumstances that figure obviously is incorrect. Gary estimates its population at 50,000.

On that basis the city's per capita Red Cross contribution would be a fraction of a cent more than $2.

Excluding the incorrect Gary figures, the best record per capita by any of the Indiana cities named in the Red Cross list was made by Anderson, which has contributions of $2.52 per capita to its credit. Huntington is second. The statistics given out in Washington, excluding Gary, follows:

Are You One of Them?

There are a great many people who would be very much benefited by taking Chamberlain's Tablets for a weak or disordered stomach. Are you one of them? Mrs. M. R. Searl, Baldwinsville, N. Y., relates her experience in the use of these tablets: "I had a bad spell with my stomach about six months ago, and was troubled for two or three weeks with gas and severe pains in the pit of my stomach. Our druggist advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. I took a bottle home and the first dose relieved me wonderfully, and I kept on taking them until I was cured." These tablets do not relieve pain, but after the pain has been relieved may prevent its recurrence.—Advertisement.

PATRIOTIC COUNCIL IN MONTHLY MEETING

Reviews Activities and Appoints Committee for New Work.

At the regular meeting of the Patriotic Council held Thursday night at the Commercial club, that body reviewed the work of the past month, and named several committees with different duties to perform.

President W. H. Scheiman thanked the council for the work that was done in arousing interest in liberty bonds, and in the registration and establishing zones for aliens, also in the matter of attempting to secure the training camp for Fort Wayne. He called attention to the need of a committee to arrange farewells for departing military units, and a committee composed of C. A. Niebergall, T. F. Kerby, George Christen, Miss Lora Walter and Mrs. Jennie Johnson were named to serve in that capacity.

A letter was read from E. A. Wagner, suggesting that a committee to be known as the officers' reserve corps committee be appointed, and Mr. Wagner, R. L. Heaton, Gordon Eby, F. E. Duryea and W. F. Sweet were named.

A transportation committee was also named, composed of S. K. Blair, R. E. Casey, E. H. Kirkland, J. B. Clizbe and A. L. Kapp. A vote of thanks was given to A. E. Thomas for services rendered during the Red Cross campaign, as chairman of the speakers' committee, to Dan N. Beers, of the motor resreve corps, the Jefferson drum corps, and to the American fife and drum corps.

Women! It's Cheap! Use Lemon Juice and Make Lotion

To keep your skin and complexion naturally soft, white and clear at all times you simply must use a lotion or cream every day. But choose the one that is best and costs the least.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable beauty lotion at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try this lotion! Make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant cream and massage it into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the hidden roses and beauty of any skin.

Your druggist will sell three ounces of orchard white at little cost, and any grocer will supply the lemons.—Advertisement.

I Blame the Woman Who Lets a Man Drink Says Druggist Brown

Of Cleveland. He Guarantees a Simple Home Treatment Given Without the Knowledge of the Drinker.

Cleveland, O.—No wife has a right to let her husband drink; for alcoholism is a disease and a drunkard is a sick man, says Druggist Brown of Cleveland. A woman can cure this disease—stop a drinking husband in a few weeks for half what he would spend on liquor in the same time. The habit can be broken and the disease cured. Thousands of cases prove it and every community has its reformed drunkard. Druggist Brown says the right time to stop the drink habit is at its beginning. Left to run its course it will deaden the fine sensibilities of the man you love. Begin with the first whiff of liquor on his breath but do not despair if he has already gone from bad to worse until he has become a rum-soaked sot.

Druggist Brown knows the curse of strong drink for he himself has been a victim. A loving sister, without his knowledge or consent, rescued him from the brink of a drunkard's grave and for ten years kept her secret. She saved him from drink—rescued him from his own depraved, besotted self by giving him a secret remedy, the formula of an old German chemist. To pay his debt to her and to help other victims out of the murk and mire he has made the formula public.

Druggists everywhere dispense it daily as Prepared Tescum Powders, put up in doses. Get it of your own druggist and drop a powder twice a day in tea, coffee, milk or other drink. Soon liquor does not taste the same, the craving for it disappears, and lo, one more drunkard has been saved and knows not when or why he lost his taste for drink.

Warning Note: Tescum should be given only where it is desirable to destroy all taste for alcohol and all pleasure in its use. Those who encourage moderate drinking should not give it until the so-called moderate drinker reaches the danger line, as most of them do in time. Druggist Brown has such confidence in prepared Tescum Powders that he personally guarantees results or he will refund out of his own pocket the price charged by the dispensing druggist. It is dispensed in Ft. Wayne by Dreier Drug Co., Meyer Bros. and other druggists.

A mass meeting of women of the city is called for Saturday afternoon at the court house at 2:30 o'clock to give them an opportunity to register and to interest them in voting. Rev. C. Claud Travis, Miss Mary Kolb and Miss Sihler will be the principal speakers. Several notaries will be present.

VERA ROEHM'S HEALTH TIP HIGH KICKING HELPS THIGHS

BY VERA ROEHM.

Kicking over a chair is the medium by which everyone can reduce or develop the thigh.

If the thigh is too large, it is because of fat which shouldn't be there. Exercise will harden the flabby flesh into good, solid weight, and take away all the excess. Should the thigh be thin, it denotes undevelopment, and the various exercises will be the very thing to produce a good upper leg.

There is no excuse for a young woman allowing herself to become oversized and flabby. Even the working girl can prevent this. Walking and running and, when there is a chance, ice skating will prove preventives for fat accumulating in the calf and thigh.

The girl with a shapely slender leg is far more graceful than one having fat limbs.

A common exercise is kicking over a chair, which produces quite an effect upon the calf, thigh, stomach, and for strengthening the entire lower body. It helps produce a limberness and is used by all dancers for this reason.

Stand about three feet behind a chair with the back towards you. Have the arms outstretched. Kick moderately high over the back of the chair in a circular fashion, first with one leg, then the other, as shown in the picture Be sure to keep the body erect, and the leg remaining upon the floor straight. First try five counts with each leg, then five alternately.

It is a bit difficult and a good deal of practice will be required to perfect this next exercise. Stand with the arms outstretched and legs close together; raise the left leg out straight in front of the body, then bend the right knee until the body rests upon the heel of the right foot. About a week will be required to do both exercises properly.

HELPFUL THINGS WORTH PASTING IN YOUR SCRAPBOOK.

If a watch or small clock is to be kept on a table by a sick bed, a good idea is to cover the watch or clock with a tumbler. It will then be seen, but not heard.

Paper bags with accumulate from the grocery store are very useful to slip over jars and various other articles to protect them from dust and flies.

To shade an electric light in a sick room make a little bag of thin green silk with a drawstring large enough to slip over the bulb.

Paste soft blotting paper on the bottom of flower bowls and they will not mar polished surfaces.

To clean nickel rub with brush dipped in kerosene, let stand a few minutes and polish with a flannel cloth to give a bright luster.

A piece of cardboard slipped over the hooks or nails in your kitchen sink door will protect it from soil and mold from damp cloths and may be replaced frequently.

A little paraffin wax shaved into starch while hot will make clothes hold their shape longer and iron easier.

FASHION FOR COTTON FROCKS IS BOON TO SLENDER PURSES.

A woman can do with few clothes in cold weather. We all have a touch of the Eskimo in our ability to continue in the same garments while the ground freezes and so do we. But warm weather brings a riotous desire to have clothes heaped upon the closet shelves, separate garments, blouses, frocks, skirts, at any price, so they be freshly cleaned and plentiful.

In a season of satin, chiffon and jersey it was not possible for any but the rich to be freshly and variously arrayed from May until October, but with the incoming of cottons, striped, plaid, plain, or white muslin trimmed with colored cotton, of white cotton net trimmed with ribbon, of cotton voile touched with embroidery, there is hope for everyone.

No wonder the sewing machines are being oiled and cleaned and patterns are being sought and the shops searched for good looking ginghams and turkey red and candy striped muslins and black and white polka dot lawns and bandanna handkerchiefs bought to prepare for a veritable orgy of sewing.

LATE FASHION FADS BRING TO LIGHT OLD SCARFS AND COMBS.

Wool scarfs and stockings in bright Scotch plaids now are being worn with tweed and other cloth suits, for outdoor sports, and it is predicted that these will be more popular as the season advances.

Rivaling the popular fan of ostrich feathers comes a new mode in the form of fans made of eagle feathers.

Raglan sleeves and sleeves cut in one with the yoke are noteworthy features of new coats designed abroad.

Scarfs of Spanish lace are being seen more and more frequently and surely add a picturesque note of interest and charm to evening toilet, more particularly so if the hair is worn high and is topped with a lovely Spanish comb. These lace scarfs will be a fascinating accessory of summer dress.

The concensus is that crowns in summer hats will be high.

Tricotins, serge, wool jersey and Poiret twills are modish fabrics for summer dresses and suits.

USE OLD CARPET TO MAKE USEFUL RUG FOR KITCHEN

A good rug for the kitchen may be made from a partly wornout body Brussels carpet; there must be no holes in it.

Have the rug the desired size and tack it down on floor in an unused room, putting the wrong side up. Use plenty of tacks but do not tack them in very deep.

Paint the entire surface of the rug with a thick coat of linseed oil and burnt umber—any hardware store will have it. Let the coat of paint dry for several days then apply a second coat and allow the last coat to dry at least three days. Give the rug a coat of good spar varnish and let is dry for a week. This rug may be washed the same as oilcloth, using a little milk and water. Do not use strong soap when cleaning the rug.

Varnish once each year and the rug will last.

CLEVER DASH OF COLOR INTRODUCED BY BEADS

Beads continue to be of great importance in the fashion world. Women realize that they introduce a clever dash of color without adding bulk. Hunter's green georgette crepe is the material used for the fashioning of this frock. It forms a splendid background for black and steel beads. The cut of the frock is particularly becoming to the figure, which looks ugly in a frock made with a natural waistline.

The application of the beads is a tedious but not a difficult task. There are two ways to do the work. One is to make a stitch as each bead is strung. The other is to string the beads and couch the entire string to the material. The former method is more satisfactory, since it enables one to get the exact amount of beads needed.

WHEAT FOR MILLINERY.

Wheat, by the way, all white or au naturelle, is sewn as plentifully in the millinery field as it is sown in the country fields. It strives to take the place of the barred aigrette and is so successful in the attempt that but few regret the aigrette. With wheat such a factor in the food crisis of the war it seems only right that we should put it above everything else and what higher eminence can it hope to attain than milady's bonnet.

OCCASIONAL BRUSHING WILL KEEP HAT CLEAN

To keep the new sailor or any other straw hat having a flat crown and brim, fresh and unfaded, brush it occasionally with ammonia water (about a teaspoonful to a cup of water) and, while still damp, lay over it a dry cloth and press with a moderately hot iron. The ammonia restores the color and the moisture and pressing will give it its original stiffening. Faded wings or flowers may be touched up with water color paints with good results.

SALT WILL REMOVE STAINS FROM TEETH

Fruit stains may be removed from teeth by rubbing with salt or brushing them with a toothbrush dipped in salt. The mouth should be well rinsed after this treatment.

One often finds himself without a toothbrush when spending the day or night away from home. In such an emergency a rinse of soda water will cleanse the mouth and teeth. Borax water also is an excellent substitute.

SPINACH FRENCH STYLE.

Pick over and wash spinach and cook in boiling water, salted, twenty-five minutes. Drain and finely chop. Reheat in hot pan with four tablespoons butter to which have been added three tablespoons flour and two-thirds cup of stock.

Season with one teaspoon powdered sugar, salt, pepper and few gratings each of nutmeg and lemon rind.

OLIVE SALAD.

Chop an equal quantity of stuffed and plain olives. Add a teaspoon of chopped parsley and serve on lettuce with a French dressing.

It is now proposed to use rubber sponge molded to fit the inside of the tire casing, and in this manner produce a puncture proof tire. The car still rides on air, but this air is confined in innumerable little sacks.

How to Be Red Cross Nurse

This War Means Great Opportunity for the College Women of the United States.

Only highly skilled nurses are wanted in the hospitals where the wrecks of the battlefields are treated.

(Chairman National Committee on Nursing, American Red Cross.)

"There are people to whom the Red Cross problem of today is a terrible emergency to be met by emergency make-shift methods. Thousands of untrained women want to rush to the front and help. They do not realize that they would be far more hindrance than aid. They have not the vision to see that the Red Cross problem of today is comparatively simple. Our real problem will come three years from now. It will come in the structure of the nursing profession of the future.

We have an unexampled opportunity in the face of a national crisis to enlist thousands of our ablest young women, but to enlist them where they will do real and enduring good—in the nurses' training schools.

They must go in at the bottom prepared to take the whole course thoroughly and make themselves into fine members of a great profession. In the meantime, only those nurses who have had training and experience under the stress of normal hospital conditions, who can take orders quickly and intelligently, who have weathered all sorts of hospital crises, should be set free to serve in the base hospitals abroad.

Our experienced hospital nurses must be set free to render their expert services to the men whom war will brutally mutilate and strike with fever. They can only be set free if there are volunteers at the bottom of our hospital service at home.

And, looking forward to a long war, we must at this very time prepare to reply to a call two or three years from now, when it will be necessary to release nurses who go now, and we can only replace them with their equals in training.

This is the hour of opportunity for young college women. They are needed, and the sooner they understand that this is the time when they are called on to submit to fitting themselves where real need exists and not merely to exercise their impulse toward helpfulness in the dramatic fashion that appeals to the imagination, the sooner the machinery of saving the strength of the nation at home and abroad will begin more efficiently.

TEACHING DOGS THE ART OF WAR.

In the field of training for patriotic service one of the most interesting institutions is that in which sheep dogs are drilled in Red Cross and police duty. This school is situated on Long Island. Here from thirty to forty canine future heroes are being trained for their mission of mercy by Rudolph Hauri, who came to this country to take up this work, after having followed a similar career in Switzerland for twenty-five years.

DON'T DISCOURAGE PEP, JUDGE KERR'S WARNING

Youth Who Stole Hustler's Bicycle Gets Heavy Sentence.

Don't discourage youthful pep and hustle if you would gain the approbation of City Judge H. W. Kerr.

William Bopp, 1910 Oliver street, stole a bicycle from Elzie Redding, 17, a lad full of vim and who used the wheel for making deliveries. Bopp was charged with petit larceny. He was fined $20 and costs and sentenced to ninety days at the state farm.

"Never bother the property of a lad who is full of pep and trying to make something of himself," said the judge to Bopp. "When you get away from the farm go to work yourself."

Bopp was the subject of a brief word tilt between the judge and Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman. The prisoner pleaded guilty to the larceny charge. He stated that he had no further comment to make. Hoffman insisted on questioning him.

"You have no right to question the defendant unless he wants to talk," interposed Judge Kerr.

"Judge Eggeman holds that a prisoner my be questioned upon his plea of guilty," retorted the prosecutor.

"I won't swear him. You can talk to him if you want to," answered the judge.

"I won't question him, then," said Deputy Hoffman.

After a pause the prosecutor inquired of Bopp if he were not the young man who was implicated with Walter Wells in a case for a statutory offense three years ago. Bopp admitted that he was the young man who assisted Wells in taking two young girls automobile riding and later assaulting them. Bopp was released at that time because he testified against Wells.

Other Police Court Cases.

Robert Ellber, 811 Archer avenue, charged with turning to the left of a traffic signal at the corner of Grand and Harrison streets Thursday afternoon, will be tried on Saturday.

Cases of public intoxication were: John Welsh, fined $5 and costs; William Smith and Pat Roach, released.

POLO GAME FATAL.

Morristown, N. J., July 6.—George Garr Henry, 36, member of the banking firm of Wm. Salomon & Company, of New York, and director of the New York military census, died in the Memorial hospital here last night from injuries suffered in a polo game Wednesday on the field of the Whippany River club. He did not regain consciousness in the thirty hours between the time he was hurt and his death.

PLANTING SPIES VIA AIRPLANE HAZARDOUS

American Hero of French Escadrille Tells of Remarkable Escape.

San Francisco, Cal., July 6.—Planting spies in enemy territory is one of the extremely hazardous and sportive duties of the French flying corps from which the censorship ban has just been lifted.

Lieutenant Bert Hall, one of the first Americans to join the allied air forces and now on a government mission to this country, told of this "rare sport" here for the first time.

"On these special missions," explained Lieutenant Hall, "only men of the strongest nerve were selected for the work of observation or destruction.

Lieut. Bert Hall, American airman in the United States on a mission from Europe, where he has gone through thrilling war experiences.

"They were sneaked behind the enemy lines through the sky, dropped and picked up again—if still alive—some days later by previous arrangements with the pilot.

"Many of them never returned, and a number of our airmen were given a bad half hour in attempting to keep the rendezvous.

"My worst experience came when I had taken a man across the lines in Belgium to blow up a railway tunnel shortly before the first Champagne offensive.

"I landed him safely and got away apparently without being observed. A week later I was to pick him up at a designated point. Our signal was a square of cloth which he was to place upon the ground to guide me in landing.

"Returning at the appointed time, I circled a dozen times looking for the cloth. Finally a man emerged from a woody covert and placed the signal on the ground. By this time I had become suspicious.

"I felt, however, that with his life at stake I owed by companion the benefit of every risk. I swooped low and was about to land when half a dozen German machine guns, concealed in the wood, opened up and sprayed my plane with lead.

"Fortunately I wasn't touched in a vital spot and managed to get away from the pursuing German planes that came up.

"My companion had been taken, given the frightful German military 'third degree' until he disclosed the signal arrangements with me, and then was shot.

"That I was not bagged in that deadly trap was a miracle.

"Recently the Germans have crisscrossed practically every available landing spot behind their lines with wire entanglements making it almost impossible to continue this kind of espionage.

"But it was rare sport while it lasted."

Lieutenant Hall, who has bagged six German war pilots and has a dozen bravery medals, is eager to get back in the thick of it.

"It certainly is the life," he exclaimed.

M'GRAW-TENNER CASE IS RE-OPENED TODAY

Question of Veracity Between Scribes and Manager is Issue.

New York, July 6.—A rehearing of the McGraw case will be held by the board of directors of the National league in this city today. The manager of the New York Nationals will be confronted by the writers whose statements he repudiated at the previous meetings of the board and an effort made to sift the entire controversy to the bottom.

The re-opening of the case was brought about by the request of the local chapter of the base ball writers' association for an opportunity to present the side of the writers, who reported McGraw's remarks at Pittsburg, following his suspension by President Tener for an assault upon Umpire Byron.

The president of the league fined McGraw $500 and suspended him for sixteen days for his attack upon Byron in Cincinnati on June 8. When word of the penalty was brought to him in Pittsburg a few days later, McGraw was quoted by writers traveling with the club as reflecting upon the integrity of the league executive. President Tener called a special meeting of the board of directors to take action, but McGraw forestalled the infliction of further punishment by denying the statements credited to him and the matter was dropped. Today's meeting will be the first opportunity that the writers have had to testify as to the accuracy of their reports.

CITY EDITORS TO MEET.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUNGER MEN

No Intention to Bar Applicants Under 31 from Second Camp.

Applications for the second officers' reserve corps training camp are coming in too slowly, due probably to a misunderstanding that young men would be given little consideration in the selecting of suitable men. The fact is that the government is desirous of getting men between the ages of 25 and 35 years for the second camp. The following telegram from Adjutant General McCain, of the war department, has been received by the local examining committee, of which Captain E. H. Kilbourne is chairman:

"The statement that mature men will be given preference for the second series of officers training camps seems to have been misunderstood in some quarters. This preference will only be given where qualifications are equal. There is no intention to bar applications from men under thirty-one. In fact, examining officers have been instructed to regard the ages from twenty-five to thirty-five as most desirable. There is also some misunderstanding about the necessity of previous military experience. The government is looking primarily for successful and forceful men and military experience, though desirable, is not strictly necessary."

This announcement from the war department, together with the close approach of the time for the draft, it is thought, will serve to bring more men to the headquarters of the committee which is receiving applications for the second camp. Men between the ages of twenty-five and thirty-five have an excellent opportunity to get into the new camp, which will give them a chance to serve in the new army as officers rather than as privates. The committee under Captain E. H. Kilbourne is meeting at the Commercial club each day, at 1 o'clock and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. The final day for receiving applications is July 15, and advices from the government state that none will be received after that date.

He's Saddest Patriot Fat Bars Way to Navy

Harold Butler, of North Bend, Wash., is today probably the saddest patriot in the country.

Two hundred pounds of fat stand uncompromisingly between Harold and his heart's desire, which is to join some branch of Uncle Sam's active war service.

When Harold went to the Seattle naval recruiting office recently he weighed 417 pounds, just 217 in excess of Secretary Daniels' heavyweight sailor specifications. And it's going to take some time and strenuous training to get rid of that annoying embonpoint.

That's why Harold, otherwise in the pink of perfection, is so melancholy.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

AHAZ, THE FAITHLESS KING.

LESSON TEXT—II Chron. 28:1-5, 20:27.
GOLDEN TEXT—Without faith it is impossible to please him.—Heb. 11:6.
LESSON TEXT—II Chron. 30:1-13.

Ahaz reigned sixteen years from about 739 to 723 B. C., over the kingdom of Judah, its capital being in Jerusalem. The kingdom was nearing its end, and was destroyed within a few years after the death of Ahaz. His character presents many interesting questions for discussion; the character of his reign, the wealth and prosperity of his father and grandfather, the development of his character from the home wherein he originated, why a nation can be successful and not be righteous or virtuous, that is, outwardly successful, and the application of these questions to our present-day political and commercial lives.

I. Ahaz, the Ruler, (vv. 1-5). The character of Ahaz is not to be admired. He played a prominent and evil part in the history of the Kingdom of Judah. We find his name recorded among the Syrian inscriptions of the year 732 B. C., the Hebrew historian having dropped the prefix "Jeho" from his name. The full name indicates that he had "grasped Jehovah," yet he was untrue to his name. The historian says "he did not that which was right in the sight of the Lord." This puts it mildly, but indeed few of the kings of Judah did otherwise, and he patterned his conduct not after the good model of his father, but the thoroughly bad conduct of the kings of the northern nation, Israel. He was but twenty years of age when he took the throne, but had already entered upon a course of action opposed to that of his father.

II. Ahaz Ruined. The choice lay before him of following in the steps of his grandfather Uzziah and his father Jotham (II Chron. 1:10). He chose to defy God, openly disobeyed him and was disloyal to his God and his country, walking in the ways of the kings of Israel, (v. 2), burnt his children in the fire, after the abominations of the heathen, (v. 3), made molten images of Baal, (v. 2), and spread that worship into the high places on the hills and under every green tree (v. 4), made sacrilegious use of the temple's treasury, and was dishonest as well as profane. He trusted Baalim more than he trusted God.

III. Ahaz Rebuked. God did not allow him to pursue his course of action without protest. When the children of good men go wrong, there is no measuring the extent of depravity to which they will sink. Nevertheless, God was opposed and tried to save the young man and the nation. God used the king of Syria as one agency for rebuking this mad young man. He carried away great multitudes captive, one hundred and twenty thousand in one day (v. 6), and "two hundred thousand women, sons and daughters" (v. 8) at another date. Ahaz himself was filled with terror at the great calamity that overtook him. (Isa. 7:2.) While he received temporary help (II Kings 16:9, 10), he received ultimately ruin from the king of Assyria, for he became a vassal and was summoned to Damascus to pay homage to that king, as appears from the account II Kings 16:7-9, and also from the Assyrian inscription, above referred to. Other enemies also attacked him—Edomites from the southeast carried away captives, and the Philistines from the southwest invaded the cities of the low plains, south of Judah, and took possession of them (vv. 17-19) and the army of the Assyrian, which Ahaz led to rob and profane the temple and its treasures in order to buy them off (v. 22-24), completed the ruin of his nation. Ahaz was forced to pay a heavy tribute to the Assyrian king (v. 21), and got no help for his outlay. He put his trust in an arm of flesh instead of in the mighty arm of God, which brought upon him the curse that always comes to those who trust in man (Jer. 17:5, 6). There is a blessing which always awaits those who trust in Jehovah (Jer. 17:7, 8). The wise man turns to God not in the time of his distress but at all times. Instead of sacrificing to the God who saved his father and who would save him, Ahaz sacrificed to the god "which smote him." His defiance knew no bounds (v. 24). He seemed to have dabbled in every known form of false worship, thereby "provoking to anger the Lord God of his fathers" (II Kings 23:11, 12). God is long-suffering to those who wander from him, but there comes an end to his patience (II Peter 3:9, 10).

IV. The Reverse Picture. There are several problems to be solved as we view this picture, for it is a story of real life, not only of the early times but is being repeated even today and in this country. (1) Men will reap that which they sow. One cannot sow wild oats and reap the fruits of righteousness. (2) Jehovah places righteousness above security or prosperity. (3) God's purposes are for the uplift and the making of the nation and the individual better. God never does evil that good may come out of it. A loving father must exercise discipline, and let us not be mistaken.

AMERICA'S CRITIC OUT OF DANISH CABINET

M. Staunting, of Whom Minister Egan Complained, Leaves Ministry.

Copenhagen, July 6.—A dispatch to the Berlin socialist newspaper Vorwaerts, states that Jeppe Borgbjerg, editor of the Copenhagen Social Demokraten, has taken the place of T. Staunting, socialist minister without portfolio in the Danish cabinet, on the Scandinavian-Dutch socialist committee.

This will put an end to the parliamentary disagreements here arising from M. Staunting's participation in M. Staunting's activities at Stockholm.

M. Stunting's activities at Stockholm were objected to by the Danish convent conservatives, who considered his participation in the conference incongruous because of his official position in the Danish government. They demanded his removal from the cabinet recently but Premier Zahl declined to accede to the request. Dr. Maurice F. Egan, United States minister to Denmark, likewise was reported in London dispatches of June 30 as protesting to the Danish government against an interview in the Tageblatt of Berlin, in which M. Staunting at Stockholm was quoted as having said the United States was vainly publishing its peace aims and that it was a war of capital, retarding peace instead of hastening it. The Scandinavian-Dutch socialist committee, from which M. Staunting is now announced as retiring, was active in promoting the Stockholm conference.

HANDS ACROSS THE BORDER.

Mayor Louis Wilde, of San Diego, Cal., shaking hands across the Mexican border line with Colonel Esteban Cantu, governor of the northern district of Lower California.

To the right of Governor Cantu is Teodoro Frezieres, Mexican consul at San Diego.

The picture was snapped at the international boundary recently when Mexican officials crossed the line to attend the international friendship fiesta in San Diego. The purpose of the three-day clebration was to cement bonds of friendship and to dispel any impressions of discordant relations between Mexico and the United States.

President Carranza sent two motion picture photographers for films of the celebration to be shown in Mexico City.

General Perez Trevino, of General Obregon's staff, and Enrique Ballesteros, attorney, were guests of honor from Mexico City. Attorney Ballesteros said it was the desire of Mexico that Americans and Mexicans unite their energies for the welfare of humanity.

ALLIED RECRUITING SERGEANTS CO-OPERATE IN DRIVE FOR MEN

Recruiting forces for Great Britain and the United States are "catchin' 'em" coming and going up and down the Pacific coast these days.

In San Francisco, where agents for the British army are doing good work, the boys in kilts from Canada are cooperating in the chummiest sort of fashion with the recruit sergeants for Uncle Sam.

The picture above shows, left to right, Sergeant H. Hornbostel, of the United States marines; Sergeant Colin Armstrong and Corporal Glen Martin, of the Seventy-second Seaforth Highlanders. The two "allies" are from Canada and are sending up numbers of men weekly to Vancouver for British army service.

The hearty co-operation of the allied recruiters is one of the war time features in the west. The "lads from up north" and the "boys of the United States" are going hand in hand in their drive for more men. If the Americans run across a man of British birth available for war duty he is turned over to the Canadians, who reverse the courtesy.

WILL LAY OUT NEW ADDITION

Centlivre Park is to Be Platted Into Many City Lots.

Speedway Was at One Time Graced by Harness Kings of Country.

The thunder of beating hoofs upon the historic Centlivre park training track will soon be lost in the music of building hammers. The training barn, where once were gathered the finest stable of harness horses in the middle west, is to be razed to make room for quiet homes and stretching green lawns.

The drawing of a blue print plat of the Centlivre park area is now under way. The effort of preparing the addition for grounds for a building addition is in the hands of the Wildwood builders. Their landscape artists have been going over the grounds for several days.

It is expected that tentative plans for the newest north side addition will be presented to Louis and Charles Centlivre, owners of the tract, on July 15. There are forty-two acres in the strip of the park yet remaining, north of the Brook View addition.

Arthur Shurtliff, landscape authority, has been called into consultation [illegible] matter of laying off the main part of the park grounds. Francis H. Bulot, Wildwood engineer, is carrying out much of the platting work.

The Centlivre park grounds give promise of making one of the most picturesque building additions in Fort Wayne. The ground is rolling and in the valley winds Spy Run creek. A part of the land is canopied by large forest trees. The natural beauty of the place will make its preparation for a building addition a comparatively easy matter, landscape artists say.

Actual work of preparing the grounds for a new residence addition will not start until early next spring, announce Centlivre brothers, who have retained all rights for disposing of the properties.

One driveway in the Centlivre addition, and located in the valley beyond Spy Run creek, is expected to be called Track avenue. It will pass over a part of what is now the training course. It will be the last mark of the once famous Centlivre track.

Last to Go.

Passing of the historic race course means the end of Fort Wayne's efforts to sustain harness racing. The half mile path about to be blotted out is the last of several tracks which have come and gone.

The driveway around the lagoon in Swinney park marks the course of one of the early speed courses in the city. Several fairs were held in which excellent race meetings were a feature.

The Driving park addition is over the well known mile track which brought Fort Wayne for several seasons into the Grand circuit.

One of the first tracks in the city was located where the Lake Shore round house now stands. That course was well known to horsemen of half a century ago. Another track was on the St. Joe road, across from the brewery.

The half mile Centlivre track was built twenty-seven years ago. It was constructed at the cost of several thousand dollars. It was one of the best made two lap tracks in the middle west. It was the course over which all the Centlivre stable of thoroughbreds were trained for several seasons. There have been miles paced over the doomed oval as fast as 2.05.

Some of the best known of the light harness racers, which have hurried over the track in days gone by are: William King, 2.07¼; Major Wilson, 2.11; Mary Centlivre, 2.12; Mydia, 2.12; Major Centlivre, 2.10; Harry Strathmore, 2.13; Ebony King, four year old record, 2.10¼; Harry O, 2.06½; Vernadett, 2.12; Red King, 2.07; Babe, one of the richest stake winners through the grand circuit for two seasons and who attained a record of 1.59; Frank Bogash, 2.03¾, and Atlantic King, 2.09¼.

Most of the horses, all of which graced the grand circuit tracks at one time or another, are now dead. There were 55 head of pure bred racers in the large Centlivre barn and nearby stables at one time.

Frank Bogash in his younger days was the trainer for the Centlivre stables and one of the best know reinsters of the west. Nearly all his preparation for the big races was made over the Centlivre course.

The large white barn, by the side of the Spy Run creek, is made of the best of timbers. It stands almost flawless after more than twenty-five years. The timber in the structure will bring several hundred dollars.

"Yes, of course, I hate to see the old track and all go, in a way," said Charles Centlivre, when interviewed Friday. "It represents happy memories of the day when the race sport was at its best."

Two fairs were held at the Centlivre park track before the mile track was constructed. The half mile oval used to call the race fans of the city to its side nearly every day. But the dust clouds, the rapid patter of flying hoofs, the gleam of bright bike wheels and the click of stop watches will soon be only a memory.

In the Carnegie geophysical laboratory, Carnegie institute, Washington, D. C., rocks and minerals are now being reproduced by artificial means. In order to do this work the laboratory requires a furnace which can heat to 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit and a machine which can exert pressure to the extent of 100,000 pounds a square inch.

SPANISH CABINET MEETS.

Paris, July 6.—At a meeting of the Spanish cabinet presided over by King Alfonso, as reported in a Havas dispatch from Madrid, Premier Dato outlined the situation in regard to labor problems, most of which were said to have been solved in a satisfactory manner. Dealing with the diplomatic situation, the premier referred to comments in the foreign press, which he did not consider just.

He spoke particularly of articles in the French and British press in regard to the action of the government in permitting the departure from Cadiz of a German submarine which put in there and was repaired. The premier said Spain had adhered strictly to a neutral position and had acted wth the support of public opinion, which desired maintenance of neutrality.

CURSES FLAG AND COUNTRY

Zac Zenluon, an Austrian, is Placed Under Arrest as Alien Enemy.

States He Has $1,700 in Bank and Would Like to Go Back.

Zac Zenluon, an Austrian, employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and who resides in the rolling mill district, was brought into the sheriff's office Friday and placed under arrest as an alien enemy. He states that he has not taken out his first papers, although he has been in this country nearly eight years.

Zenluon says he is fifty-eight years of age. For the past few weeks he has been watched by several individuals in the neighborhood where he resides. He has been cursing the United States and the flag at numerous places, it is alleged.

He was asked in the sheriff's office Friday afternoon whether he liked the United States. He answered: "No. I don't care."

Several Americanized residents of the rolling mill district complained of his actions, and Harry Fosnaugh, poll tax collector and Emil Lapidot, his deputy and interpreter, brought the man to the sheriff who turned him over to the United States deputy marshal

It was said that he only talked against this government when partially under the influence of liquor. He was in this condition when brought into the sheriff's office. A half hour later he said he wanted to go out and get some whisky. He began to sober up, and when he realized the situation he denied having cursed the United States, but had cursed Italy.

Filed to Register.

William Burke was also turned over to the United States marshal for failing to comply with the registration law. He stated that he resided in Marion, Ohio, and was thirty years of age. He claims to have left his home town on registration day while in a state o fintoxication. Burke just finished a fifteen day sentence in the county jail and before he was turned loose he was asked about his registration card. He admitted he had not registered.

TRADER'S WIFE IS WATCHED BY OFFICERS

Sheriff Admits That Woman With Fiery Eye Might Have Shot Boy.

The gypsy wife of Franklin Daniels, American horse trader, is being watched by officers during a part of the time that she goes about her doleful task of attending the small camp and as she pays her daily visit to the county jail to see her husband. Sheriff Gillie admits that the theory held by Dr. J. Frank Dinnen to the effect that Mrs. Daniels did the shooting may be well grounded.

"Mrs. Daniels has a temper," said the sheriff, Friday. "All the passions of her romantic race gleams in her dark eyes. She appears to be capable of such an act when thoroughly aroused."

Mrs. Daniels states, however, that she was lying on the grass near the wagon when the automobile bearing Alfred Schell and his boy friends speeded past. She did not go to the wagon where the revolver was kept, she maintains.

The condition of the youthful victim of the shooting is unchanged. He was restless Thursday night. Hopes for his recovery were not brightened Friday. His condition is critical.

FORT WAYNE AUTOISTS IN BAD COLLISION

They Run Into a Milk Wagon East of Columbia City.

Columbia City, Ind., July 6.—Three Fort Wayne men figured in a collision east of here last evening with a milk wagon belonging to the F. L. Myers Creamery company and driven by Hortie Bills. Bills was thrown from the wagon and inured and the horse sustained a broken hip and had to be shot.

The three Fort Wayne men gave their names and addresses as Charles Pierce, 1231 Wells street Albert Miller, 2516 Bowser avenue, and Russel Pfeiffer, 1903 Wells street. They had purchased an old automobile at Columbia City and were taking it back to Fort Wayne. It was attached to their car. Pierce was driving and Pfeiffer was in the rear car steering it. In attempting to go around the milk wagon the rear automobile struck the horse.

After paying for the damage done the three men came on to Fort Wayne. According to Bills, they were traveling at a fast rate of speed. None of the Fort Wayne men was hurt.

Report of Draft Drawing Causes a Big Scare Here

When is a joke not a joke?

The answer might be: When it causes many ambitious young men to suffer a shocking series of afflictions.

There was little joy in many districts of Fort Wayne Friday morning when a report reached the city that numbers had been drawn for draft service. The rumor came here over several telegraph lines. The figures tallied with numbers in the upper right hand corners of the registration certificates.

There was much consulting of blue tickets. Many young men, apparently struck by the draft, were noted to grow white about the mouth. Some stury young workmen are said to have retired to their homes. Telephones in the newspaper offices of the city jingled constantly. None of the local registration officers knew of the drawing of draft numbers.

The scare is supposed to be a joke started by an eastern telegraph operator. Government officers will attempt to ascertain the exact starting point of the hoax.

For the benefit of the thrill of knowing how you would feel if your number was presented, Mr. Registered Youth, we submit the list of numbers sent to Fort Wayne and claimed to have been the figures for the first drawing of the human lottery. They are 5, 9, 11, 17, 61, 82, 67, 97, 101, 107, 109, 111, 125, 145, 201.

This report was circulated in seven Indiana cities on Wednesday. Message to that effect, together with denial, was received here and published in The Sentinel. The date for drawing has been set for July 16.

Lists of the numbers were given wide circulation in the shops, where many young men are employed, and in none was there deeper interest taken than in the Pennsylvania shops, where five men held numbers represented in the list. They are Oscar McCormick, Harry Creigh, T. O. Sweeney, A. C. Huguenard and A. B. Perelman.

AMBASSADOR COMES BACK

Fletcher Hurries Up from Mexico to Consult Lansing.

SEES SECRETARY OF STATE ON A TRAIN

Affairs in Carranza Land Are Suspected to Be Not Going Well.

Washington, July 6.—Enough importance was attached to the mission of Henry P. Fletcher, ambassador to Mexico, who hurriedly left Mexico City as soon as permission had been granted him by the state department, to arrange for a conference today with Secretary Lansing on board the train which is carrying the secretary to Henderson Harbor, N. Y., for a three weeks' vacation. State department officials have professed ignorance as to the nature of the mission of Ambassador Fletcher. He requested permission to come to Washington three weeks ago, and left as soon as authorization was received.

By some officials it was assumed the ambassador wished to explain personally to the secretary the extent to which German activities have been carried on in Mexico and the influence German agents have had on the Mexican government and people. Reports that Mexico would enter the war as an ally of the entente powers is not regarded by most officials here as probable. They also believe it improbable that Mexico will become active in her support of Germany.

Deep interest has been displayed in government circles here in the persistence shown by the Mexican government in imposing on the oil companies heavier export taxes and in the recent decrees governing the holding of land by mining and other corporations. The Mexican government has declared the decrees are not confiscatory, but representations have been made to the American government by the companies that the enforcement of the new orders will result in the forfeiture of a large part of the properties now held by American and British corporations. The British government is interested especially in the oil taxes, since it is from Mexico that much of the fuel now being used in the British navy is derived. The American government's protests against the enforcement of the decree has not yet caused a modification. July 10th is the date fixed for the decree to become effective.

NO DEAL YET MADE FOR THE BENDERS

Peoria Magnates Consult Stahlhafer of Central in Evansville.

South Bend, Ind., July 6.—No disposition of the South Bend Central league club will be made today. South Bend business men will meet this week to determine what plan can be effected to save the ball team for South Bend, according to an announcement made this morning.

VISIT THE PRESIDENT.

Evansville, Ind., July 6.—John R. Ryan, president of the Peoria Base Ball club of the Three Eye league, V. P. Mitchell, W. C. Black and Jake Math, directors of the Illinois club, arrived in this city this morning, to negotiate with Harry Stalhafer, president of the Central league, on obtaining a berth in the Central league for Peoria.

ABOLISH FREE DELIVERY.

Richmond, Va., July 6.—The Retail Merchants' association of Richmond, backed by non-member merchants in devising an economy plan for the war period, have decided to make no deliveries of purchases of less than 50 cents in value after July 22, and limit deliveries to two days. The "you tote" slogan has been adopted by many merchants.

SECRETARY OF STATE QUITS

Ed Jackson, Indiana Official, Will Go Into the Second Reserve.

EXPECTS TO BECOME AN ARMY OFFICER

If He Fails to Pass Examination Resignation Has a String.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 6.—Edward Jackson, secretary of state, tendered his resignation to Governor Goodrich in a letter today. He plans to enter the second officers' reserve training camp, which opens August 27.

In his letter Mr. Jackson said that he desired to tender his resignation, effective August 7, if he is accepted as a member of the second officers' reserve training camp. Should he for any reason not be accpted as a member of the camp, the governor, it was said today, will not consider the resignation. After Mr. Jackson's action became known the name of Pliny Wolford, of Newcastle, now deputy secretary of state, was mentioned as the most probable to be named by the governor to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Jackson said he had been making addresses in many parts of the state urging men to enlist and prepare for war. He asserted that he felt it as his duty to take similar action himself.

JULY 25 IS DATE OF CONVENTION OF ALL IRELAND

London, July 6.—Premier Lloyd George announced in the house of commons this afternoon that the Irish convention would meet July 25 to deal with preliminary business including the appointment of a chairman. Mr. Lloyd George said the government had suggested that Henry E. Duke, chief secretary for Ireland, act as provisional or temporary chairman.

NAVAL PATROL STILL HUNTING FOR THE U-BOAT

Fortress Monroe, Va., July 6.—Naval patrol boats today continued their search for an enemy submarine which was reported to have been sighted submerged in these waters late yesterday, but no trace of the craft has been found.

Marine observers did not believe it possible for a submarine to submerge in the roads or lower Chesapeake bay because of insufficient depth of water, and in this connection they pointed to the fact that the German merchant underwater boat Deutschland could not go under until after she passed the Virginia capes last summer.

LABOR TROUBLE IN GERMANY.

Amsterdam, July 6.—Another outbreak of labo rtroubles in Germany is reported by the Handelsblad, which says a collision occurred last night at Hamburg between strikers and workers at the government munition plants. Soldiers fired repeatedly on the demonstrators, one man being killed and eleven wounded.

SMALL GAIN OF RAIL EARNINGS.

Washington, July 6.—May reports of 130 of 186 railroads to the interstate commerce commission show an increase in net revenue of approximately $1,500,000. The decrease in earnings of eastern roads of $1,800,000 was more than offset in the total by a slight increase in southern roads' earnings and a rise of more than $3,000,000 in net revenues of the western roads.

NEW PLAN FOR THE LIBRARY

Move is on Foot to Make It a County Institution.

FARMERS WOULD HAVE FREE ACCESS

Law Passed by Last Legislature Makes Such Change Possible.

As the result of a new law passed atthe last session of the state legislat the last session of the state legislacounty of a city library, a movement to make the Fort Wayne public library a county institution is said to be under way.

Miss Margaret M. Colerick, librarian of the Fort Wayne library, has the matter under consideration and it is not at all impossible that the proposed change will be made if it is found possible and plausible.

In the event that such action is taken every resident in the county will have access to the library wthout the necessity of having to pay for such privilege as is now required. There are a surprising number of farmers who are regular patrons of the library. There would be more, it is contended, if the plan to make it a county institution is carried out.

Before the change is undertaken there will be a thorough investigation by the library board and the librarian.

MENEFEE LABORERS QUIT THEIR JOBS

Several laborers at the Menefee foundry quit work Friday afternoon and went home, giving rise to the report that they were on a strike. Inquiry at the works was met by the statement from the manager that if there was a strike he had not been informed of it. None of the employes had made a demand of any kind, he said. From another source it was learned that several men had quit work. They were laborers in the foundry. The works appeared to be in full operation at 3 o'clock.

RECEIVES AN APPOINTMENT

Charles O. Schick Goes to Aerological Department of Weather Bureau.

He is Said to Be Youngest Man Ever Named for Such a Position.

Charles O. Schick, assistant weather observer in the Fort Wayne station, has received notice of his appointment to the aerological department of the weather bureau at Washington, D. C. He is perhaps the youngest man in the country to receive an appointment of this character and it comes to him as an unusual recognition of his ability. Only a few men throughout the country have been selected for this department, made necessary as a result of the United States' participation in the world war.

Mr. Schick is to report in Washington by the middle of July. He expects to leave within the next few days. At the national capital he will receive special instructions for several months after which he will either be sent to France with the aviation corps or be put in charge of a department in one of the aviation schools of the country where aviators are being trained for service.

The duties of aerological department men is to forecast weather conditions, ascertain wind velocities and location of air currents preparatory to launching aeroplanes or observation balloons.

Mr. Schick has been in the service of the government for the past five years. His home is in Reading, Pa. He came to the Fort Wayne station from Amarillo, Tex., Nov. 16, 1916. He has made the acquaintanceship of hundreds of young people in this city. His successor has not been named as yet.

It is further reported that Mr. Schick will take a bride with him when he leaves this city. According to reports she formerly lived in Fort Wayne but now resides with her parents in Decatur, Ind. Mr. Schick was asked as to the truth of the matter and he answered: "I will say neither yes nor no."

James Russell, a young fellow from Chicago, who is stopping with his aunt on Webster street, took employment as a messenger at the Pennsylvania machine shop office this morning.

Son Dies Few Hours After the Death of the Mother

A few hours after the death of Mrs. Margaret Meyers, widow of the late Ferdinand Meyers, Thursday morning, a telegram was received telling of the death of her son, George L. Meyers, in Chicago.

The mother, who was 67 years old, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. F. Melching, 1111 Cottage avenue. The son, George L. Meyers, who was 46 years old, died suddenly of hemorrhage of the brain. He had gone to work when he was stricken suddenly, dying in a few minutes.

The mother will be buried Saturday afternoon, with funeral services at the residence, 1223 Ewing street, and at 2:30 o'clock at the Emmanuel Lutheran church, Rev. W. E. Moll officiating.

The son will be buried in Chicago on Monday morning. Relatives will attend Mrs. Meyer's funeral and then leave immediately for the funeral in Chicago.

The widow of George L. Meyers survives, together with two children, Raymond and Loraine, both of whom are married. Three brothers and one sister also survive, Edwin F. Meyers and William Lang, of this city; John Meyers, of Chicago, and Mrs. W. F. Melching, of this city.

Dŭnay mwa duh lah monĕ.

In these lessons the English sentence appears in the first line, the French equivalent in the second and the pronunciation in the third line.

In the pronunciation key, straight lines over the letters A and U denote the long sound, as in "hAte" and "dUde;" curved lines over these letters denote the short sound, as in "hAt" and "bUt;" two dots over the U indicate a sound somewhat like the German "ue," which Americans may approach by pronouncing long U and long E at the same time.

Cut out these lessons and paste them in your note book.

The purpose here is merely to give the young men who may serve with the army in France such a knowledge of French as will make simple wants known and some sort of friendly intercourse with French people and soldiers possible. No attempt is made to teach the grammar of the language.

Corns Stop Hurting, Then They Lift Out With Fingers

No pain or soreness! Corns and calluses just shrivel up and lift off. It's foolish to let a corn ache twice.

A noted Cincinnati authority discovered a new ether compound and called it freezone and it now, can be had in little bottles for a few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone upon a tender corn or painful callus and instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can just lift it off with the fingers.

No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying freezone or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! It works like a charm. Try it!

Women should keep freezone on their dressers and never let a corn ache twice. If a corn starts hurting just apply a drop. The pain stops instantly.

Genuine freezone is only sold in little bottles packed in a round, wood case.—Advertisement.

GERMAN PRISONERS BEHIND THE LINES HELD A WOUNDED TOMMY

MESS OF OLD NAILS IS THEIR FAVORITE MENU

Giant Ostriches Also Fond of Pebbles, Broken Glass and Tacks.

What is considered the largest as well as the most finely bred herd of ostriches outside of the few ostrich farms of Florida will be brought to this city Thursday, July 12, the date on which Ringling Brothers' circus is to appear here. Every bird in the entire herd is remarkable for some highly developed attribute peculiar to this fast-vanishing biped.

Probably the most interesting feature of the ostrich department of Ringling Brothers' monster zoo is the family of baby ostriches, all of them nearly as large as their papas and mammas. Tall, ungainly animals they are, with their thin limbs almost as well developed and as strong as their elders. In addition to their diet they are regularly fed a selected menu of cut glass, small pieces of iron, tacks and nails, which they consider delicacies, and so fond are they of this bill of fare that their eagle eyes ofttimes spy diamonds adorning spectators and vain endeavors are made to surmount the wired enclosure with a view to greedily gulp the savory tidbit. Because of this ostrich peculiarity their enclosure is wired high so that a curious neck of one of the birds will not molest those who watch their antics.

This highly educated family of bipeds have a part in the new program this season, and the most amusement centers in the race among the fleetest of the flock, for the ostrich, be it known, is a great deal faster than any race horse. However, the cranium of this elongated biped is so infinitesimal and poorly developed that in a race contestants are just as liable to reverse racing rules and run the wrong way as they are to follow the book of rules and act like regular racing ostriches. As a consequence their exploitation of their Mercurial powers is highly amusing.

Six of the birds are trained to draw a small surrey, and are harnessed just the same as horses, while another, attached to a racing sulky, tries conclusions with a horse driven by a regular jockey with the result that the ostrich far outdistances the steed, although the latter is allowed a large handicap.

New and novel trained animal acts are striking features of the Ringling Brothers' circus this season, and in addition to the trained ostriches there are many and remarkable acts which demonstrate the amazing degree of intelligence possessed by various animals. Several companies of equine entertainers furnish a delightful display of equine intelligence, while the trick elephants include the best trained pachyderms ever shown in America. An entirely new line of elephantine acting is promised together with a series of remarkable accomplishments presented for the first time here.

The trained animal displays follow shortly after the fairyland spectacle "Cinderella," the 1,250 character production which opens the all new program.

COLUMBIA CITY BOY MAKES TRIP TO FRANCE

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Columbia City, Ind., July 6.—According to a letter received by his father, John L. Washburn, of this city, James Washburn, now with the regular army in France, had received his discharge before leaving with the Pershing division, but purposes of secrecy made it imperative that he accompany the expeditionary force, and return home with the empty transports. Mr. Washburn is below the age and weight limits.

Columbia City Short Notes.

Max Huff is confined at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Huff, of this city, suffering from a wound in his foot, caused when he stepped upon a stick while at Tri-lake Wednesday. The stick penerated the shoe and an inch into the foot.

In digging up the location of a former house at the Smith farm in Red Brush this week, a son of Robert T. Smith unearthed a trade copper piece about the size of a United States penny, bearing the inscription, "S. S. Lavey, clocks, watches and jewelry, Columbia City, Ind." Mr. Lavey was in business in the Miller room recently occupied by the Garber saloon, between 1862 and 1865. The trade coin found was one of many used by merchants in lieu of the one-cent pieces of the United States government, which were almost unobtainable in those days.

A reunion of the Clark family was enjoyed at the Tri-lake resort Wednesday, those present being Dr. Walter L. Clark, of Pennville; Mrs. William J. Limecooley, of Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Tony Biebrich, of Huntington; David Singer and wife, of Valparaiso; Mr. and Mrs. John Berringer and family and Mrs. Leah Clark, of Columbia City.

County Auditor Thomas A. McLaughlin and family spent Wednesday at the St. Joe hospital in Fort Wayne, where Will Robbins, father of Mrs. McLaughlin, underwent an operation for the removal of the right leg just below the knee. His condition is precarious.

One can generally tell a man's nationality from the manner in which he carries his pocket money, for the various methods employed frequently betray the name of the country which they are typical. The majority of Englishmen carry all their money—be it gold, silver or copper—all mixed up in the right-hand trousers pocket. Frenchmen, more often than not, are satisfied with an ordinary leather purse in carrying money. The poorer classes of the Italians tie up their small fortunes in a gaudily-colored handkerchief. Many Russians prefer to hide their savings in their boots or the lining of their clothes.

Mike Kelly Breaks Up Overtime Game in Favor of the Chiefs

HAVE COPPED FIVE GAMES OUT OF SIX

Hard Hitters Swat Pill at Proper Times and Bring Home Bacon.

Having started in on the independence stuff the Chiefs are now showing every symptom of keeping it up. Yesterday they showed their independence of the over-time game hoodoo and won from the Benders in the tenth inning. It is the first such win of the season. The game was broken up by the trusty bat of the long Irishman, Kelly, and the score was 7 to 6. South Bend was given a complete and decisive shutout of the series and in the last six games have had the honor of cleaning Vandy's men only once.

Richardson was the slabman of the day and all things considered he pitched a good game. He is still having a little trouble with the stuff called control, but he made up for that yesterday by a nice pair of hits, one a single and the other a double. The latter blow hit the fence and rolled down, causing the big hurler to shake his feet in rapid order to beat the throw in, but he made the time.

The game started with a run for the Chiefs in the first inning when, after a man had been walked, Smith tripled. This hit was one of the four out of five times with which the hard working catcher was credited. In the third the visiting tossers took the lead by getting two markers. Baschang singled and stole second. Laross flew out, but Collins singled. Hoffman grounded to Kelly, but the Irishman failed to get it back to the plate in time and Baschang scored. Aaron singled, loading the bases, and Callahan was walked, forcing a run. The next man hit to Norton, who fielded perfectly and shot the pill to the plate. From there it went to first while the batter was still on his way and the inning was over.

Richardson was the first up in the fifth and it was here that he got his double. Breaux was hit by the pitcher and Norton and Siegfried singled. Smith followed this with a double and Brown's long fly to the garden sent in the fourth run. Two of these were made up in the seventh when with one man on, Hoffman took unto himself a lucky home run. The pill hit the fence and went down back of a sign. This was followed up by one run for the locals which put them two to the good. Breaux singled, was sacrificed to second, sent to third on Smith's single, and scored on an error to short.

Following this all was well until the first half of the ninth. In this round the first two up, Baschang and Laross, went down in quick time, and the fans prepared to leave. Collins, however, nailed one past Breaux, who was too nearly crippled to make his usual speed, and the blow was stretched to a triple. Hoffman and Aaron followed with doubles and the score was tied. The next man flew out to Brown.

In the last of the ninth, Breaux was hit for the second time and Roberts took his place on first base. The pitcher was caught in an attempted steal and the next two men went down. The visitors were put out in regular order and once more the Chiefs had a chance. Smith hit to short for his last blow and Gleich walked sending the backstop to second. Kelly then took his turn and on the first ball got a foul bunt. The infield came in close and Mike walloped the next one for the cleanest kind of a single to right. Smith came in from second and the game was won.

OMTVEDT OUGHT TO BE USED TO FLYING AFTER SKI-JUMPING, BUT HOW ABOUT THE OTHERS?

Tennis players, football players, athletes of every description are enlisting in the aviation branch of the United States service, which experts declare will be the big factor in winning the war.

Ranger Omtvedt, world champion ski jumper, should not feel so out of place in the air, as he frequently jumps from 150 to 175 feet on his Norwegian snowshoes, which must seem a whole lot like flying.

George Church, Princeton tennis star and Seth Low, captain of last year's Yale crew are among those who are learning how to fly at the Mineola aviation field.

Among other athletes at Mineola are Lieut. C. Meyer, captain of the 1917 Yale crew; Carroll Wetherby, of the Lehigh football team two years ago; Reynolds Benson, base ball and basketball star at Columbia; George Dodge, Cornell, athlete; E. W. Killfore, captain of the U. of P. la crosse team; Bud Jacobs, Yale athlete, and Dudley Norton, Yale hockey player.

Dodge is the youngest man in the flying corps. He is 18.

GOLF TALENT ENTERS WESTERN TOURNAMENT

Meet Opens at the Midlothian Country Club of Chicago Monday.

The greatest array of amateur golf talent in the United States will be represented in the Western amateur championship which opens at the Midlothian Country club, Chicago, July 9.

The admission of the Druid Hills club, of Atlanta, into the western association will permit Bobby Jones and Perry Adair to enter, and the invitation to Francis Ouimet insures his attendance.

Chick Evans, national amateur and open champion; Bob Gardner, who has held the national amateur title; Albert Steele, of Chicago, and other golfers of national reputation, have entered.

It will be of especial interest to watch the performance of Bobby Jones, the 16-year-old boy who won the southern championship this year. He has beaten such redoubtable golfers as Evans and Jerry Travers on his home course and won the southern championship on the same links. Golfers are speculating on what he will be able to accomplish away from home.

CENTRAL LEAGUE.

Play Aerial Baseball.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 6.—Muskegon gave Grand Rapids the game yesterday by playing an aerial game of wild pitches, bases on balls, and errors. Three pitchers worked for the Muskies, and not one of them could locate the plate. The final score was 6 to 5. Following a dispute with members of the club after he had whiffed in the third, Second Baseman Carey, of Grand Rapids, left the club.

Evas Again Victims.

Evansville, Ind., July 6.—Turner and Winchell had no luck in trying to hold down Richmond here yesterday and in two innings the Nuts got away for seven runs which won the game. Couchman was touched for two runs, but he was never in any danger.

Take Straight Series.

Springfield, O., July 6.—Springfield cleaned up the series by winning the last game from the Vets yesterday 7 to 4. The Old Soldiers were handed a three-run lead but Frost was unable to stop the league leaders and the seven runs resulted. Catching a man at first from a hard hit to the outfield was the feature of the day enacted by Kelleher.

BATTLE CREEK MAY GET BENDER OUTFIT

Meeting of Owners and Chamber of Commerce Slated for Today.

Battle Creek, Mich., July 6.—Battle Creek has been offered the franchise of the South Bend club of the Central league. As the local fans want a league team, and as Battle Creek's population soon will be greatly increased, there is a possibility of the club being transferred. Battle Creek has been chosen for a cantonment site.

The Central league has had a successful season thus far despite the fact that most of the minor leagues have lost heavily. South Bend's attendance has been poor and it is believed that the transfer would be a splendid move.

SOUTH BEND IN TROUBLE.

South Bend, Ind., July 6.—A meeting between Owner Ed Smith, of the South Bend Central league club, and the chamber of commerce will be held here today. Unless a plan is developed to strengthen the club financially it is believed that the city will lose its franchise. A stock selling campaign at $25 per share is being considered.

Two cent baseball was a fizzle, as of the season books issued for $1.50 only a small number were purchased. An extra fee for the grandstand was charged and very few of the fans occupied the stands.

GRAND RAPIDS WEAK.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 6.—A new drive to dispose of the season tickets here will be started next week, according to announcement by President-Manager Essick, of the local club, Thursday.

NATIONAL GAME WILL TURN INTERNATIONAL

Prophesy of Jim Callahan for Baseball After the World War.

(By Paul Purman.)

International baseball after the war?

A world series between the champion teams of England, France, the United States, Japan and possibly South America?

"Why not?" asks Jimmie Callahan, ex-pilot of the Pirates, who rounded this little globe four years ago with the all-Americans and all-Nationals, and who is now interested in baseball, behind the trenches in France.

"It will not surprise me if England and France take up baseball after the war," said Jimmie. "Those people like baseball—the only trouble is they have never had the opportunity of enjoying it as we have. The game has never been allowed to develop there.

"I like to think of that trip we took four years ago as a missionary trip. We played to vast crowds and they liked the game. They cheered every time a hit was made, even if it was only a foul.

"But the real missionary work is going on behind the trenches now, where Americans and Canadians are playing baseball for the edification and delight of the Tommies and pollus as well as for their own pleasure."

Callahan has struck a popular note.

Why not international baseball after the war?

Baseball has been one of the great melting pots of America. Practically every nationality has contributed big league stars. This refutes any idea that baseball has been cornered by America and cannot be developed anywhere else.

Looking over the records of the past few years we find that France is represented by the great Lajoie, by Cicotte, Fabrique, Ruth and several others. Ireland has contributed the Delehantys, Pat Moran, Moriarity, Killifer and a host of others. Scotland gave us McQuillan and Chalmers. Bates and many others are of English descent.

Italy is represented by Abbatichio, Guisto and Ping Bodie. Many great ball players have come from Germany, Bohemia and Poland.

Cuba is represented by Gonzales, Marsans, Cueto, Aragon and some others. Japan has produced some great ball players, as has China.

Callahan is right when he says all Europe needs is instruction and when the draft has taken many of our ball players to the front the instruction will be forthcoming.

MOTORCYCLE RIDER HURT IN COLLISION

R. A. LaMar, 129 Cornell circle, was painfully injured when his motorcycle collided with an automobile at the corner of Williams and Calhoun streets, at 11:30 Thursday evening. Both of LaMar's wrists were badly strained and his left ankle sprained. The motorcycle was damaged.

L. F. Moore was driving the automobile which took part in the corner smash, police were told. The accident is reported to police as being unavoidable.

FIVE SIXTHS OF ALL MOTORS ARE IN U. S.

This Country Has Corner on World's Supply of Automobiles.

When Alladin touched his lamp back in China centuries ago, palaces sprung from the ground at his command.

When the first automobile was built some two decades ago the way was paved for the most remarkable business the world has ever known.

With the motor business still in its infancy there are more than 4,000,000 cars in use in the world, according to census taken recently by the National Association of Manufacturers—the exact figure is 4,219,246.

Developed in America, it is not to be wondered at that America leads in ownership of motor vehicles, but the figures of the N. A. M. show that in automobiles America is far and away ahead of any other nation.

America owns 3,500,000 automobiles and trucks, five-sixths of the world total, a proportion of about one automobile to every 30 people, or one to every six families.

The majority of the other sixth are owned in Europe, most of them having been commandeered for war purposes. Compilers of the census admit that there may be many more automobiles than they have registered, but accurate figures are unavailable on account of the censorship.

The wonder of the thing, however, is not in mere numbers.

Never before has any business acquired such volume in such a comparatively short time.

Twenty years ago the automobile was practically unknown. A few little one cylinder cars, capable of traveling about as fast as a horse were curiosities in some cities then.

Now automobiles go everywhere. They climb mountains over narrow trails, they ford streams and carry civilization with them.

Indian Casey Smith

When "Indian" Smith, pitcher for the San Francisco Seals, went on the war path the other day swinging a baseball bat, it came near being "happy hunting grounds" for Dan Murray, catcher for the Oakland club.

The Indian, so the boys say, objected strenuously to being called "nigger" and Murray made the mistake of considering a serious matter a joke. He "got hep to himself" mighty quick after a whizzing bat purred past his ear. His ability as a runner, fans agree, saved him from bodily damage.

Murray started a marathon across the field, with Smith close in behind, his warwhoops cutting seconds from Murray's time. Players joined in the race and stopped the performance.

The little side play started while Smith was at bat. His warning to Murray didn't have the effect desired. The bat turned the trick.

Alleges Julia Grier in Her Suit for Divorce from Barton.

In her complaint for divorce from Barton E. Grier, Julia Grier states that the defendant used intoxicating liquors too frequently and that he spent most of his money in this manner. She also alleges that he called her vile and abusive names and that he falsely accused her of associating with immoral men. She asks for the custody of two children and an order to restrain the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad company from paying him his wages.

Appropriation Too Small.

Upon opening the bids for the repairs and new buildings for schools Nos. 6, 7 and 8, in Wayne township, Trustee Allen Hamilton has discovered that the appropriations in all cases are too small. The advisory board will meet with the trustee Friday evening to discuss the matter of awarding the contracts. The lowest bidders are: No. 8, general contract, Hagerman, $14,222; heating, P. B. Arnold, $2,448; wiring, Hattersley, $311; total, $16,981. No. 6, general contract, Hagerman, $7,271; plumbing, P. B. Arnold, $2,345; wiring, P. B. Arnold, $108; total, $9,724. No. 7, repair job, Hagerman, $676; heating, P. B. Arnold, $1,095; total, $1,771.

Wants Custody of Children.

Hazel Younghouse has begun suit against Sophie and William Rogge asking for the custody of her children and modification of a court's order. She states that she was divorced from Carl Rogge in 1915 and married Edward Younghouse in 1916. She says that by terms of the decree the defendants were to have the custody of the children half of the time and she was to have them the other half. She asks that the court modify the original order and give her complete custody of the children, setting forth several reasons why, in her opinion, this should be done.

Automobile Was No Good.

Morris Runyan has sued Lynn McComb, asking for damages to the extent of $125. The plaintiff alleges that he purchased a second-hand car from the defendant and that the latter guaranteed it to be in good running order. He says he found that the car was in bad condition.

BIG TIME PIECE BEING INSTALLED

Electric Clock Will Strike for Benefit of City Light.

The brilliance of city light will be portrayed from the gleaming surroundings of the big electric clock that was placed in position above the Calhoun hotel, corner of Montgomery and Calhoun streets, Friday. The large timepiece, which arrived in the city Thursday, is one of the latest patterns of display clocks. It cost the electric light department $3,500.

About the circular face of the clock, which can be seen for several squares up and down Calhoun street, are the words "Use City Light All the Time." The novel advertising scheme of the light department was the plan of John Wessel, jr., who was forced to resign his position as manager of the light system several weeks ago, because of misappropriation of nearly $8,000 of the city light fund. Wessel is said to be employed in Detroit at present.

SLAUGHTER HOUSE TO FALL.

The state fire marshal, board of health, building inspector and Fire Chief Hilbrecht are combining forces in an effort to raze the old Leikauf building, owned by Weil Brothers, on Wells street, and for years used as a slaughter house and retail butcher shop by Leikauf.

The building has been termed an eyesore by Bloomingdale residents for several years. Several efforts have been made to have the building condemned. Petitions have been circulated in a vain attempt to remove the structure which stands at the entrance to the residence part of Bloomingdale. The board of health once tried to have it called a health menace, but lost their case. Now it is announced that the building is to be ordered torn down by state officers.

Finish Avenue.

Paving of Fox avenue by Grace Construction company workmen was finished Friday morning. The improved driveway is now thrown open to the public.

Schutt Is Dead.

Mayor Hosey was informed by a postcard Friday morning that Louis Schutt, whose whereabouts was inquired after by a brother living in Keokuk, Ia., is dead. Word comes from Mrs. F. C. Yeiser, of Avilla, who states that she is a sister of the deceased.

DIVISION 3 SENDS FIRST LIST OF NAMES

Conscription Boards Must Complete Work by Saturday.

That the reports of the draft having already been started in Fort Wayne are purely false are shown by the fact that the first list of names of men eligible under the conscription in Fort Wayne was sent to Washington Friday at 1 o'clock. Division No. 3, which had charge of the work south of the Pennsylvania railroad, sent in their report of names. The list contained 3,161 names. No. 1 on the list was Otto W. Brierman, 735 West DeWald street, and No. 3161 was Charles Raymond Sheppard, 3306 South Wayne avenue.

The board comprising Division No. 3 was composed of Dr. J. E. McArdle, Al. Miller and Walter Barrett. This board was the first of the three boards in the city to report.

The lists are not required to be in Washington before Saturday, July 7. Four copies of the names were made by the divisions having charge of the work.

The city had been divided into three separate divisions, and three sets of numbers will be used in drafting the men from Fort Wayne. All the cards, about 8,000 in number, were divided into three groups, according to address. Nine men have been engaged in the task since Monday morning. The other two divisions are expected to have their reports ready by Friday night.

Former Austrian Consul in New York Trailed as Possibility.

New York, July 6.—Federal authorities investigating suspected methods of communication between the United States and Germany announced here today the seizure of a bundle of letters, including communications, which, arriving from the Central Powers, apparently were intended to reach Alexander von Nuber, formerly Austrian consul general in New York. Von Nuber left here after the government investigated charges that he shipped reservists to Austria under fraudulent passports in 1915.

How the letters now confiscated were to reach von Nuber has not been disclosed, nor was his present whereabouts announced. The letters were brought here by sailors on a Scandinavian steamship and delivered to a saloonkeeper in Hoboken. The plan, according to the investigators, was for the mail to be readdressd here so that it would appear to be correspondence from the United States.

The sailors admitted they were paid to smuggle mail past the British censor and promised to testify for the government if needed. Some of the letters were addressed to persons in New Zealand and India.

"SPORT FISH" IS LATEST FAD FOR DARING OCEAN BATHERS

The newest sport in southern California is riding the festive fish. This pastime became a fad by accident.

The "sport fish," as the new contrivance is called, is an outgrowth of the movie industry. The fish was built first for film comedies. But its possibilities as a source of turf amusement were quickly realized and now ocean bathers may be seen disporting upon this lively finny imitation every day.

The "sport fish" weighs fourteen pounds and holds 700 pounds in the water. It is an inflated bag made to resemble a grotesque fish. It is about three times as lively as a surf board, causing many amusing spills among the riders.

Miss Geneva McCord (seated) and Genieve Flagg in the picture are two of the cleverest performers in the waters off Los Angeles.

North Dakota League Has Notion John M. Baer is a Statesman.

(Staff Special.)

Fargo, N. D., July 6.—The Farmers' Nonpartisan league is going to elect an artist the first nonpartisan congressman.

League members of this, the First district, have picked John M. Baer as candidate at the special election July 10.

And it looks very much as if they would elect him.

Baer was born on a farm near Black Creek, Wis., moved to Beach, N. D., after being graduated from college. After Wilson's first election he was appointed postmaster. Between handing out letters and sorting mail Baer found time to draw pictures.

Soon his pictures were good enough for Jim Jam Jems.

When the Nonpartisan league was organized Baer drew cartoons for the league's weekly paper and refused to accept pay.

He created a character that made a hit with the farmers, Hi'am A. Rube. That picture alone made thousands of votes for the farmers' candidates in the North Dakota election last fall.

Now Baer is stumping his district, drawing pictures for his crowds, talking little.

The election is to select a successor to the late Congressman Helgesen.

If Baer is elected it will mark the entrance into national politics of the Nonpartisan league, which has over 100,000 members, all farmers, in the northwest and middle west states.

TELLS OF PROPHETIC TIMES.

Evangelist M. J. Allen delivered the first of a series of lectures Thursday evening in the pavilion at 225 West Main street. He spoke on "The Sure Word of Prophecy," mentioned in the first chapter of Second Peter.

The speaker assured the audience that his purpose here was not to antagonize, but to help those who are interested in the fast fulfilling prophetic times through which the world is now passing.

"Time and customs change from age to age, but God and his plan of salvation never changes, for God's word is truth and truth cannot change," the evangelist declared. "Many shall rise up and say they are Christ, but beware of deceivers and hold fast to Christ, who is our only safety."

BATTERY IN NEED OF HORSE SHOER

Artillery Organization is Appealing to Fort Wayne for Fifty Recruits.

Battery B, Fort Wayne's second unit of field artillery in the First Indiana regiment, is in need of an experienced horseshoer and a saddler. A commissioned officer announces that they have secured representatives of every other trade needed in the organization but these two are lacking. They are particularly anxious to get a horseshoer.

The organization, through Captain Arthur O. Brockenbrough, is appealing to Fort Wayne to furnish at least fifty more recruits to fill this organization to war strength. By count it was ascertained that the company now has 150 men. Fifty more are neewed.

The examining officer arrived in Fort Wayne Thursday evening and examined several recruits. Three were rejected out of a class of ten.

The members of the battery will attend a lawn social to be given Friday evening at the home of O. L. Bickel, 619 Lawton Park Place under the auspices of the W. R. C. and the Daughters of Veterans.

Fort Wayne's quota, according to an official report, for the selective draft, will be 800 men.

A special train will carry those who desire to go to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Sunday. The train will leave on the Lake Erie & Western at 6 o'clock standard time.

Dr. A. E. Fauve left Thursday for Fort Benjamin Harrison, where he was ordered to report. He has been made a lieutenant in the medical corps.

New York Has Commissioners from New Democracy as Guests.

New York, July 6.—For the fourth time since America entered the war, New York city today has as its guests the members of a foreign mission. The honor of a military escort, not accorded to other distinguished visitors in the last two months, added interest to the official reception to Prof. Boris A. Bakhmeteff, the new Russian ambassador to the United States and his fellow members of the Russian war mission. A detachment of sailors and marines from the New York navy yards and a detachment of regular infantry from Governor's Island, were assigned to escort the visitors from the Battery to city hall, where the official reception will take place. Tomorrow the commissioners will attend a mass meeting which is to be in the nature of a reception tendered by Russian residents of the city.

Doubt as to the flag to be displayed in honor of the visitors was settled by Mayor Mitchel who ordered that the Russian national emblem of the old regime should be used to decorate the city hall.

DEATH SACRIFICE EPIDEMIC SWEEPS OVER NATIVES OF HAWAIIAN MOUNTAIN REGIONS

A Beautiful Girl Fanatic Leads Band of Fainting Women and Children to Brink of Flaming Crater as Human Offering to Appease Wrath of Goddess—Rescuers Save Worshippers from Fiery Death.

(Staff Correspondence.)

Honolulu, June 25.—Scores of Hawaiian women and children have recently attempted to hurl themselves into the molten lava pool of Mt. Kalauea as a living sacrifice to the goddess of fire.

The authorities today believe, however, that they have checked the sacrificial epidemic which has been sweeping the island under the fanatic leadership of Kaneau, a beautiful 14-year-old girl.

It is the weirdest manifestation that has occurred in Hawaii in years.

Kaneau, a sort of dusky Joan of Arc, claimed to have been visited by a dream which directed her to gather a band of natives who would cast themselves into the boiling lava to appease Pele, goddess of fire.

On June 9 a large party did start from Hookena village, making their labored way up the precipitous slopes. The girl leader had excited them to a pitch of frenzy by saying that only thus could they save the entire island group from utter destruction by fire and quake.

They accepted Kaneau's story as inspired. She told them that they must revive the ancient, gruesome rite of human sacrifice.

Men and women took their children and set out—without food, without preparation of any kind and only scantily clad. Mothers were determined to cast their helpless babes into the cauldron.

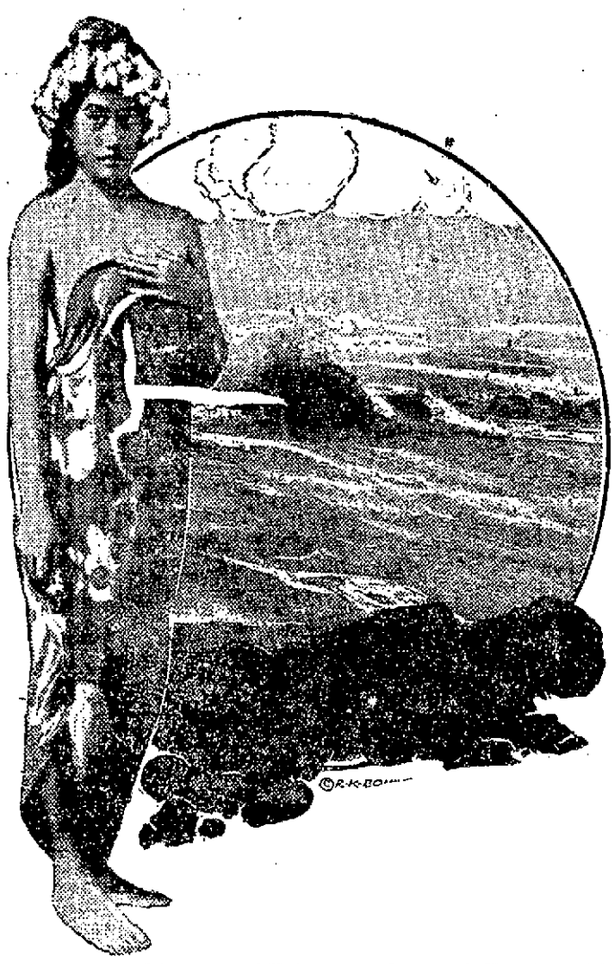
For two days the forlorn but devoted party toiled upward along the slopes, stumbling over the volcanic clinkers and cutting their feet on the razor-sharp detritus.

Under these conditions the journey was too much for them and they fell exhausted and spent with hunger before reaching the fire pit. This alone saved their lives.

A. R. Gaspar, an auto stage driver on the run from Hilo to Kona, discovered them in a fearful plight and reported hurriedly to Sheriff Lazora of South Kona, who in turn telephoned the police in the Kau district. A rescuing party was dispatched and the exhausted fanatics were picked up and taken to Waiohinu.

It is believed the Hawaiian Joan of Arc is mentally unbalanced and she will be examined as to her sanity.

The absence of any untoward event on the day she predicted the catastrophe has quieted the superstitious natives of the mountain districts, though police are still patroling the regions upon which the beautiful Kaneau cast her weird spell.



Molten lava pool in crater of Kala-uea, and type of Hawaiian girl who fell an easy victim to the call for living sacrifice by the dusky Joan of Arc.

LONG SEARCH FOR A CHILD MAY BE ENDED

Detroit Parents Believe Lost One is Adopted Son of Wealthy People.

Chicago, July 6.—After following a trail for seven years and living in thirty-two different cities in an effort to find their son, Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kaminski, of Detroit, believe today they have discovered the boy, who was taken from them when three years old. The boy they believe their son is said to have been adopted by a wealthy family in a suburb of Chicago.

The records of the case of a boy left with the Children's Home and Aid society here four years ago and thought by the Kaminskis to be Joseph, will be gone over today in the juvenile court to determine whether the search is finished for the parents.

According to the story told by Mrs. Kaminski her son was taken from Detroit against her will and the court records here show that the boy sought was given to a Mrs. Gertrude Dingee here.

During our July sale you can buy $1.00 shirts for 69c; $1.50 shirts for 95c, and many others articles of equal values.

BAKERS MAKE AN AGREEMENT

There Will Be No Further Exchange of Stale Bread for Fresh.

ACTION REQUESTED BY THE PRESIDENT

Bakers from Eleven Counties Hold Profitable Meeting Here.

All bakers in the United States must sign an agreement not to exchange stale loaves of bread for fresh bread.

That is the order that has come down from the president as commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States who has undertaken under the war powers granted to him by the constitution and the law to prepare not only the army and navy but all the people for hte big tilt with Germany.

This fact was announced to the bakers in the eleven counties which figure in the district of which Fort Wayne is the metropolis. There were similar meetings held all over the United States yesterday under the auspices of the State Council of Defense. In Allen county the council of defense is known as the Fort Wayne Council for Patriotic Service and as William H. Schelman could not be present yesterday afternoon, he detailed C. R. Lane, the secretary to preside at the meeting in the Commercial club where sixty bakers had assembled as the result of a call issued by the Fort Wayne master bakers under the leadership of J. B. Franke and George Haffner.

Explains Object of Meeting.

Mr. Lane stated the object of the meeting was to obtain pledges from all the bakers, large and small, in the district that on and after July no exchanges of fresh loaves for stale will be permitted. He further pointed out the reason why the Allen County Council of Defense had been instructed by the state council to take charge of the meeting. It was because the time has passed for discussion or voluntary agreement. The policy, he said, had been fully approved by the national council and nothing remains for the bakers except to comply with it. The state council was instructed to have the rule put in force through county councils.

James M. Barrett was introduced and made a strong and persuasive appeal to the bakers to fall in with the president's policy for the purpose of conserving the nation's food supply and help win the war for democracy and liberty. He was frequently interrupted by applause showing that the audience was in sympathy with his appeal. He called attention to the necessity of this action by referring to the result of the federal investigation which showed that four per cent of the loaves baked in this country every day are exchanged for fresh loaves and the stale bread which still retains all its value for human food is diverted to the use of poultry or to some other use for which other substances can be as well used. The four per cent he said meant enough to feed four million people among our allies many of whose families are starving. The new rule would save a vast quantity of wheat and flour and tend to reduce prices to Americans.

State President Talks.

Mr. Thomas, of Auburn, a wholesale dealer in bread and president of the State Association of Master Bakers, was heard in an appeal to all the bakers not only to assist in the conservation movement but also to help bring to the notice of the state council the names of all bakers, no matter how small their production of bread. To fail to sign and to assist he said would make a baker known as a slacker and as the movement is one in which the bakers have a paramount self-interest as well as a patriotic one he expressed the belief that there would be no slackers.

George M. Haffner, former president of the National Association of Master Bakers, also addressed the audience and urged unanimous action in signing. He urged economy in all ways—particularly in the making of large loaves because of the saving in overhead expenses which would the sooner result in a return to normal prices.

Then the cards were passed and each of the fifty bakeries represented signed three in duplicate—one for his own record, one for the state council and one for the national council. All bakers in the district are to be called upon to sign the cards.

Mr. Katzenberg, formerly well known in the trade in Fort Wayne was present and stated that one of the master bakers said it was the rule formerly to instruct drivers to exchange loaves at least to four per cent, but not to allow the exchange to exceed five per cent, showing an enormous waste.

Money saving opportunities in Patterson-Fletcher's July sale.

The song sparrow is about the size of an English sparrow, but with a longer tail; streaks and large spot on breast. The chipping and field sparrows are smaller, with no spots on breast; the former has lines on head; the latter is rufous and sings very sweetly.

To Have Perfect Skin Throughout the Summer

These days the face needs special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercolized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. Discolored, freckled and roughened cuticle are actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a soiled complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, a good astringent lotion should be used. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face in this during the heat of the day or before going out for theater or social affair. It is a remarkable skin tightener and wrinkle eraser.—Advertisement.

Head of War Trade Commission Denies Sweden is Aiding Germany.

Stockholm, July 6.—Washington dispatches of the last few days forecasting the sharpest limitation or possible discontinuance of all exports to neutrals caused anxiety in government circles and among the people generally. The situation is already grave and the prospect pictured by news from America renders it still more disquieting.

Crops are likely to be below the average. Manufacturers in various lines are closed by lack of raw materials. Others cannot maintain production much longer. Benzine and petroleum are nearing exhaustion. Leather is scarce and so dear that a pair of ordinary shoes cost from $10 to $12. Automobile tires bring $500 a pair. The cost of living is steadily increasing.

Stocks of Coffee Almost Gone.

The stocks of coffee in the kingdom will be exhausted in a month. Long lines of people standing outside the stores waiting to buy coffee may already be seen.

The government has taken measures to deal with extensive unemployment, which is considered inevitable if the war lasts another winter and it becomes impossible to import needed commodities. In view of the assertions in some quarters that Sweden's imports are not intended solely for Swedish consumption, The Associated Press asked Herr E. B. Trolle, formerly minister of foreign affairs and now president of the government war trade commission, for a statement.

Denies Aiding Germany.

He said:

"Official statistics of Sweden's importations for 1916, which are now nearly complete, demonstrate conclusively the absolute erroneousness of assertions that we are bringing in American products for the purpose of passing them on to the central powers.

"In several instances our total importations from America show a decided decrease compared with 1913, the last normal year, and in many instances where our imports from the United States increased, this increase fell considerably short of making good the deficit caused by the decrease or total discontinuance of our pre-war importations from belligerent countries."

OFFICERS ARE NAMED BY THE KIWANIS CLUB

Howard Benninghoff is Selected as President of New Organization.

At the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club held at the Anthony hotel Thursday night, officers were elected as follows: Howard Benninghoff, President; H. P. Fletcher, vice-president; Henry Hoffman, secretary; Charles H. Buesching, treasurer; Charles Pask, sergeant-at-arms. The following men were named directors: Robert Fowler, E. F. Brinkman, C. D. Nolan, Charles Golden and Howard Fairweather. The membership of the club is now seventy-five. Acceptance speeches were given by the newly elected members. Harry E. North, national organizer, presided over the business meeting. The next luncheon of the club will be at the Anthony next Thursday at 12:15 o'clock.

DONATIONS SWELLING FUND OF RED CROSS

Many Contributions Being Received at Headquarters Each Day.

Donations to the fund of the Red Cross society are being received at headquarters on East Berry street nearly every day, and are rapidly swelling the sum of money that is to be used for humanity in the great war.

The final report of the neighborhood lawn fete held several weeks ago at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ross on Fairfield avenue, shows that a total of $145 was realized from this source. A picnic given at New Haven on the Fourth of July will add $3.05 to the fund of the local chapter. The Robinson chapel M. E. Sunday school, through collections among the members, gave the sum of $3.79. Many other smaller contributions are being received every day, showing the spirit of helpfulness that exists in the city.

HARD BLOW TO VEGETARIANS.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 6.—The rationing of bread, oatmeal, rice, groats, flour, etc., which was based on the average necessities of omnivorous inhabitants, has been a hard blow to the vegetarians, of whom there is a relatively great number in Sweden. The scarcity of potatoes, milk and butter has contributed to render their lot still harder. At least one of Stockholm's many vegetarian boarding houses has had to go out of business, and the others are having a hard time to struggle through.

dressing a radical convention in Schleswig-Holstein that it would be improper for a reichstag of such out of date origin, elected under such different conditions, to venture to pass upon the question of peace.

The Tageblatt points out that the bill extending the life of the present reichstag another year, which will be voted upon this week, would result in a seven year term, which would be contrary to the constitution.

Not Impossible to Vote.

Although elections in time of war are conceded to be difficult, the Tageblatt says it would not be impossible to hold them, remarking that there is no prospect of early restoration of peace.

Other parties have manifested no desire to hold elections, and as the radicals are not pressing the matter, an extension of the present reichstag probably will be voted.

A bill for the prolongation of the life of the reichstag has been approved by the bundesrat, or federal council, according to an Amsterdam dispatch last night. The reichstag's approval of the measure also is required.

march. More street cars were wrecked and then the offices of the company were attacked, a number of windows being smashed.

Mayor E. E. Jones and Sheriff Flesher met the crowd and urged them to desist from further rioting, but they demanded that the officers arrange a conference with the officials of the railway company.

Gives Up Prisoner.

This they promised to do, and then the crowd demanded that a prisoner taken during the evening be released. This the sheriff did and the crowd dispersed. Mayor Jones then sent a message to Gov. Lowden asking for troops, as there is fear of another outbreak, should the proposed conference not materialize or the men fail in their demand for higher wages.

The street railway system is a subsidiary of the Illinois Traction system, of which Congressman William B. McKinley, of Champaign, is president.

The troops are expected to reach here during the forenoon from Chicago and Peoria.

chus to further his own ambitions. Tua Chi-Jui promises generous treatment for the Manchus after the republic is restored.

Three thousand imperialist troops and one thousand of Chang-Hsun's soldiers have taken positions astride the Pekin-Hankow railway four miles from this city, ready to oppose 10,000 troops commanded by Tsao-Kun, who have reached a point twenty-five miles from Pekin.

The diplomatic representatives have warned the government that the protocol of 1901 requires maintenance of and free passage on the Pekin-Shanghai railway.

FIGHTING HAS BEGUN.

Peking, July 6.—Fighting began yesterday at Lang Fang, about thirty-five miles southeast of Peking, between the troops of Gen. Chang Hsun, supporter of the monarchy, and the forces of the republicans.

The situation in the capital is becoming serious. The trains are filled with fleeing Chinese going to Tein Tsin. The hotels are full of foreigners. Small American and Japanese forces are endeavoring to come from Tien Tsin but their arrival may be delayed by the fighting at Lang Fang, where 5,000 of the troops of Gen. Chang Hsun are opposing an advance guard of 20,000 republicans.

RESTORATION COLLAPSES.

London, July 6.—A dispatch to the Post from Tien Tsin says the manhu restoration seems on the verge of collapse. Fifty thousand republican troops are converging on Peking, where Gen. Chang Hshun has only about 3,000 men. Members of the northern military party do not expect fighting. They believe Chang Hsun's troops will desert when they realize the strength of the republican forces.

Fifteen provinces now support Tuan Chi Jui, who has been named premier of the provisional government established at Nanking.

A dispatch to the Daily Mail says that General Chang Hsun realizing his mistake in attempting to restore the emperor, threatens to sack Peking, burn the manchu palace and take the emperor to Mongolia.

Farmers state that the hay has reached a stage where it must be cut at once and a delay will mean much towards injuring the value of the hay. Wheat is ripening fast and it will only be a week or ten days until the binders will begin work. Oats also are heading out.

Farmers state that help has been short all spring in the country and with the work of harvesting almost at hand the situation has become a serious one.

Twenty-two application for help are waiting to be filled at the Fort Wayne branch of the state free employment bureau. Many of these offer $2.50 a day, while a few are offering $3.

During the past week one hundred and fourteen men and eight women secured employment through this channel. They are listed as follows: One carpenter, one dishwasher, five farmhands, 104 laborers, three machinists, one chambermaid, two dishwashers, one general houseworker, two housekeepers, one laundress and one waitress.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY'S WAR NEWS

to seize in their sudden rush a few days ago.

London is reticent as to what is going on along the British front in France, where there have been indications that some important movement was in prospect. The only activity reported was a nocturnal raid on British posts near Bullecourt, which was repulsed.

In Macedonia there is some revival of activity, but seemingly not on a large scale. Enemy troops, probably Bulgarians, launched an assault on the ridge west of Doljeli, southwest of Lake Doraln, but were compelled by a British counter attack to relinquish the footing they obtained.

On the Galician front the Russians have not renewed their assaults in force. Intense artillery activity is reported east of Lemberg, however, where Gen. Brussiloff early this week began a push toward the Galician capital, with Zlochoff on the Tarnopol-Krasne railway, as his immediate objective.

Near Narayuvka, to the southeast of Lemberg, the Austro-German guns are busy, intensely bombarding the Russians east of Lipnicadolna.

In Mesopotamia the Russian army from Sakkiz is reported hotly engaged with the Turks, which have been reinforced in their effort to stop the Russian advance towards the Tigris valley.

southeast of Aahure. The artillery was active around Verdun.

The statement follows:

"The artillery fighting was rather spirited for a time between the Miette andthe Aisne. Three attacks on small posts in this region were repulsed by our force.

"In the Champagne there was very activeartillery fighting, especially at Lecasque and Le Teton. We easily repulsed enemy attacks west of Mont Carnillet and southeast of Tahure.

"On the left bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) our batteries directed a destructive fire on German defenses west and north of hill 304. Ptrol encounters near Louvemont, on the right bank of the river, enabled us to take prisoners. There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front.

BRITISH STOP NIGHT RAID.

London, July 6.—An official statement issued by the war office today says the Germans attempted a night raid on the British posts near Bullecourt which was repulsed. There is nothing further to report, the statement says.

BRITISH LOSE GROUND.

London, July 6.—"The enemy gained a temporary footing on the ridge west of Doltjeli (southwest of Lake Doiran) but was driven out by a counter attack," says an official report from the Macedonian front.

"Nineteen tons of explosives were dropped and considerable damage was inflicted by British airplanes in June."

SITUATION IN EGYPT.

London, July 6.—The following official report from the Egyptian front was given out today:

"The situation is unchanged. There has been considerable artillery fighting. We put out of action thirteen enemy guns and destroyed many gun emplacements in June. The sickness of the troops was lower than the average in Egypt in the five years preceding the war."

GERMAN DRIVE SHATTERED.

(By the Associated Press.)

French Front in France, July 5.—After their strongest offensive effort since Verdun the Germans found found themselves yesterday thrown back everywhere along an eleven mile front on the Chemin-des-Dames, leaving the ground thickly strewn with their dead and having failed to take even one French soldier prisoner.

The French lines remained intact and the French commanding general who watched the operations throughout from the front trenches was able to declare at the end of the day that not a single yard of territory had been lost.

The Germans came forward everywhere in the closest formation and in successive waves, preceded by the famous "shock" troops, who were mown down by the French fire. At the first onslaught in the vicinity of Cerny and on the Californie plateau the French were obliged to give way, but their yielding was only momentary and a counter attack remedied the slight dent immediately and in addition gave them possession of some German trenches in the vicinity of Cerny, which they held.

The German infantry appeared to have all the dash taken out of them by the French defense and made no attempt to regain the ground lost by the French reaction.

PROTEST AGAINST MERCIER.

Copenhagen, July 6.—Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, secretary of foreign affairs, announced to a committee of the reichstag, according to news reaching here, that representations have been made to the vatican regarding the pastoral letter of Cardinal Mercier, wherein he spoke in forcible terms of Germany's crimes and outrages in Belgium. The letter was published in the French press and was the subject of angry comment by German newspapers.

NORWEGIAN SHIP SUNK.

Copenhagen, July 6.—The sinking by a German submarine of the Norwegian steamer Benguela, is reported by the Tidens Tegn of Christiania. She was on her way from England for Philadelphia and was insured for 4,000,000 kronen. The crew was transferred to a Spanish steamer.

CENSORSHIP IS RAISED.

Copenhagen, July 6.—In consequence of vigorous representations in the reichstag main committee, the preventive censorship imposed a few days ago on the Frankfurter Zeitung has been raised. The measure was the result of a financial article by Professor Weber of Heidelberg university on the financial and exchange situation.

PUT THE PRICE ABOUT WHERE IT SEEMED NICE

Print Paper Figures Based on Arbitrary Figure and Not Cost.

Toronto, July 6.—The publication of the official report of the proceedings of the royal commission on news print paper has brought to light further instances of the inflation of cost figures by the paper manufacturers in their returns to Commissioner Pringle.

The statement of the Donneconna Paper company (limited), showed a sudden increase in the cost of news print paper from $20.21 a ton in 1915 to $45.39 a ton in 1916, and $50.20 a ton during the first four months of 1917. Geo. M. McKee, general manager of this company, admitted that the returns for 1916 and the first four months of 1917 were based on arbitrary figures of $50 a ton for sulphite and $25 a ton for ground wood instead of the actual cost of production.

George H. Millen, president and general manager of E. B. Eddy company (limited), admitted that in the statement of that company for the first four months of 1917 sulphite had been entered at $80 a ton and ground wood had been entered at $30 a ton although the actual cost of production during that period was $45.96 a ton for sulphite and $18.84 a ton for ground wood. With the use of these arbitrary figures there was shown a cost for roll news of $61.91 a ton.

The use of the figures of actual cost given by Mr. Millen would reduce the cost to $45.13 a ton.

BUYS YEARLING SHORTHORN.

E. S. Croxton, a member of the Fort Wayne District Shorthorn Breeders' association, purchased a yearling Shorthorn heifer for five hundred dollars at a sale held in Canada last week. Mr. Croxton resides in Steuben county, but has two large farms in the northern part of Allen county.

THE MARKETS

RECEIPTS BECOMING HEAVIER ON MARKET

Wheat Prices Are Now Steady at $2.10 and $2.12 Per Bushel.

Receipts on the wholesale street market are becoming heavier, and since dealers are buying very little, a somewhat weaker tone is noted in many departments. Wheat prices are now standing at $2.10 and $2.12 per bushel, following a ten cent drop of Thursday. Changes that may come for some time now are expected to be in favor of the consumer.

Business at the city scales was almost rushing Friday morning when forty-one loads were weighed. Twenty-seven of these were hay, which sold at $12.00 and 14.00, one dollar having been dropped from the top price. Three loads of corn were sold at $1.65 per bushel, the scarcity of this grain holding up the prices. Oats were plentiful, eleven loads being sold at 70 cents.

JULY CORN BANNED; RUSH TO SEPTEMBER

Attempt to Curb the Market Brings Stampede and Rise of Prices.

Chicago, July 6.—Attempts to curb high prices by stopping all trade in the July delivery of corn resulted today in a general rush to buy the September option and other distant deliveries. Reports of urgent export and distillery demand and of virtual exhaustion of country reserve supplies did much to stir up bullish sentiment. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛c off to 2¼c advance, with September $1.55½@1.57 and December at $1.15½@1.16¾, were followed by a slight reaction and then a sharp upturn.

The close was weak at the same as yesterday's finish to 1⅜c lower, with September at $1.54½ to $1.54⅞, and December at $1.14½ to $1.14¾.

Wheat ascended with corn. After opening 1c to 2½c higher, with July at $2.10 and September at $1.91@1.92, further gains were made that carried July to $2.19.

The close was unsettled, 2½c to 3c net higher, with July at $2.12 and September at $1.92.

Oats were firmer at first on account of seaboard buying.

Provisions reflected the advance in corn.

Rally from Thursday's Depression Proves But Temporary.

New York, July 6.—Prices rallied very decidedly at the opening of today's market from the general depression which characterized yesterday's final operations. The strongest features at advances of 1 to almost 5 points included Chandler, Studebaker and General Motors, Baldwin Locomotive, Industrial Alcohol, United States Steel gaine donly a fraction. Beet Sugar and the coppers were backward.

Early improvement proved to be only temporary, renewed selling of popular stocks causing sharp declines which carried steels and the war group under minimum prices of the previous session. United States Steel was the center of a vigorous drive, reacting 1¼ points. Rails were comparatively steady, except New York Central. The setback which was largely overcome before noon bore the familiar marks of professional pressure.

Bonds were irregular, the liberty issue, however, selling at premiums ranging from 1-50 to 3-50ths.

VINELESS TUBERS WILL NOT MAKE FULL CROP

Expert Thinks Underground Potatoes Have Gained Their Growth.

Vineless potatoes, produced in several Fort Wayne gardens, have already gained their full growth, believes F. W. Gray, Purdue food expert. While a part of the tubers, grown entirely underground without sending a shoot into the sunlight, are almost as large as hen eggs at this time, Gray holds that the vegetable will begin to decay at this point.

"The whole matter is theory because such large underground potatoes were never known before," stated Prof. Gray, Friday. "The potatoes are sustained, evidently, from the substance in the piece of seed potato. When all the life has been drawn from the seed tuber the branch potatoes will surely begin to decay. I think the under soil potatoes found here have reached their full growth now."

While the small potatoes are apparently in healthy condition, Mr. Gray believes their production must be due to a disease of the seed potato, because it is not a normal state not to send a vine above ground.

"It may be a variety trouble," says Mr. Gray. He is obtaining a list of all the varieties of potatoes which are producing the mystry plants. In most cases the potato used in planting was the Rural New Yorker.

Prof. Gray dug several hills of the subterranean potatoes from the garden of Ben Rice, Parnell avenue, Friday morning. He carefully encased a quantity of the soil and a number of the half-grown potatoes in a box and shipped the package to Purdue university.

A message from the university states that the growth is so far unexplainable. Very few cases of the subsoiled plants have been brought to the attention of experts before. In no case have the potatoes been known to attain the growth reached in Fort Wayne gardens, it is claimed.

Mr. Gray says that he recalls that a few very small potatoes grew from seed tubers when he was in food relief work in Indianapolis. The little tubers soon perished, he says.

Lice Are Plentiful.

Aphids, or green plant life, are entering Fort Wayne gardens in hosts, Mr. Gray announces. At the present time the tiny bugs are the greatest menace to city gardens. He is advising that the insects be killed at once by use of a spray.

A liquid formed by a half pound of laundry soap dissolved in a gallon of water makes one of the most effective sprays for the insect. If the green plant lice threaten to destroy the crop within a few days, a spray formed by a nicotine sulphate solution is advised.

Spraying should be very thorough. Both the under and upper side of the leaf should be given a drenching.

SILK STOCKING CENSORS TRY TO HUSH A MURDER TRIAL

Harriet A. Varney, photographer's model, in characteristic pose, and (below) George H. Keyes.

(By J. HERBERT DUCKWORTH.)

Brookline, Mass., July 6.—The self-satisfied pride of aristocratic and stand-offish Brookline, the "richest town in the world," has received a staggering blow in the Keyes murder mystery.

The Boston suburb of private parks and mansions, ruled by three very select selectmen, strictly representative of its silk stocking millionaire townsmen, tried hard to censor all news of developments in the sensational and sordid tragedy, but in vain.

When the case was reported as one of suicide Brooklinerś gave a sigh of relief. That was better than murder. They didn't want a big trial to focus the attention of the country upon them. But murder will out.

Cultured Brookline now has a full-sized, unsolved murder mystery to cope with, the principals of which are a man of many love affairs whose young and handsome wife was found shot, and his wife's young and beautiful rival.

When Pauline Biesenbach Keyes was found dead in her home, 79 Kenwood street, June 19, Brookline bumbledom said "suicide." There was the "suicide note" to prove it. But a handwriting expert now swears no woman about to take her life would have shown so steady a hand.

Investigation into the life of the husband then brought to light the fact that George H. Keyes was a New England Don Juan. Here, right in the midst of Brookline's blue-blooded families a man had been living a double life.

On reconsideration, too, it was decided Mrs. Keyes could not have fired the two shots through her hand into her temple. That was a physical impossibility.

Who, then, fired the fatal shots?

A "mysterious woman" had been seen by neighbors prowling around the Keyes home a few days before the murder.

Then Keyes was closely quizzed. He finally betrayed Miss Harriet A. Varney, hospital nurse, who quit her job at 5 a. m. the day after the murder. Miss Varney for six years had also posed as "Mrs. Keyes." Keyes used to visit her two or three times a week. Keyes took the police to her sister's home at West Upton. Miss Varney was arrested and put in jail.

Miss Varney's alibi is that she arrived in Boston from North Grafton at 10:15 about the time the murder was committed and lunched later in a Boston cafe with Keyes. In a letter she sent her sister that day she said Keyes "couldn't eat."

When inquiries were made of Keyes he produced a dentist who said he was in his surgery at the time of the murder.

This is the matrimonial career of Keyes:

Married Helen P. Provan in 1899. In 1910 she left him. In 1914 he obtained a divorce.

In the meantime he had become interested in Pauline Biesenbach, his stenographer, who was to become the ill-fated "wife No. 2."

Also, it is said, within this time he became friendly with Helen Varney, hospital nurse and photographer's model.

In August, 1916, Keyes, in New York, married Miss Biesenbach, 26 years old, and 12 years his junior.

These are the highlights in this complicated murder mystery that has besmirched Brookline's "moral character"—highlights that have leaked out in spite of the secret manner of conducting the inquest in this ultra exclusive community, and the almost comical deaf and dumb attitude of the local police.

Uncle Sam to Pay Bill for Bride of Interned German

Mrs. Werner von Elpons, former Miss Ilse Niess, of San Francisco, who will live in apartments at government expense at Salt Lake City while her husband, Lieut. Werner von Elpons, a German army officer, remains interned during the war.

Lieut. von Elpons was an officer on board the converted German cruiser Cormoran, which was blown up in the harbor at Apra, Guam, by the crew. The lieutenant and a party of German prisoners of war were recently sent to an internment camp "somewhere in the interior."

THROWN FROM BICYCLE.

Huntington Man Dead of Injuries.—Other Accidents.

Huntington, Ind., July 6.—John Buffington, age forty-five, a barber, died today in the Huntington hospital of injuries he suffered Wednesday morning when his bicycle got beyond control and he was thrown against the railing of a bridge over the Wabash river. He had descended a hill which ended in a sharp turn to the left on the bridge. Boys playing on the bridge say the wheel slipped from under him and he struck the superstructure head foremost. An operation to relieve pressure on the brain and remove splinters of bone from a skull fracture was performed Wednesday night, but it failed to give him relief. He suffered a broken collar bone and was injured about the neck. After the operation he did not recover consciousness. Buffington leaves a widow, two children and a brother, Ross V. Buffington, of Warren. The brther is seriously ill with tuberculosis. Buffington was going to visit him when the accident occurred.

The overland bus belonging to Harvey Barsh, and the car of John Shock, of Roanoke, came together at a crossing on the Columbia City road, and both turned over. Oliver Smith, a passenger in the bus, suffered a wrenched back. Shock received a bad cut on his leg, and Mrs. Henry Shock, his mother, was badly bruised. Shock's two sisters escaped injuries.

Lewis Zintsmaster was picking cherries from a high stepladder when two hogs got to fighting and in their struggle knocked the ladder down. He fell on his head and shoulders and was unconscious for half an hour.

Half a dozen men narrowly escaped serious injury or death Tuesday evening at a barn raising on the S. E. Etults farm, north of Huntington. A chain used in hoisting one end of a large bent, broke and let the timbers swing. All the men escaped except Robert Brown, who was pinched about the hips. The extent of his injuries will not be known for several days.

MAY LOSE ROAD.

C. B. & C. Property May Be Sold and Junked.

Portland, Ind., July 6.—Portland may lose one of her railroads unless somebody comes to the rescue and keeps the C. B. & C.—Cincinnati, Bluffton & Chicago—road from being sold and converted to the junk pile. The road is but fifty-two miles long. Two trains a day is the schedule.

In bygone days residents along the line had dreams of a short route between Chicago and Cincinnati but now they hope that the rails and rolling stock will not be allowed to rust. A determined effort is being made to save the road.

The road does an excellent business so far as its equipment allows. Several months ago J. M. Wilson, of Bluffton, took the road over and has kept it from going into the hands of junk dealers by obtaining from the court an extension of time that the financial difficulties may be adjusted.

MAY HELD IN BROWN CASE.

Fourth Man Charged With Murder of Redkey Grocer.

Portland, Ind., July 6.—A fourth man, Weldon May, has been arrested for the murder of Roy Brown, the Redkey grocer. May had been indicted for the robbery by the same grand jury which charged William Fishback and Ray Landess with the Brown murder. The affidavit against May was filed by G. W. Tieben, the marshal of this city, who also charged Mont Dakin, another of the defendants, with the crime. May, who is in jail, denies his guilt and has telegraphed to relatives in Michigan to come to his assistance.

Fishback was tried recently at Hartford City, but the jury disagreed. His second trial is set for July 16.

BANK LOSES CASE.

Portland, Ind., July 6.—A jury in the circuit court here has returned a verdict for the defendant in the case brought by the First National bank, of Fort Wayne, against Julius Haugk, of Decatur. The suit was on a bond, demanding $16,000, to secure the payment of notes given by the late Rufus K. Allison, the Cardwell Mill and Lumber company and the Allison Real Estate company. These three were declared bankrupt and three trustees were appointed to take charge and sell the land. Hugk contended that the land in Missouri was sold by the trustees for less than its value, to one of the trustees for the Cardwell Land company.

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE VOTED.

Lagrange, Ind., July 6.—Lawrence J. Smith and Ralph Rhoderick have been voted scholarships at Purdue and Myrl Hoopingarner, Albert Brainard, R. L. McCally and Jacob A. Longnecker were appointed alternates in the order named by the county commissioners in session here this week. A petition for a franchise has been presented to the commissioners by the Farmers' and Merchants' Electric Light and Power company. August 6 has been set for hearing. Frank E. Rozelle has received the contract for furnishing groceries at the county farm for the next quarter and J. F. Thomas, drugs, and Isaac Litman, dry goods, shoes, etc.

Omaha, July 6.—The controversy over the whereabouts of Eddie Rickenbacher, the Omaha boy who, in the last two or three years has taken many big prizes in automobile races, has been settled by a letter just received from him by Harry J. Van Hoven, his former manager.

It has been said Rickenbacher was driving General Pershing's automobile in France, but this was afterward denied and the assertion was made that he was teaching aviation at Mineola, L. I. The letter to Van Hoven was written at the tower of London which proved that Rickenbacher is with Pershing.

POLYGAMY SOON TO BE SANCTIONED BY WORLD

Woman Lawyer and Leader of Suffragists Sees the Time Near.

San Francisco, Cal., July 6.—The suggestion that war's aftermath would bring polygamy has generally caused much indignation among feminists.

But Charlotte M. Jones, young attorney and suffragist of San Francisco, predicts that within the next ten years plural unions will not alone be sanctioned but will be the means of establishing the supremacy of women in governing the world.

"The advantage," she declares, "that polygamy will give woman will be in the elimination of man's authority over the children.

"The mother will then be in complete control of her offspring.

"The responsibility for their support will be assumed by the state, while the father will have nothing to say about their education and training, which will be in the hands of the mother.

"Man is likely to be reduced," asserts Miss Jones, "to a mere parental factor—the place he originally occupied in the human family."

As Miss Jones views it, humanity needs woman domination to save it from chaos and destruction. She considers the devastating world war a natural result of man's monopoly of government.

Had woman been given her share of power, a saner solution in settling international problems would long since have been found, she maintains.

Whether the romantic devotion of one man for one woman, the long-cherished love ideal, must be sacrificed to the practical necessity of replenishing the race through plural unions, Miss Jones frankly says she does not know.

Miss Jones' highest ambition is to be elected to the supreme court of the United States some day. She comes naturally by her taste for the legal profession, her family having produced some of the nation's most brilliant lawyers and jurists.

Miss Charlotte M. Jones.

In addition to her legal work in the courts, Miss Jones is gathering musty records to establish her claim to Goat island, a government training station near San Francisco, owned in the 50s by her grandfather, and which the United States took by proclamation while he lay dying in Kentucky without knowledge of the proceedings. She holds the original Spanish grant.
